National Officers To Attend Clambake Of Alhambra Here

The national officers of the Order of the Alhambra will be present at the annual clambake of Alhambra, Sunday, September 15, at 8 o'clock.

Arrangements for the clambake are being completed this week under the direction of General Chairman, John M. Hedges.

It is not a question of the winner of the game but a question of the size of the score that will give the fans an insight into the potential strength of Coach Johnny Sullivan's charges.

The Aquinas squad at present has been pinned from 175 to 80. Sullivan expects to start the season with an approximately even power of 50 odd players.

When 175 candidates turn out in a school with an attendance of 1000, it is no surprise to conclude that the sport has definitely caught on.

Although Aquinas authorities won't announce anything definite at this time, it is pretty certain that the basketball team will represent the school on the court this year.

The Catholic Bowling League has been reorganized for 1935 and the old team will meet on Friday, September 27, at St. Boniface.

When it comes to Chicago tournaments, Rochester still must be content to play the "second best" role.

For five straight games through thirty-six innings, Kodak Park played shut-out ball behind the pitching performance of the amazing Shifty Gear in the national softball tournament.

Along the Sports Horizon

By BILL LANG

Within the next three weeks, the Niagara football torrent will swirl into town and the 1935 gridiron season will be officially on.

The four leading International League teams are at present going through the motions of a playoff.

During the past year, the International League worked out some records and left (except for Rochester).

The Catholic Baseball League managers are fumbling around with the idea of a combined Holy Rosary champions and an All-Star combination selected from the other seven teams.

Public support is essential to the success of a scholastic basketball team. When Aquinas decides to take on a full intramural schedule that support should come generously and steadily not only from the students and alumni but also from the community.

Most of our boys are very dependable in sending their stops, starts and changes in to the office promptly each week.

Boys Their Interests

In Memoriam

The boys often leave us speechless in the sudden death of Father Lester Morgan of the Aquinas Institute.

Among other interesting things to report, Stefan Loken leaves us a report on the sudden death of Father Lester Morgan.

Catholic youth is loyal as a group but close observers it is not hard to see the number of boys and girls out there.

We have no doubt that our Catholic youth since we have given the opportunity to know their Faith, will defend and live it.

Michael Williams in his recent trip through Europe noticed overwhelming evidences that the struggle of atheism against Christianity is the result of a head.

London.—(NCWC)—A ruling has been given that a man entitled to unemployment benefit may continue to receive it while he is undertaking a spiritual retreat.

When Catholic unemployed men are asked to return to work, they are often met with indifference.
