Along the Sports Horizon

By BILL LANG
A bowling ball went spinning down No. 1 alley at St. Michael's Club the other night while a hushed audience watched with bated breath.

What does a bowler think about while he's rolling a perfect game?
The question to Howie this week after the fourth and last game, I naturally am not qualified to describe 300 game emotions.

When you step up for the ninth frame, everybody stops rolling to watch you. Even the teams on the other side take notice.

When you step up for the ninth frame, everybody stops rolling to watch you. Even the teams on the other side take notice.

The aforementioned Mr. Denk isn't a bowler who goes about telling everybody about his prowess. I did, however, succeed in getting Howie to give his own version of that game and it runs something like this:

The first eleven hits were in. All landed in the 3-10 pocket except one, a cross in the fifth or sixth frame.

When you step up for the ninth frame, everybody stops rolling to watch you. Even the teams on the other side take notice.

Boys Their Interests
Aquinas is brushing up on her basketball. We hope she has a good season.

Will hockey speed up basketball? And were the changes in rules due to the popular following of hockey? There is no doubt of the speed of hockey.

But does basketball still draw? It still draws where there are not basketball players and so a real game it does not draw where the players are checked so closely by the referee that they are not allowed to shoot except when on one on the opposing side has fallen down and broken at least one leg.

The tragic element is that there is no light on possibility of a right Catholic newspaper service. Our "center party" has been disbanded the newspaper and radio are denied them.

Mr. Oakes is a newspaperman, reports that Boston is going to have a growing strength of the dictatorship, the number of the unemployed, the slave driving tactics in the factories, and the unequal pay finally the Christian Faith is slowly being destroyed.
