Along the Sports Horizon

By BILL LANG

From Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, scene of the winter Olympics, to Washington, D. C., scene of the Georgetown explosion of the N.Y.U. basketball bubble rumbles the hated cry of racial intolerance in athletic competition.

Those individuals who raised their voices in protest against American participation in the Olympics are seizing fragmentary bits of Olympic behavior and whipping them into scorching headlines to flaunt into the face of the American public with that "I told you so" gesture.

But, apparently, this cry doesn't begin and end at the Olympics. Right here in our own United States comes a series of sinister charges in the wake of Georgetown's surprise basketball victory over the vaunted New York University boys at Washington the other night.

The Washington Square Bulletin, student publication at N.Y.U., calling for a definite break in athletic relations with Georgetown, editorializes thus:

"The greatest race riot in the history of American athletics would have occurred had N. Y. U. beaten Georgetown. The crowd which filled the gym became absolutely insane in the last half. They were cursing, berating the 'lousy New York gangsters' and absolutely set on taking Ike Klein's blood." Klein is one of the many Jewish stars on the N.Y.U. team.

Fortunately Coach Howard Cann of the New Yorkers takes a more tolerant attitude and so do the players. From Manager Al Nixon came this rather tempered observation.

"The crowd was noisy and partisan. What basketball crowd is not? I saw no danger. I will not break relations or take official notice of the undergraduate editorial."

Now the hardest thing in the world is to accept a defeat gracefully.

It's doubly difficult when that defeat happens to puncture a twenty game winning streak and comes at the hands of a team that has lost three of its four games.

When things like that happen, the alibi brigade starts an immediate search for something or someone upon whom to hang the blame. If you ever made a detailed study of these alibi artists you'll find that they generally blame either the referee or umpire, an accident to their own team, foul play on the part of the opposing team or the tactics of a foreign crowd. Evidentally NYU has seized upon the last item in this instance.

In the opinion of most sports writers, the Georgetown defeat definitely proves that the NYU quint is essentially a Madison Square Garden team. This fact was further emphasized the night after the Georgetown game when an unheralded Temple outfit put them on the skids.

Tomorrow night the Violets face the supreme test on their own stamping grounds when the Irish of Notre Dame invade the garden. Incidentally talking of racial prejudices, you never hear any protests from South Bend on the use of the Celtic tag in relation to the Notre Dame teams.

Who knows but that N.Y.U may not even be accepted as a good Madison Square Garden team after the Notre Dame engagement?

Taking all events of the past week into consideration, it must be conceded that the boys were a bit hasty in giving N.Y.U. the Olympic designation. The N.Y.U. lads, it must be remembered, cannot carry the Madison Square Garden court to Berlin.

Back to Germany and the Olympics, everybody's beginning to wonder what they're shouting about at Garmisch-Partenkirchen.

You read how the United States hockey team was booed at the game with Italy. More intensive reading will reveal the fact that Italy won the game. One New York paper headlined an account of this game thusly:

"Nazis Boo U. S. Hockey Team"

Now a study of Olympic history shows that every time the event is held there is considerable clash of opinion among the various nations attendant "riding" of certain teams and some rather questionable tactics on the part of some participants.

The events in Germany, therefore, are the rules rather than the exceptions. It's high time that the American public took these incidents with a grain of salt and thereby help prevent charges of intolerance from strangling the sporting world.

Behind the coming of George M. Trautman, president of the American Association, to speak at the annual smoker of St. Margaret Mary's Men's Club at the Columbus Civic Center Monday night is quite a story.

During the past few years, the Men's Club has established a city-wide reputation for bringing really important people in the world of sport to this city. Rochester has this organization to thank for visits from Coach Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees, Manager Frankie Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals and others.

Before bagging Trautman for this year's speaking engagement, George Bryant, general chairman of the smoker, went to Columbus to try to land Billy Southworth. Then he journeyed to Pittsburgh in an attempt to sign up the one and only "Honus" Wagner. There also was a trip to New York in an effort to induce Lou Gehrig, Mickey Cochrane or Ray Blades to put in an appearance.

But somehow, George found baseball players scarcer than hens' teeth. His ill luck ended and fortune smiled on his efforts when Trautman consented to speak. The American Association president has served as director of athletics at Ohio State and is equally versed in stories of baseball and football lore. What's more, he's a real orator, they say.

Besides Trautman's talk there'll be appearances by George Selkirk, George Toporcer and "Rip" Collins, five boxing bouts and several vaudeville acts. "Rabbit" Maranville, honorary chairman, will act as master of ceremonies.

All of which portends an evening of unrestricted enjoyment for those fortunate enough to attend.

This column's opponent in a bowling feud of long standing, Bill McBride, romped into position a bid for Hall of Fame this week with a smashing 706 total in St. Michael's League. The score automatically qualified him for the classic and gave him the high three game total in St. Michael's League.

Can Holy Redeemer's six-game lead in the Catholic Bowling League be overcome during the remaining eight weeks of the season?

That's the current question as the H. R. A. A. boys continue on their victory spree which has kept them in first place most of the season. By trimming the Mount Carmel quintet in three games Friday night, the leaders piled two more contests on their four-game lead, inasmuch as St. Stanislaus took the second place St. Michael's team into camp twice.

