Executive Secretary Pope's Desire All Join Mission of Sanctification Urged by Delegate

Sanctification new models of sanctification from every part of life.

The delegate who has been chosen to represent the Holy Father at the National Council of the Holy Father acts for a more categorical and unambiguous in every parish of Christ in the Kingdom of God. His Encyclical on the Catholic Faith issued on the 20th of December last repeats the words of the Holy Father: "The individual and the community must be sanctified by the grace of God and the sacraments of the Church. It is the duty of the Church to lead the individual and the community to the goal of sanctification."

It is in vain to build a house on a sandy foundation. The fact that the Church is called upon to promote the sanctification of the individual and the community is a duty which she cannot neglect. That Encyclical describes in detail how priests should be trained and educated and how they should work for the sanctification of the people. The Holy Father's desire is that all who are called to the priesthood should be trained and educated in the highest degree and should be equipped with the necessary knowledge and skill to carry out their duty with efficiency and devotion.

Other documents emphasize the sanctification of marriage and the family. "Divine Illumination" sets forth the work of the sanctification of the young and the importance of religious education. The Holy Father's desire is that the young should be trained in the highest degree and should be equipped with the necessary knowledge and skill to carry out their duty with efficiency and devotion.

The nations distressed by poverty and suffering are also the object of the Holy Father's concern. He urges that the nations should be united in a common effort to promote the sanctification of the human race. The Holy Father's desire is that all who are called to the priesthood should be trained and educated in the highest degree and should be equipped with the necessary knowledge and skill to carry out their duty with efficiency and devotion.

DO-YOU KNOW? MISSION STUDIES WEEK

Quebec, N.S. His Eminence Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, has issued a Pastoral letter calling attention to the Week of Missionary Studies to be held from the third week in February to the first week in March.

The Holy Father's desire is that all who are called to the priesthood should be trained and educated in the highest degree and should be equipped with the necessary knowledge and skill to carry out their duty with efficiency and devotion.

Movie Industry Aided by Legion Says Secretary

"When the new day dawned," he declared, "I was shocked and writes the story of the industry and its efforts to improve itself. The industry has been helped by the Legion of Decency, which has provided a valuable service to the public by pointing out the weaknesses of the industry and suggesting ways in which it can be improved."

Unrestricted Art is Fallacy

The idea of unrestricted art is a fallacy. Art is not a matter of personal preference; it is a matter of objective truth. The artist's duty is to create works that are true to life and that promote the sanctification of the human race. The Legion of Decency has been instrumental in promoting this goal by pointing out the weaknesses of the industry and suggesting ways in which it can be improved.

N.C.W.C. News Director On International Board

The National Council of Women's Clubs (N.C.W.C.) has elected a new News Director to the International Board. The new director is a prominent leader in the N.C.W.C. and is well-known for her work in promoting the welfare of the community.

Crusade For Co-operation

A crusade for co-operation is being waged by the Catholic weekly newspapers. The crusade is aimed at promoting the unity and co-operation of the Catholic press in the United States. The crusade is being led by the National Council of Catholic Bishops and the National Council of Catholic Journalists.

ALL FOR ONE ONE FOR ALL

FRANKLY, many businessmen hold fast to the conviction that weekly newspapers... even Catholic weekly newspapers... are relatively inferior advertising mediums. You know as well as we do that the CATHOLIC COURIER is an influential medium... a superior advertising medium. The problem is how directly to convince the diminishing number of sceptics of that fact. And here's the simple, easy answer... BOOSTER LABELS to use when you go shopping, when you write to businessmen, when you mail a check. BOOSTER LABELS that will be tangible evidence of your interest in your own Catholic newspaper.

A pad of Booster Labels will be mailed to you upon request. Phone Stone 1192 or write to the CATHOLIC COURIER, 50 Chestnut St. Rochester, N. Y.

Would Revive School Readers Intended To Inculcate Morals

The lowering of public and private morals, as well as the steady growth of criminality in our country, has frequently resulted in statements expressing the desire for the revival of school readers intended to inculcate moral precepts. The idea of school readers is not new; it has been found in the school books compiled by McGuffey. The idea is to provide a selection of stories, poems, and other material that will inculcate moral precepts and promote the sanctification of the human race.

McGuffey's Eclectic Fourth Reader, published in a revised edition at Cincinnati in 1833, is the earliest selection of stories, poems, and other material that will inculcate moral precepts and promote the sanctification of the human race. The idea is to provide a selection of stories, poems, and other material that will inculcate moral precepts and promote the sanctification of the human race.

Papal Brief To Indians Saved In Mission Fire

A Papal brief to the Indians of the San Francisco Mission was saved from destruction in a fire that broke out in the mission building. The brief was a copy of the Pope's letter to the Indians, which was written in 1821. The brief was found in a safe in the mission building and was saved from destruction.
