Women's selective power is a God-given gift. Lucky is Mi-Lady who is so endowed—naturally. Yet, how true it is that knowledge of the correct—dress is born with some, others acquire it, and still others inspire it. Recognition of true value will come to the woman who has the penchant for the discreetly universal, when she enters the shoppe . . . 1549 EAST AVE. To those seeking gowns of distinction, frocks for afternoon and street wear, an invitation is extended. Reasonable alterations free of charge.

Among the souvenirs of time, none are held more dear to the heart of us all, than a portrait of our loved ones. A likeness of the babies, now grown up, or a loved face far away, will turn the blue candle flame of lonliness into a rose colored flame of joy—through remembrance. There is a real feeling in a room that has photographs, the renewing of old memories and a sense of something shared, comes with the sight of each one, like old friends being close by. One bargains, in a way, with time.

A lovely Lady soliloquizing on the subject of hosiery: "I must replenish my hosiery wardrobe. Hmm . . . "I DO want them to wear well. That means . . . 2, 3, 4, 5, thread weave, helps to determine the right ones for each occasion. The clerk will know the prevailing colors. Then I'll want ones with plenty of elasticity and reinforced heel and toe and horrors, I must watch out for rings. Now for the IMPORTANT question, where will I find hose to meet all these requirements. I believe I'll try the MERRILL HOSIERY SHOPPE, 79 Clinton Ave., So."
