Along the Sports Horizon

By BILL LANG

The machinery functions so smoothly and efficiently that the outside world only hears about it during membership drive time...

Members comprising the young men's group in the association have formed a basketball league of six teams...

Yes, mother, sister, auntie and even grandmother fit into the scheme of things in the Columbus Youth Association.

The general Women's Club and the "Bunch" Club sponsor the keep-fit classes...

Their program throughout the year covers calisthenics, volleyball, gym games, basketball, swimming, life-saving, dining, meetings, parties, shopping tours and sportsmanlike clubs.

The main appeal of the CYA however, lies with the boys and girls.

Hundreds of our school boys are put through their paces in numerous activities under the watchful eyes of members of the Dom Bosco Society.

In addition to all kinds of sports, the children's course covers drama, music and novelty clubs, hobby and reading clubs, leaders' corps, guidance work, scout troops and investigation tours.

Now what about the man behind the guns in this complex enterprise?

Bill Quinn is well equipped for his job. He was graduated from West Rutland High School in Vermont in 1924 and from Savage College for Health Education in New York five years later.

Quinn was boxing instructor and boys' advisor of the Catholic Boys' Club of New York from 1927 to 1929. He returned to his alma mater in Rutland to coach football in 1929 and served as teacher for the next three years.

His assistants at the Civic Center include James Blumman, boys' director, Mrs. Marie Kinnear, women's director, and Miss Margaret Sullivan who is in charge of the girls.

Apparently nobody seems to realize it but the fact remains that Leary is doing a great job at the helm of the rejuvenated Aquinas basketball team.

The basketball situation at the school now is a far cry from the halcyon days of the early twenties when a promising court performer would forsake school just as surely as an embryo football star today evinces a spot or Notre Dame's first team.

Now, said to say, some of our up and coming court luminaries.

Their Interests

The Parochial Basketball League got off to a nice start last week. The scores were a little uneven but that is always the case in the first few games.

Camp Stella Maria, Epw. Wov. their annual "get-together" will be held on Jan. 25 at Maudsley-Park Ponds.

One of the aims of education is to create in us a sense of wonder through the power of offering.

The officials in Uruguay have used the Astoria people, a Soviet commercial trading company of spreading communism.

There is an organization started by a group of enterprising young men some years ago to fill a wide gap in the winter sports cycle.

This was construed as an act of transgression on the sphere of an adjoining column but the opening of the Rochester Parochial Basketball League cannot pass without attention.

As a matter of record, Paul sent his youngsters against St. Theresa's in the league's opening encounter and they turned in a victory by the amazing margin of 31-0.

In the other game on the schedule Holy Redeemer's team might have been the victor but for a quiet in the final half.

Paced by Herb Scheuch's spectacular pun creating the H. R. A. team widened the gap between first and second place in the Catholic Basketball League to the full games this past week.

The second place St. Michael's outfit lost ground to the losers by dropping one of its three games to St. Boniface Len Stoesser with 558 and Ed Heffer with 433 did some brilliant shooting for the winners up 52-201 and 188 for St. Boniface.

The holiday lull did the H. R. A. League pinners a world of good, judging by the high scores turned in during the past week.

Although his team lost two of three games to Ace Drugs, Arnold Stroch came through with a 575 point. Parker's 536 was high for the drugmen.

Featuring Wittman Confectionery's double triumph over Meyers Shoes L. Schuster pieced together games of 182, 201 and 188 for 548 total Warth was tops for the losers with 564.

Art Scheuch (there's no stopping that family) clipped the wood for 565 in the double victory of Wallock's Garage over St. Anthony's Toppers. A 520 by Brand was tops for the Toppers.

In the only triple victory of the week, Pete's Grill won over Gank's Market, J. O'Neill with 354 proved best for the winners while a 488 by Engler proved the losers' high score.
