Catholic Press Defender of Morals Declared in Press Month Messages

 A great many of our future citizens are being brought up through a system of education and training which completely ignores the claims of religion. This is a grave mistake, and one which will have serious consequences in the years to come. The Catholic press has a duty to see that the young generation is brought up in the knowledge of religion and its principles. It is a grave mistake to ignore the religious education of our youth. ## APOSTLE OF LEPCERS ON U. S. SOIL

Have you given serious thought to the need of the Catholic Press for propagating itself against the germs of paganism that are daily breathing? The Most Rev. Charles D. White, Bishop of Saginaw, asks in a message published in The Inland Catholic. One of the most serious dangers of our time is the ever increasing number of persons who are ignorant of the faith. The Catholic press has a duty to see that the young generation is brought up in the knowledge of religion and its principles. It is a grave mistake to ignore the religious education of our youth.
