

A WEEKLY COLUMN OF REVIEW and COMMENT CONCERNING OUR CATHOLIC SCHOOLS

By Scholastic

We are still thinking of the inspiring patriotic ceremony which you conducted during the Transfer of Flags at Columbus Civic Center, on Friday, October 13, 1933.

Major Halpin not only commended the Catholic schools but he also stated that the work they are doing should be emulated.

In my opinion Americans have spent billions of dollars and have sacrificed hundreds of thousands of lives because proper measures have not been taken to maintain a sufficient Peace Establishment both by land and sea.

Will you determine whether or not further steps can be taken to insure proper instruction in our Public Schools as well as in those schools you are guiding so ably.

CEREMONY WILL BRING THROGS TO SERVICES

Commander George Kloefer will head a delegation from Buffalo Arrangements for the ceremony are being directed by Past Grand Commander Herman G. Hetzler.

Commenting upon the dedication, Sunday, Chairman Hetzler said: "When in 1760 after the fall of Fort Niagara and the fall of the city of Quebec to English speaking people, the French retired to the Mississippi Valley, the sites of early French contacts with this region were lost and the records were stored away in archives in Canada across the sea."

Arrangements are being made to have the Honoyee Falls Military band in charge of Fred Nau play and the American Legion of Honoyee Falls will furnish a color guard of 30 men to add a patriotic touch to the ceremony.

Committees announced by Grand Commander O'Mara to handle the details are headed by General Chairman Herman G. Hetzler and Vice Chairman, Norman A. O'Brien.

Father Mooney suggested a program which, he said, was possible in every diocese. "If a diocesan program is to accomplish its purpose," he said, "the function of the sponsoring group must be clearly understood. In order to secure definite results, the sponsoring group should: 1. Provide the funds necessary to develop the program."

2. Establish the necessary committees to assist the Diocesan Director of Catholic Youth organizations in formulating policies and in the development of the program. For example, it would be necessary to establish a definite policy of co-operation with other diocesan and local groups and agencies dealing with youth.

BISHOP RYAN CONSECRATED IN WASHINGTON

Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore and Chancellor of the Catholic University of America, occupied thronos in the sanctuary during the consecration ceremonies. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward A. Pace, Vice Rector of the Catholic University, was Notary.

The minor altar used by Bishop Ryan at the consecration ceremonies was that which had been used by Archbishop John Carroll, the first Bishop and Archbishop of Baltimore. This altar was used at the recent consecration of the Most Rev. Gerald Shaughnessy, S. M., Bishop of Seattle. Bishop Ryan is the first Rector of the University to be raised to the episcopal dignity in the Shrine.

The church worn by Bishop Ryan was one made for Archbishop Capponi of Pisa, Italy, about 1650. The mitre worn by the Bishop was a gift to him from Monsignor Alfred O. Tavani, Substitute Secretary of the State at the Vatican. Bishop Ryan's pectoral cross was presented to him by the faculty of the Catholic University at a ceremony held in the parlors of Caldwell Hall, at the University, Monday, while the crozier was a gift of the alumni of the Catholic University. The episcopal ring was a gift of the consecrating prelate, Bishop Chartrand.

Following the consecration ceremonies, a luncheon was served in the main dining hall of the University. A civic reception in Bishop Ryan's honor is being planned by persons prominent in the affairs of the District of Columbia. Plans for this are to be announced later.

Archbishop Enroute To Washington Pays Visit To Elmira Priests

By CAROLYN RUTH DORAN

Riding through the Chemung Valley in his first approach to an important part of his Diocesan See, His Excellency, the Most Rev. Archbishop Edward Mooney, D.D., recently installed as fourth Bishop of Rochester, got his first glimpse Monday afternoon of what is familiarly known as the "Southern Tier" and of the City of Elmira with its large and representative Catholic population.

Beautiful was his brief and comprehensive word of description of Elmira and its environs. Regretful of the brevity of his first visit to the city, which he said was merely a stop on his journey to Washington, the new prelate revealed, nevertheless, in a brief interlude Monday night, that he had already been impressed with what he had seen and that he was especially pleased to have had an opportunity so soon to meet the priests who will labor with him in his new vineyard.

Reluctant to discuss public affairs, the Archbishop declared that his work was primarily religious and that he would be chiefly engaged in this phase of his work for some time. He also expressed the belief that his brother-bishops in the United States, who have been here so much longer than he are in a position to give more comprehensive views of present conditions than he. He added that his long absence in the Orient, where he has been engaged in religious work of recent years, had detached him from a directly objective viewpoint of American attitudes and opinions in the present acknowledged crisis.

Accompanying the Archbishop was the Rev. John M. Duffy, M.A., superintendent of the Catholic schools of the diocese. They arrived about 4 p.m., going directly to the rectory of St. Peter and Paul's Parish as guests of the Right Rev. Monsignor John J. Lee, V.F., Dean of this District.

In responding to Monsignor Lee's message of welcome the Archbishop expressed his gratitude for the evident attitude of kindly welcome with which he had been received, and in an interview later restated his desire to have his visit recorded merely as the unimportant occurrence he insisted it really was. Nevertheless, Elmiraans, who hold allegiance to him as their Spiritual Leader, although deprived of the pleasure of his public appearance officially and of his public utterance, are deeply pleased with his visit.
