Outstanding, original projects relative to the Rochester Centennial are being displayed by the children of the Catholic schools of the city.
Health, safety, transportation progress, industrial advancement, pioneer missionaries, the change of fashions in dress, the development of the Flower City and the Flower City are the general topics depicted by every school, but treated with a note of individuality in each case.
During the last week, exhibits took place at St. Monica's, St. George's, St. Ambrose, Holy Apostles', Corpus Christi, Nazareth Academy (Grammar), Sacred Heart, St. Anthony's, St. Mary's Orphan Asylum, St.

Francis Xavier, and Our Lady of Visitatory schools.
This week Centennial displays are being shown at the following schools: St. Augustine's, St. Stanislaus, Immaculate Conception, Blessed Sacrament, and St. Patrick's Orphan Asylum. Holy Redeemer School exhibit is scheduled for May 15, 16 and 17.
Excellent soap carving, wood carving, painting, drawing, pencil sketching and silhouette work, done by these school children, are commendable examples of what can be accomplished by young people. Time and effort combined with some innate talent on the part of the children have produced unique and praise-worthy results in the Centennial projects throughout the Catholic schools.

BALANCED TRAINING
and its place in the R.B.I. Success-Training Program by Ernest W. Veigel, Jr.
President of Rochester Business Institute

ROCHESTER Business Institute sincerely believes that Education is life rather than preparation for life.
With this philosophy of training in mind we asked business leaders of western and central New York what they looked for in the young men and women whom they hired. Their answers furnished the basis of a new system of education, far broader in scope and far more certain to assure business success than anything ever before provided. The result was
"Balanced Training."
Balanced Training first of all recognizes the need for developing a social skill as well as a technical skill—second, it provides a correct balance between theory and practice which gives each student a better understanding of the purpose of his technical training—third, it starts with the student as a distinctive personality, who has certain special aptitudes which if discovered, aroused and guided will make it possible for him to do a definite job better than anyone else could do that job.
And fourth, it sets up a 4 point program in the final complete training for business, and preparation for a broader and more effective life-work as follows—(1) A vocational counseling program—using scientific means to discover abilities and interests.
(2) A technical training program of basic business subjects and skills including reading of trade journals, trips to business establishments and lectures by successful men and women.
(3) A program for personality development and self-improvement, with special emphasis to cultivate the social side of the individual.
(4) A definite plan for obtaining a position and promotion after graduation.
Balanced Training provides for the development of the whole man and the whole woman. This involves the building of confidence and poise, character training and a thorough knowledge of human relationships that make for success not only in business but in club, civic and family life as well.—Adv.

Children of St. Cecilia's School, Elmira, entertained a capacity crowd of over 4000 at a Jovonilo Minstrel performance given Monday of last week at the Dunn Memorial Auditorium.
In Act I, entitled the Frolic, the children cleverly took the parts of such dignitaries as members of the board of examiners, school president, a prominent doctor and even Elmira's Mayor as they appeared at an imaginary graduation of St. Cecilia's School. A responsive audience applauded as the children mirrored the formality and dignity of their elders.
Singing and dancing numbers, also proved popular.
The minstrels presented by over 70 pupils were directed by the Rev.
Francis Harding, assisted by the Sisters of Mercy of St. Cecilia's School.

Prizes were awarded to pupils of St. Theodore's School, Spencerport Road, Gates, at the close of a public exhibit of their school work done last week.
Pupils who received awards for attaining the highest per cent and for neatness respectively are as follows: eighth grade: Edward Lynch, Thomas Olater; seventh grade: Mary Donovan, Anna Mae Wombwell; sixth grade: Fred Kelly, John Fisher; fifth grade: Walter Lynch, Leo McIntyre; fourth grade: Charles Trabold, John Rutan.
Parents and friends were pleased with the work exhibited in compositions, examinations and class work, and expressed their gratitude to pastor and teachers who supervise the education of their children. Among the many visitors at St. Theodore's School, high in their praise of the pupils' efforts, were the Rt. Rev.
Msgr. Charles F. Shay, and John C.
Malloch, superintendent of District No. 7. A number of neighboring schools also attended the exhibit.

THE RESULTS of an accident that hapwith a truck are graphically shown in this reproduction of an unretouched photograph. Occupants injured or severely shaken... automobile a total wreck.

Such accidents spell LOSS—loss of time,