Long Joe Weber paced the H. R. A. A. lads with a crackling 681 total, including a high single game of 247. Charley Czulak with 631 and Fred Rizzo with 613 gave the needed steam to the St. Stanislaus attack. Carl Erhmantraut with 638 topped the St. Michael's boys.

St. John's took two of three engagements from St. Boniface. Ed Bauer replacing Joe Kausch in the winners' lineup, cracked the wood for 644, while Howie Donk contributed a 615. George Ernst's 607 featured Blessed Sacrament's triple decision over Corpus Christi.

The St. Boniface team took three steps nearer the flag in the revised Knights of St. John League with a triple victory over St. Eustace. Ritz was tops for the winners with 574, while Heinzle's 560 was high for the losers.

St. Mauritius won three games from District Commandery with Kress, Sr., showing the way with a 606 score. Schnorr had 536 for the District Commandery. A combination of the Cathedral and St. Michael's teams lost two of three games to SS. Peter's and Paul's. Rossenbach's 599 headed the winners' list, while a 542 by Schaefer was high for the losers.

Although R. Staub came through with 619, the Toppers lost two of the three games to Pete's Grill in the H. R. A. A. League. A 536 by Layonas was the best score on the Grill team.

L. Schlueter's 618 enabled Wittman's Confectionary to have a comfortable edge in the Shoes.

K. C. CHAPTER HEADS MEET

Auburn More than 75 grand knights, other officers and delegates from most of the 18 councils in the Central New York Chapter, Knights of Columbus, assembled at Auburn Council No. 207, K. of C. Home in Genesee Street for the annual mid-winter meeting Sunday afternoon. Presiding was John J. Leo of Auburn, chapter chairman and district deputy.

Inability of Thomas E. Keane, veteran Syracuse University track coach, to attend the meeting, made it necessary to alter the program. Coach Keane wired the chapter from Boston, Mass., that he was unavoidably detained because of the Boston A. A. games Saturday night in which his ace, Eddie O'Brien, captured one of the feature races, the "Hollis 600." Rev. Donald M. Cleary, chaplain of the local council and assistant pastor of Holy Family Church, was the principal speaker.

Prior to the meeting, the St. Alphonsus Church Circle No. 112 Columbian Squires conducted an investiture in the council rooms. Ten new members were accepted into the junior order of the Knights of Columbus. This program was carried out under the direction of Rev. F. G. Straub, pastor of St. Alphonsus Church.

Grand knights who presented reports at the meeting were Francis Cuddy of this city, E. T. Sweeney of Cortland, Fred Martin of Fulton, Arthur J. Cowen of Geneva, George G. Hahn of Waterloo, N. J. Finkler of Tully, Leonard C. Kotz of Syracuse, William J. Hamill of Seneca Falls, Fred Maxon of Oswego, William J. Hanovan of Canandaigua, Victor De Weaver of Newark and M. J. Leary of Ithaca.

District deputies, who were guests of honor, included T. J. Enright of Syracuse, John M. Murray of Endicott and Thomas E. Solan of Ithaca.

Stop Holy Redeemer

After watching Holy Redeemer wade through all opposition the first half, winning their entire six games by large scores, rival managers adopted the above battle-cry. But, after watching last week's game, apparently it is just going to be a battle-cry.

Coach Don Bruno's boys from the Hudson Avenue section seem to be unbeatable. For the third time this season they have turned back their bitterest rivals, the St. Mary's Boys' Home team, to the tune of a 20-9 score. Once again they demonstrated their superiority over the league's second strongest team.

Paced by Pat Ruff, Joe Suckley and Hank Borowski, the Alfo Club representatives gave the fighting St. Mary's team few chances whatever to score, holding their opponents to three field baskets throughout the whole game. Howie Connors stellar center of the Boys' Home team led his mates with six points as a result of two field goals and two foul shots.

While Holy Redeemer continued their winning ways a new dark horse" made its appearance in the form of the St. Theresa Quintet. St. Theresa's winner of the Parochial Championship last year proved to be the biggest disappointment in the first half winning but one game while dropping five. Showing a complete reversal of form, the St. Theresa aggregation romped over Nazareth Hall five 20 to 10.

In the second half game by a [illegible] Eddie T. Bright Polish troup held the Lake Avenue boys scoreless the remainder of the game, while they themselves scored one basket. Joe Kanicki gathered eleven points to lead the St. Theresa team, while Adams and Powers scored eight points each for their team's total score.

James Ehmann will dedicate his boys' recreation room in the basement of the Civic Center Building. It will be for the members of the Columbus Club. As yet no accommodations are modest and humble but great things can be expected from it if we can judge from the effort and enthusiasm that Mr. Ehmann and members of the Don Bosco Club have expended upon it.

Is there a C. Y. O. or Catholic Youth Organization in Rochester? Ask many young men and boys. There is not. The C. Y. A. (Columbus Youth Association) is on the initiative of the C. Y. A. Bureau for at least has been centered around the Columbus Civic Center and more or less aims at fostering memberships for the athletic clubs there. A real C. Y. O. ought to be city and family a diocesan affair.

