Fashion following the seasonal trend has again turned to Autumn shades for colorings in women's clothes. Becoming shades of brown and rust are seen in all shops window displays, while green, purple and blues are very popular with milady these days. The tendency is to warm colors—evidently designers believe that autumn days will be forgotten but with their frequent changes in temperature to peculiar to September, must need warmth both in clothing and climate.

NEW POWER HOUSE at Lowenstein Bldg. will provide the dancing every night in the week. Reservations may be had for any number. Culver 3300.

How and What To Serve
Hints For the Housewife
By MOLLY GAVIN

This week I have a recipe that you can try for dessert some day and surprise the whole family. It is one of my favorites and I know you will like it too.

Graham Marshmallow Custards

1½ cups milk
2 eggs
Pinch salt
8 graham crackers
2 tbps. sugar
½ tsp. vanilla
8 marshmallows

Scald milk and pour over crumbled graham crackers. Beat eggs, add sugar, salt and vanilla and combine with first mixture. Fold in quartered marshmallows and transfer to one large dish or four small custard cups. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes, or until firm. Cool and serve.

Crying In The Dark

By Eileen Leary

If I could make a little song
With a scribbling, scratching pen,
And hear it being sung
On the lips of many men;
Or paint a little picture
Of some far off land
And see the children tracing it
Crudely on the sand;
Or design a little gown
The color of the sky
And catch a glimpse of it
As someone hurried by;
Yet never make a little home
Whether old or very new
I'd think that after all
There was nothing I could do.
If I couldn't make a home
Where one heart might gaily sing.
Then I'd never, never boast
That I could make another thing.

Father Leary.

There are brides whose dreams never come true. There are grooms whose hearts never gaily sing. Why? Does not the wedding march music have echoes in Heaven? Bob's wife would tell you that marriage has more discord than harmony in its marital music. Her letter is as follows:

Dear Eileen Leary,

My crowd consists of four young married couples. We have been getting together for several years on Saturday nights. At first we played cards. Then we began to drink too much to enjoy cards so we sat around and told stories or turned on the radio and danced. Occasionally we go out on dancing parties. Like many other married couples we exchange husbands and wives just to "pep up" the party.

I am beginning to worry that we will get in so deep that we can't help ourselves. Even now Bob wants to go somewhere every night. (Once I had to beg him to go places). He wants Pete's wife along. Not that I am jealous because I have given him more cause for jealousy than he has given to me. But I want to know how to make him happy at home again? Three of the four couples are Catholic so I thought I would ask you for help.

Bob's wife.

I hum the words from a favorite song, "One alone, to be my own, and I alone to know her caresses, one to be eternally —" I stop and reach for my typewriter.

Dear Bob's wife,

Eve was to blame for the discord in the Garden of Eden. Confidentially I think that we daughters of Eve many times hold out apples for our mates to bite. Haven't you heard a wife saying this, "I am sick and tired of staying in all day. Why can't we go out with Marjorie and Jim? Tom and his wife are going. It's all right for you to come home and read your paper and smoke your pipe but you haven't been slaving in a house all day" (repeat chorus). Finally a grunt from behind the newspaper. "We went out with that crowd once this week. Had a hard day at the office. Want a little peace and quiet once in a while." Soft sobs heard from the wife. "Oh well, if you are going to cry about it—we will go." Out go Mr. and Mrs.!

The old story of Jack being a dull boy if he has no play can be true, therefore it is fitting and proper that Jill should want him to make merry now and then. Jill being a wise girl should choose pleasures that have no hazard. (golf excluded). A man is always a boy at heart, never thinking of consequences when he plays; Jill must little sins sit on steep inclines. One push and over goes morality. If a worldly person tells you that an unfaithful couple are to be envied for their freedom, that person lies. Free means unrestricted, who can say that the wavering couple are unrestricted? Marriage bonds being cast off, fetters of convention remain. And always in the Catholic's heart the voice of conscience will be there. "By what things a man sinneth, by the same is he also tormented."

A worldly person, one woman, for example, can break up a wholesome, happy crowd. Janice and her husband were newcomers to the young married set in a suburban town. Janice had the kind of vanity that wanted to hear "You are beautiful" from the lips of every man. (Thank God some wives are happy with inarticulate husbands, knowing that love often is a song without words). It is almost incredible what one season of Janice's presence did to that crowd—two divorces and tattered marital faiths for all. I knew them "before and after". These are facts, not modern fiction.

Wife of Bob, pretend that you are starting out again on your married life. Didn't Bob have some hobby which you might have encouraged? Men as a rule like to tinker in a cellar workshop, go to baseball games, hunt with a dog and a gun. Be enthusiastic about these hobbies of your husband, (even to lending him your favorite quilt for a litter of biddog puppies!) To take his hobbies out of his life and substitute pleasures you enjoy is unwise. Don't feel neglected if you have a husband who spends all his spare minutes collecting stamps; share the hobby with him. Or find one you yourself enjoy.

Jimmy and Betty had a hobby they shared. He was an ardent photographer; she was an artist and composed or coloured his pictures. Together they created some fine work. They drew so much happiness from their leisure that "wild parties" could not drag them away from home night after night.

A Catholic Home must be a place where peace dwells when the sun sets in the West and a man returns from his day's work. A place where books and music are friends; where enthusiasm and laughter are twins. Above all, a place where children dwell. Perhaps a child will help you make Bob's heart gaily sing. The Christ Child Whose sandalled feet pattered over the streets of Nazareth blesses the home where children are welcomed.

