PEN INTIMATE CHATS WITH THE CATHOLIC GIRL

by Susan Russell

USEFULNESS BRINGS HAPPINESS

My dear girls, I have been thinking a great deal lately about the meaning of happiness. I have read many books and talked with many people, and I have come to the conclusion that the only way to true happiness is through usefulness. The majority of us are about as poor as church mice, when it comes to comparing us with wealthy people...

Cardinal Gibbons liked and often told the following story. One day an English nobleman was suddenly discovered by his lordship. 'Well, Pat,' said the nobleman, 'what brings you out so early this morning?' 'After a moment's hesitation, the nobleman said: 'My lord, may I ask you a question?' 'Certainly, Pat. What is it?' 'It's the same question as your own, My lord. What brings you out so early this morning?' 'Why, Pat, I'm out to get an appetite for my breakfast.' 'My lord,' replied the nobleman, 'to get a breakfast for my appetite.'

Girls Last Four Days On Moors Saved After Praying to St. Anthony

London (AP) - Three girl babies who were lost for four days and nights on the bleak North Shires-moors attribute their rescue to St. Anthony of Padua, Patron of the lost. An airplane and a search party on foot sought them in vain, and they came near to complete exhaustion from exposure and lack of food. One of the three, a Catholic, Miss Pauline Preston, suggested prayers to St. Anthony, and her two non-Catholic companions and them with her. A second search party found the girls when they could hardly move.
