It's Great To Lose Fat and Feel Years Younger

We picked out this letter for fat folks to read to-day—read every word.

"I give you my full permission to print this letter. I had Kruschen Salts for weeks. I lost 30 lbs., since I have been taking it. It gives me a vigorous body. I know that in 10 and 15 days I feel years younger." Miss Edna Hunt, Algeria, La.

A Jar of Kruschen Salts lasts 4 weeks and the cost is trifling. Are you taking Salts to reduce or to please your palate?

Just try Kruschen for a month—besides losing fat you'll gain in physical attractiveness—skin grows clear—eyes sparkle with health. Take half a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—you feel cooler in hot weather—get it at any drug store in the world.

They Stood By Their Principles

O'Connell did not get to the top of the British bar by currying favor with the British garrison crowd in Ireland. Windthorst did not gain his leadership and immortality by licking Bismarck's boots. Few did not become generalists by joining the Free Masons. If a man is born to a different way of life than that held by the group in power, he might as well stand for the principles he is supposed to live up to. All he can get from the group that looks down on him is a grudging assignment, where he will be used for contemptible work and wherein he will always be suspected.—The Monitor, San Francisco.

Teacher Sees Omission Of Religion in Schools As Major Crime Cause

Boston (NCWC)—The omission of religion in the public schools is cited as a major factor in the increase of crime in the United States by Miss Mary C. McSwiney, a teacher in the Continuation School of Boston, writing in the current number of the Boston Teachers News Letter.

In the article, which is entitled, "The Cattle on the Quicksands," Miss McSwiney appeals for the teaching of religious principles in the public schools, declaring that without religious instruction it is impossible to make moral training effective.

She says that it was "perhaps fear of destroying the fine flower of tolerance through sectarian conflicts in the public schools, that Horace Mann, about 1840, abolished the teaching of religion as part of the curriculum" of the public schools. This plan, Miss McSwiney writes, was successful for a time, since "the teaching body was made up of God-fearing men and women, who, being impregnated with the theistic spirit, inspired it indirectly in their pupils." "But with the weakening of family influence," she adds, "in vast numbers of homes religious instruction ceased entirely."

"Children are shrewd enough," she goes on, "to realize that whatever is omitted must be unimportant. 'With public schools, on which today all training seems to be shunted, forbidden by statute to teach religion,' she concludes, "America is today fading into decadence by a wave of atheism and degeneracy, and with the coming of barbarism the tolerance that Horace Mann so cherished will be lost entirely. So goes the vicious circle."
