

Protestant Lauds Communism Sermon Delivered by Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen

New York (NCWC)—Praise of its way into our governmental structure. "The same force that destroyed the Church in Russia is working in Mexico, and unless the Christians of the United States put up a united front we will have them fighting us here in our beloved country. "While I am of the Protestant faith I can faithfully say that you are one of my favorite radio speakers, and I am glad to see you take up this issue of Communism, for the leaders of the Protestant faith are fast asleep to this cancer of the republic. "The Catholic Church will be the bulwark against Communism in America, and will fight to death to preserve our liberties when the time arrives."

Jesuit Will Conduct One Day Retreat For Mercy High Alumnae

Final plans have been completed for a one-day retreat to be conducted by a Jesuit missionary for the members of Our Lady of Mercy High School Alumnae Association on Sunday, April 14. NON-CATHOLIC PASTOR, CLUB STUDY MASS

Kent, Ohio (NCWC) His conviction that a saying bore truth to the Rev. Edward Archer, D.D., pastor of the First Universalist Church, and eight members of his research club to the 9:30 Mass in St. Patrick's Church here.

The saying is: "He who knows but one religion doesn't know one." After attending the Mass the group went to the rectory where members met the Rev. Joseph J. S. J. of John Carroll University, celebrant of the Mass.

There with the Rev. Patrick J. O'Connell, pastor of St. Mary's Church, a discussion was held, the two priests answering question after question.

Writing for The Catholic Universe Bulletin, the Rev. Mr. Day describes both his reactions at Mass and the discussion at St. Mary's.

"About three weeks ago, I visited the rectory and had a delightful chat with Father Logan. I told him that as a liberal minister, interested in tolerance and brotherliness, I should like very much to bring a group of young people in my church school class to Mass."

"Further, I asked whether he or some other qualified person would answer frank questions from the group after the Mass. He assented gladly to my request."

"I was Dr. A. Maude Royden who said, 'Be still and know that I am God' is not an arbitrary command; it is a psychological necessity. The full impact of that statement struck me Sunday as I sat in the midst of that large number of devout worshippers."

"They were getting something vital and admissible from the vigorous drama of the Mass in which they were assisting. In veridical terms, the Eternal Spirit broadened over all."

"One felt quite sure that the reverence and piety displayed by the surrounding worshippers was very genuine, that here, kindled, earnest, fervid, these qualities were to be carried over into the very heart and fiber of daily life. The demeanor and personality of Father Joliet, who was both preacher and celebrant, added to the feeling of awe and sacred love that permeated the service."

"Whenever possible during the Mass Father Logan, in black cassock and biretta, stood just outside the altar rail and explained the meaning and symbolism of each act performed by the officiating priest."

"Father Logan's elucidations threw much light on the Mass as it proceeded. Meaning was everywhere, a fact which was symbolic of one of the great meanings of the Christian life, sacrifice, suffering, loyalty, reverence, purity, and love."

"The distinctive thing in Roman Catholic preaching and teaching which does appear greatly to me, is the paramount insistence upon the necessity of good works for a Christian life."

"Father Joliet answered questions after questions from our group in the rectory immediately after the Mass. His tolerance, clarity and kindly firmness and pride in his faith, impressed us all."
