Anne Marie Doyle, junior, has been awarded a book for successfully solving the two hidden title stories prepared by Betty Ruth Kraft and Hannah Silberstein for Book Week. Forty girls entered the contest.
Freshmen of Room I, St. Joseph's Hall, presented a one-act play, "The Prominent Author," in honor of the feast of St. Hilda. Rosemary McCarthy directed the play which included the following cast: B. Otto, C. Magin, B. Skelly, A. Deuter, M. Weidman, M. Mensing, L. McGrath, M. McGovern.

The Columbus Civic Center is having its annual drive for members this week. They deserve to go 'over the top' by a wide margin. It is the Civic Center that fosters such movements as Camp Stella Maria on Conesus Lake, the Parochial Hardball League (the largest League of that nature in the city, consisting of twenty-one teams) the Basketball League, Junior and Senior, the Catholic section of the Knot-Hole Gang, and now is sponsoring a Craft Lodge. And all these are types of activity for which the Civic Center receives not one cent of public money! Boys, if you know a friend, swear by the Civic Center!
The Craft Lodge opened last Saturday for registration; this Saturday active work will commence. Carl Meng, whose reputation for craft work is city-wide will be on hand at two o'clock, to begin what promises to be a very active part of the Center. Special projects are planned that will be suitable to present to others for Christmas gifts. Drop in and inspect the Lodge.

Scout Troop, 178, of Corpus Christi Church, announces that it will have a display of Merit Awards at Corpus Christi, on the evenings of December 1 and 2. This Troop has made great progress during the last six months, especially in the attaining of Merit Badges. Congratulations!
Last Monday night the Aquinas warriors were given a banquet as a reward for their football prowess. They made a great showing this year, and the number of players who are developing rapidly into future greats is very encouraging. Father Grady reports a better gate this year than in any of the three previous ones. Which is also very encouraging.

We regret very much that Notre Dame had to resort to a 'rabbit's foot' superstition to win a game. Superstition becomes only little men.

Important events coming: Visit of Penrod and Sam to Columbus Civic Center, Nov. 23. Football game between Notre Dame-B-St. Bonas. A holiday on Thanksgiving Day. One big turkey on the same day. (No rules in eating the turkey.)

Aljo Club Seniors Honor New Manager Charles A. Harster

Senior members of the Aljo Club honored Charles A. Harster, recently appointed manager, of the club at a supper party in the club rooms, Saturday.
Guest of honor included the Rev. F. William Stauder, the Rev. Francis Kiehlhammer, Police Chief and Mrs. Andrew J. Kavanagh and family and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Eckert.
Tribute was paid Mr. Harster for his rare tact and genius in dealing with boys, for his work in renovating the clubroom interior, for instituting new policies and for adding many new names to the list of members.

The Aljo Club was organized by its present director, the Rev. Albert J. Geiger in 1922 and has furnished supervised recreation for many thousands of young people of the Northeast section of Rochester. It is entirely self-supporting with no paid workers although doing the work of a social center.
It affords practically every form of indoor recreation to boys of high school age, of every denomination, every day in the week. Ten baseball teams were furnished equipment and a place to play in the Aljo Premier Field during the summer and the same number of basketball teams will be sponsored by the club during the winter, it was pointed out by Father Geiger.

Financing of the community service is made possible by public parties held Monday and Tuesday evening of each week. Emil Eckert is athletic director of the club and Joseph Urlacher, physical director.
