SODALTALK

Recording the Activities of Rochester Parish Sodalities Union

Holy Week is at hand. Once again the Sodalists may walk with Christ the Road of His Passion, watch with Him on Holy Thursday, follow Him and stand beneath His Cross, mourn Him in His tomb and rejoice with Him triumphant on Easter Morn.

Many of the Sodalities are having Guards of Honor all day on Holy Thursday and at Holy Hour in the evening. Periods of half-hour or fifteen minutes of adoration for each Sodalist is found to be more practical than an hour of watch...

Musical and from Blessed Sacrament Glee Club. A splendid program was put on by the Glee Club preceding a bridge and tea Sunday afternoon. For a beautiful enjoyable program, in keeping with the self-denial and restraint of Lent it was unusually fine. The program included "For Christ the King" by the Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., Rubenstein's "Twilight", a solo, "Song of My Heart" a sextette rendition of Stephen Foster's "Old Folks at Home", "The Bells of St. Mary's", a piano solo, Bachmann's Prelude in C Sharp Minor, Novin's "The Rosary", Schubert's "Hour of Dreaming", a solo, "Danny Boy", Mattel's "Fables" and closing with Johann Strauss' lovely "Summer Winds Blow". Miss Quarta Leckie was chairman of the event. Miss Alice Harvey, soloist of the Civic Chorus, directed.

St. Bridget's Sodality is starting something new and different, the first of its kind we have heard about in the city. It has started a Sodality library of books, magazines, periodicals, etc. We think this a worthwhile idea, one that could be worked out in most Sodalities. Added to that the Sodalists are maintaining a Guard of Honor all day on Holy Thursday, concluding with special services at the Holy Hour in the evening. The Sodalists are planning to work hard for the Parish Card Party.

The Rev. Joseph Vogt of St. Boniface Church gave a "practical" talk on "Reading" at the March Sodality meeting at St. Bridget's. For a topic on which so many talks and sermons have been given, Father Vogt's talk merited the adjectives new and different.

Holy Rosary Sodalists had a busy ride. We don't know whether they were hustling the springtime or whether they were caught in a snowbank, but we know they had a good time. Have you heard the news? The Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., National Organizer of the Sodality, is going to give a series of talks over the National Catholic Hour on April 8, 15, 22, 29, May 6 and June 3, 10, 17, 24. Will you be listening?

Immaculate Sodalists have collected some Catholic magazines for distribution. Magazines are, of course, always welcome at the hospitals and institutions or for our favorite missionary.

St. Boniface Sodalists held their March meeting, Sunday, March 11. March 11 was also Communion Sunday. Some of the Sodalists are planning to read to the Blind St. Boniface Sodalists have an idea which might be a help to other Sodalists in sending out notices. They have a corps of assistant secretaries who meet and send out all the notices for the meetings, etc. Three cheers for the willing helpers who do not leave the work for one little lone, corresponding secretary.

I'll be seeing you in the Easter parade. PRELATES JUBILEES London. (NCWC) - Both His Eminence Francis Cardinal Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster, and the Most Rev. Francis Mostyn, Archbishop of Cardiff, will this year observe the golden jubilees of their ordinations. The Cardinal's anniversary falls in June; Archbishop Mostyn's in September. Committees have been formed in the two dioceses with a view to arranging suitable testimonials.

Girls At St. Patrick's Keep Saint's Day With Appropriate Program

St. Patrick's Day was celebrated by the girls of St. Patrick's Orphan Asylum in a fitting and appropriate manner with a program of song, dance, and recitation. Every girl, including the babies of the primary grades, took part in the entertainment presented in honor of the patron saint of the institution. Of the ten numbers on the program, Cinderella, a musical fantasy given by the babies, was outstanding by reason of its unusual and original depiction of the fairy tale. Ruth Guinan was splendid in the role of the Prince.

Irish Day in Ireland, a skit full of Irish song, dance, and wit, was presented by the girls of the seventh and eighth grades. The central feature was "Mother Machree" a part taken by Victoria DeCarlos. Miss DeCarlos, assisted by a fine chorus, gave a very effective rendition of "That's How You Can Tell They're Irish."

The other numbers on the program were "Rhythm Band Babies," "Safety Scouts," Grades 3 and 4, "Scent Dance," Grades 5 and 6, "Three Crowns" with Frances Bernard, Jean Rose and Violet Donohue, "Rosie O'Reilly" with Beatrice Purvey and Anna Barlotto, "Molly Malone," Grades 5 and 6, "Ballon Dance," Grades 3 and 4, "Closing Chorus," All. The entire program was under the direction of the Sisters of St. Joseph at St. Patrick's. The entertainment was repeated Sunday night for the boys of St. Mary's Asylum, and was given again Monday night for the friends of St. Patrick's Asylum.

PRIEST-PHYSICIST HONORED Paris. (NCWC) - The Academy of Sciences at Paris had decided to award a special prize to Father Pollet, S.J., professor of physics at the Institute of Superior Studies at Tientsin, China, in recognition of his works on atmospheric electricity and the nature of typhoons in northern China.

Noted Actress Takes Final Vows In Order

Paris. (NCWC) - Most of the artists of the Comedie-Francaise were present in the chapel of the Benedictine Convent on rue Montmorency when Yvonne Hanley, widow of the first magnitude on the French stage, took her final vows and for the world to devote her life to God. The vows were pronounced in the presence of the Most Rev. Francis Gerlier, Bishop of Tarbes-Lourdes.

After the ceremony the noted actress' former associates of her late husband, and, through the grilles, saw them farewell.
