Should America withdraw from the 1936 Olympics? That's the question facing across the mid-summer sports ...

The 1936 Olympic games, as you know, are scheduled in Berlin and the Nazi religious drive has created an extremely awkward situation ...

Undoubtedly the American Olympic team will be comprised of a certain number of Catholics and Jews. The proponents of the withdrawal at once point out that we can't consistently send these Catholic and Jewish athletes into a country in which the activities of their religion are not tolerated.

A compelling factor in their stand is the recent Nazi order dissolving the Catholic youth movement, a nation-wide German organization devoted solely to athletics.

It is definitely known already that there will be no Jews on the German team. Government officials declared that they haven't qualified in the preliminaries run off for places on the team.

The Jewish fat man batted phosphorescent balls into the darkened stadium at Jones Beach until his performance took on the appearance of a one-man Fourth of July celebration.

Probably the spittled spig is tottering under the weight of years. Maybe his eyes are glazed by the curtain of time. But certainly his popularity will shine forth mightily in the baseball skies.

I don't think Ruth has outlived his usefulness. Not that I dispute the fact that he's not the Babe of yesterday's baseball.

Five teams separated by the thin margin of a half game. Three of the five tied for first place the other two a half game behind.

That's the hectic current situation in the Catholic League as the boys poles for their dash down the second half home stretch.

From now to the end of the season the game will be a crucial one almost every pitch. They have been destined for a great finale in a great season in the field.

92 BOYS ENJOY, WITH ZEST, LIFE AT CONESUS DIOCESAN BOYS' CAMP

Ninety-two boys are enrolled in Encampment "C" at Camp Stella Maris, diocesan boys' camp on Conesus Lake which will end Sunday. These boys come from various parts of the diocese and even outside the diocese to participate in the varied activities properly supervised at the camp.

Boys Their Interests

CAMP STELLA MARIS: What game is played most at Camp? If the boys can take Holy Rosary in Sunday's all-crucial game at Edgerton Playground.

The team possesses all-around balance. The major share of the credit goes to Frankie Cordaro, one of the diocese's greatest athletes and a banger played in Frankie-Cordaro—they have a real pitching ace who can use his head in the pinches.

It is foolish to educate our young people in the Faith and neglect to carry them to the frontiers of the game.

Schedule for Sunday, August 11 Cathedral vs. Holy Rosary at Edgerton Playground. Umpires Philomena and Snowstorm.

IMMACULATE - A fighting, mad bunch of youngsters who last have a real chance for the flag. Play three of their remaining five games on the home lot at West High Field.
