

THE GREEN REVOLUTION

BY MICHAEL WILLIAMS, EDITOR THE COMMONWEAL

(Text of address given at banquet closing sessions of National Catholic Rural Life Conference and National Catechetical Congress, October 29 in Rochester)

It has been part of my work as a journalist during the last five years to observe and to report the changes and the consequences of revolutions in various parts of the world...

Revolutions could be observed, for in such countries as France and Spain and England there were signs and omens of the same phenomena...

World Events Observed

Now I do not mention the personal experiences in order to build up any case for posing as an expert in revolutions...

Again it was my job as a journalist to observe and to report the changes and the consequences of revolutions in various parts of the world...

Turning aside now from these revolutionary and social symptoms of which I have been directly an observer...
