Crying In The Dark

By EILEEN LEARY

The man gets an average of 5,000 daily letters during the fall and winter months. He is the victim of unrequited love that any married person has the corner on the market of joy. Try to tell a harassed mother than anyone other than an actress can have time or energy for beauty, especially if she has read the beauty hints given to the press by Joan Crawford lately. (They include more than one bath a day and the necessity of dressing in "cracking" for "dinner.") People with troubles just can't see that troubles are the common lot of man. "By the sweat of thy brow" And whether or not you can see the pain, poverty or the disillusion in material life, remains everybody gets hating.

Here and there an individual boy or girl takes experience as material for character building. Here and there a man or woman takes the experience as a test of their own strength. It is only justified. The public is invited to attend.

I have thought that half my own troubles I wished on myself. And I know half of other people's troubles need never have happened if they had begun facing problems sanely and in Christian manner about the family frigate. Worry is interest paid in advance on trouble. This "new" study club idea where groups of people discuss known subjects with a desire to learn and profit by the knowledge could be introduced into the home.

How does it happen that answering the problems of others has become such a painful business? Are there more unhappy people in the world today? Are there more miseries and misfortunes? I don't know. Who does I only feel like saying, "Alas, the world is full of trouble-borne parents who said to me one day as he choked back his tears from a whipping, 'Everybody gets hating. Richman, poorman, thief-everybody gets hating. Try to tell a Jew-bear man that the

RADICAL AUTHORITIES OUST NURSING SISTERS FROM FRENCH HOSPITAL

Paris, (N.Y. Daily News) - The Diocese of Versailles as a result of the last municipal elections has a Socialist and Communist administration. Soon after its entry into office, the municipal government decided to replace with lay nurses the Sisters of St. Paul of Chartres who had been in charge of the hospital for 150 years. The day of the Sisters' departure, a large portion of the citizens of Paris, escorted them to their new home at Poissy which has been designated as a retirement home for the nuns. There they will continue to care for the sick and the aged.

NOTES FROM BIRTHDAY

Harford, Conn. (N.Y. Daily News) - The Harford Laundry project has just completed a fine year. The records of the year show a steady increase in the rental of laundries and the addition of readers.

GOD AND YOUR CHILD

By Marie Cecelia McGrath, Ph.D.

THE Catholic has more than a creed. We are one with the rest of the world in that we are all children of God. We are purified in it; in Confirmation; and we are united to it by the Holy Spirit.

THE Junior Cook by MOLLY GAVIN. Suppose mother were to be for a game during Lent. Mother's day is at hand and it falls to the lot of the girls to cook dinner for father and the rest of the family.