"Why not make the C. Y. A. the C. Y. O. city or diocesan affair" is the next question that requires money in order to get and to operation from the part we. The first two are entirely lacking and the latter item is only half hearted. The C. Y. O. in Chicago and other cities ask the various parishes for their activities. At times this is exorbitant. We do not this this a good plan. The better plan seems to be to let each parish pay for what it gets. If they run the baseball or basketball league let them pay a fee sufficient to cover expenses and if they do not care to do that let the parish go tax free. We say "parish" advisedly because we think that in these cities it is the parish as a whole and not some individual such as the pastor or the manager of the teams should pay the fee.

In studying Communism many organization work themselves into a froth defining the Mystic Body, etc. and overlook the social disturbances abuses etc. which breed Communism. Let these same societies and unions fight for unions and social justice and let them talk sublime spiritual truths. You cannot talk to a man about the Mystic Body of Christ if hunger is gnawing at his vitals.

Catholic Pupil Wins Legion Oratory Prize

Chicago (NC) For two successive years honor has come to St. Odilo's School, Berwyn, a suburb, through one of its eighth grade pupils who received highest honors in the oratorical contest sponsored by the Auxiliary of the American Legion. The winner this year was Martha Lauterman, who completed with pupils from all public and parochial schools in the district. She gave an oration on the subject, "Why I Salute the Flag."

Social Justice, Crime Talks Feature Holy Name Banquet At Blessed Sacrament Hall

Application of the Church's remedies for two major ills of the day, social injustice and crime, was urged upon more than 400 Holy Name men of Blessed Sacrament parish at the annual banquet held Monday evening in the newly renovated church hall on Oxford Street.

The principal speakers were The Rev. Michael B. Groden, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul's Church Corning and Joseph J. Doran assistant United States Attorney and a graduate of Blessed Sacrament School. Charles E. Welch, news paperman, was toastmaster.

Citing the wrong distribution of the wealth of the land as a vexing hindrance to continued prosperity, Father Groden declared it the duty of Catholic men to seek a solution to this and other injustices which he pointed out have been scored by Pope Leo XIII and Pope Pius XI in their great Encyclicals on Labor.

The speaker emphasized the necessity for reading, dissecting and analyzing the Encyclicals "On the Condition of Labor" and "On the Reconstruction of the Social Order," and then to draw own conclusions.

The solution he said lies not in regimentation nor government in business nor in a resurgence of the working class over the capitalists but in assuring justice on both sides.

"Are we to leave it for the unspeakable Communistic plan, the unworkable Socialistic method, or are we to solve the problem according to Catholic Christian principles and those of the Constitution of the United States?" asked Father Groden.

Particularly did he call upon the youth to persevere in a vision of the future in which principles enunciated by the Church will be put into practical everyday life.

With educational advantages at the highest peak in the history of the country, Attorney Doran declared that the records show youth and in many cases educated youth to be greatest offenders against law today. He cited three prominent judges who declared that each and every child in the country every day should be given some religious training. He called upon the Holy Name men to lend their force to any movement for brought religious training to the young.

We as Catholic men should stand together in the war on crime declared Mr. Doran. "Attempts may be made to take away from our children the inalienable right to be taught the truths of our religion. Work to prevent that, but work towards the bringing of the entire truths of our religion to all children."

President Francis E. Welch presided at the dinner. Also at the speakers' table were: The Rev. Thomas F. O'Connor, pastor, The Rev. Francis Feeney and the Rev. Douglas Curley, assistant pastors; Leo P. Keating and Francis E. Sharkey, [illegible] of the Holy Name Society.

Group singing was led by [illegible] Vincent Hartley of the Cathedral. The Rev. D. Magnan, Council of Rev. George Kreb, the Rev. William F. Naughton and the Rev. William Ayers.

Group singing was led by [illegible] Hall who presented two acts of entertainment.

KNIGHTS HONOR DR. O'NEILL

Editorial writing services of Dr. Walter B. O'Neill during his three terms as Grand Knight of Rochester Council Knights of Columbus was highly lauded at a testimonial dinner held Tuesday evening in Columbus Civic Center Building. In token of esteem in which he is held Dr. O'Neill was presented with a 17-jewel wrist watch.

More than 250 Knights were present to extend felicitations to the guest of honor.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. William M. Hart vicar general of the diocese paid tribute to Dr. O'Neill as an outstanding Catholic layman. He commended the work done during Dr. O'Neill's administration and particularly cited inauguration of the Catholic Action program.

Presentation of the gift was made by Past Grand Knight John J. Mahoney. Greetings of the Supreme and State Councils were brought by District Deputy John A. Doyle.

Daniel F. Fitzgerald presided as toastmaster and read several telegrams received.

In the principal address City Court Judge Frederick J. Mix commended Dr. O'Neill's work not only as Grand Knight but as a member from the time he joined the order in 1907.

Brief addresses were given by the Rev. Gerald C. Lumbert, council chaplain the Rt. Robert J. Henry and Treasurer Frederick J. Weider associated with Dr. O'Neill in several K. of C. activities.
