I may LOOK CLEAN
but...

That dairy whisper that you are going to put next to your skin in its over a day to the eye, don't you? But if it has been laundered in hard water, the microscope shows you a different picture. Clinging to every fiber strand you find sticky, gummy curds which trap dirt and germs, shorten the life of the fabric, and combine unpleasantly with the natural excretions of your pores.

GIRLS SEEK CAMPAIGN'S TOP RECORD

about 700 girls are off to a living start on the Students' Catholic Press Crusade.

Each reports reaching campaign headquarters to note that the girls are more than holding their own in competition with the boys to obtain subscriptions to the Catholic Courier.

At the major points of interest in the entire campaign is to see if the girls turn in more subscriptions than the boys or vice versa.

The largest act of generous prizes is the special appeal for the girls' campaign. In the Monroe County division, the girls enjoy a number of advantages in the high school.

They have three institutions, St. Ann's Academy, Mercy High School and St. Ann's Academy as competitors. Aquinas Institute is the girls' high school.

The girls' campaign is being aided by the best campaign poster at 11 the other the best poster in the county.

Grand Rally Rouses Spirit of Crusades In 600 Leaders

Coming to life in full view of over 700 boys and girls in Columbus Civic Center Building, Saturday morning, the knights crusaded in armor emblazoned on the striking blue and white Students' Catholic Press Crusade poster, opened the campaign to put "A Catholic Courier in Every Catholic Home."

As the knight lifted his visor and called upon the boys and girls present and others throughout the Diocese of Rochester to emulate the crusaders of old in a new and vital quest for Holy Mother the Church. (See complete speech, Page 11)

At the sound of a trumpet, the knights entered the arena, the central figure of a table of the crusade was graphically depicted to the children. He spoke of the zealous spirit and strong character of those knights of old. Each knight in the crusade is to be the modern crusader and to work for the betterment of the world.

He urged the children to be of the crusade. The knights of old were before starting out to get crusades in the crusade. He called for information, printed work, paper and experience. The crusade was obtained through the Institute faculty the crusade and to obtain the crusade. The crusade was obtained through the Institute faculty the crusade and to obtain the crusade.

BOYS WORK FOR HONORS IN CRUSADE

The thousands of boys entered in the Students' Catholic Press Crusade announce subscriptions for the Catholic Courier have settled down to the serious job of upholding their traditional sales superiority over the girls.

Judging from the first returns made at campaign headquarters, the boys have enjoyed the basketball, baseball and football competition is mild compared with that furnished in the present race for subscriptions.

Some of the contestants, with an eye on a sales career in later years, are working hard to get better results than that furnished in this crusade. Most of the boys are taking advantage of the ruling that permits solicitations anywhere in the Rochester diocese.

The poster contest is proving especially popular with the boys and when the final awards are made this year it is expected that the boys will be the victors.

CRUSADE PRIZE

This award will be made in each division to that school which has the highest AVERAGE number of point credits per eligible student. That is to say, the total number of points credited to each school will be divided by the total number of students in the grades participating, not the number of students who have obtained subscription orders. It is the duty of every student to contribute to the point credits which his or her school receives so that the highest possible average will be obtained.

The statue stands 3 ft., 7 inches in height, and is a remarkable likeness of the missionary priest, St. Francis de Sales. It is beautifully finished in colors, and is suitable for adorning the finest shrine.
