Insurance Protects Car Owner Against Losses

[illegible] couple of years [illegible] people [illegible] manufacturing plants interested in securing low rates [illegible] and [illegible] are doing to improve [illegible] But [illegible] insurance [illegible] insurance companies to see the [illegible] stand in an effort to improve and make [illegible] possible the policy contracts that insure property owner [illegible] from loss.

Commenting on this [illegible] A. L. Griffith vice president of the Egbert F. Ashley Company remarked that the reason people [illegible] so [illegible] about insurance [illegible] is because they are [illegible]

However to illustrate the effort being made to improve various forms of insurance and make them of greater value from property owner Mr Griffith stated that in some ways insurance has been almost too definite He commented on the old form of automobile insurance protecting the car owner against loss or damage by fire theft or wind storm These old forms did not cover loss, for instance when the finish of the car is destroyed by chemicals for tree spray [illegible] ing masonry

Thus a new automobile insurance contract became obtainable at a very moderate increase in cost and provided for indemnity for loss of every sort, that could be considered insurable

The Egbert F. Ashley Company has been the Hartford Agency in Rochester for the past 72 years and have been Insurance Headquarters since 1852