Franklin said: "What keeps up one vice would support two children." Give up the crowd and make your home all that the Master intended a Catholic Home to be.

"All the beauty of the king's daughter comes from within."

Classic Winner

Elizabeth Otey, sophomore at Marymount College, Salina, Kas., who will be among the finalists in the national contest sponsored by the American Classical League to commemorate the 2000th anniversary of the birth of Horace, to be observed on December 8. Miss Otey was adjudged state champion for her translation of one of the Horatian odes. Her production will be considered with those from other states by the national committee.

Dorothy Schifferli Wins Scholarship At Catholic U

A year's tuition scholarship to the Catholic University in Washington was awarded to Miss Dorothy M. Schifferli, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Francis M. Schifferli of 493 Harvard Street and member of this June's graduating class at Nazareth College.

Announcement of the award was made this week. The scholarship is one of those awarded annually by the university to students of high scholastic standing throughout the country.

Miss Schifferli is a graduate of Blessed Sacrament Parochial School and of Nazareth Academy. She was Valedictorian of the class of 1931 at the Academy, and had one of the highest ratings among the New York State Scholarships awarded that year.

At college Miss Schifferli majored in mathematics under Dr James Eastman, department head. She was president of the Study Club during her senior year and served at various times on "Verity Fair" and "The Gleaner" student publications. Upon graduation she was among the four graduates to be honored by election to Kappa Gamma Pi, national Catholic honorary society.

Miss Schifferli plans to leave for Washington within the next two weeks. Her studies there will be directed toward securing a master's degree in mathematics.

Card Party Set Sept. 27 By Good Counsel Parish

The Rev. John Beecher Sullivan, general chairman, was appointed Mrs. Elmer G. Knapp and Mrs. August J. DePrez as co-chairmen.

Assisting will be committees headed by: Reception, Mrs. Charles Rohrer; hostesses, Mrs Joseph J Statt; tickets, Miss Catherine McCaffery; prizes, Mrs Clifford Forrest, tables, Mrs John T Heneghan, cards; Miss Mabel Collins refreshments, Mrs D J Flatley, waitresses, Mrs. Claude C Witt.

A Florentine table was chosen by the committee for the table prize. A luncheon will be served as usual.

Corning Sodality Holds First Meeting of Fall

Corning — First fall meeting of St. Mary's Sodality here last Monday evening was attended by about 40 members of the society.

Miss Hilda Schosger, president, directed the meeting, and was assisted by Misses Ann Burke, Marian Burrell, Julia Cronin, Mary Arthur, Julia and Rose Parenti. Miss Ann Burke was in charge of the tables, which were decorated with autumn flowers and tall tapers.

The young women plan a pancake supper for their next meeting on Monday, October 7. Miss Helen Pfeiffer will be in charge of arrangements.

Rochester Diocesan Council of the National Council of Catholic Women

Office: 536 Columbus Civic Centre, 50 Chestnut Street

Our Holy Father, Pius XI, has again called attention to the great importance of the Catholic Press recommending it as the September intention to the associates of the Apostleship of Prayer.

Read your diocesan paper the CATHOLIC COURIER, to keep informed on all things Catholic.

We also recommend in a special manner the monthly, Catholic Action, the official organ of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

The October number is of interest locally, because of the report given under N.C.C.W. Activities, of the Study Club symposium held in Rochester.

Plans for the program of the N.C.C.W. Convention at Fort Wayne, Nov 17-20, are given an entire page.

Mary G. Hawks, our former National President, has an interesting article on the Brussels International Congress of Family Education which she attended as a delegate.

The enthusiasm which has greeted the School for Catholic Action sessions held here this week gives promise for the future in Rochester Catholic circles.

We trust all our members will participate in the National Eucharistic Congress by receiving Holy Communion on Sunday September 22, as requested by Bishop Schrembs.

Our Deanery Presidents and many of our members are being asked to co-operate actively with the local chairmen of the National Conventions to be held here in October immediately preceding our own N.C.W.C. Diocesan Convention.

Father Ball and Father Duffy will deeply appreciate all you may do to secure the worthy representation of our diocese.

It was gratifying to see many of our Catholic women at the opening rally of the lay section of the Council of Social Agencies, held last week at the Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Evelyn K Davis, Executive Secretary on the National Committee for Public Health Nursing, and Mrs. Peter Harvie, of Troy, Regional Chairman of the Junior League, gave inspiring talks.

Mrs. Geraldine K Lingle our Diocesan Chairman of Activities has been named a member of the Monroe County Child Welfare Board for a period of six years. Her kindly sympathy and practical common sense joined to her technical training in Social Work will make her a valuable member of the Board.

It is with deep regret we chronicle the passing of Mrs Frank Davenport, President of Perpetual Help Society, one of our affiliated organizations. The news of her death came as a shock to her many friends.

Always ready to lend a helping hand to any good cause, she will be greatly missed. Do not forget her in your prayers.

The regular monthly meeting of the Rochester Deanery Council will be held in Parlor C Columbus Civic Center, on Tuesday, Sept. 24, at 8:15 p. m. This will be an important meeting, in preparation for our Fifth Annual Diocesan Convention which will be held on October 31.
