... but burglars are still working at their trade. We have no intent to scare. People are safer than they used to be. Men don't have to wear armor today. Or carry clubs through the city streets.

But... burglars still ply their vicious trade! They are visiting somebody pretty nearly every day. What makes you think they won't be visiting you?

Doesn't that possibility persuade you to be ready—with the fastest known means for getting aid? If you hear a suspicious noise outside, the police can arrive before the burglars get inside—if you have a telephone!

What are a few little pennies a day, compared to the comfort of a telephone at hand—and an emergency-trained operator alert to hear your call, twenty-four hours a day? Let's put that telephone back and have some peace of mind.

CATHOLIC BOWLERS COMMENDED FOR SEASON SUCCESS; URGED TO EXPAND LEAGUE; TO SUPPORT H. N. TOURNEY

With bright prospects of an even better season next year and with high hopes for a city-wide league of four divisions, members of the Catholic Bowling League brought this year's successful season to a close Tuesday evening at John Staub's restaurant, Oakman Street, pledging whole-hearted support to the annual Holy Name Bowling Tournament scheduled for April 23 on Columbus Civic Center alleys. This was the league's fifteenth annual banquet.
