Unique Lenten Play At Aquinas Institute To Be Repeated Sunday

A unique contribution to Catholic Action and to Catholic Dramatic art is being made by students of Aquinas Institute in the presentation of an original Lenten Play, "As It Was in the Beginning," which will be given its third performance, Palm Sunday evening in the school auditorium at 8:30 o'clock...

The play, written and directed by Robert J. Latta of the Aquinas Institute faculty, was witnessed on its opening night, Passion Sunday by Archbishop Mooney, the Rev. Joseph E. Grady, principal of Aquinas Institute, and a large number of priests and laymen...

Presented in two parts the story of the religious drama is an actual scene in modern action, dialogue and song. The second part is a vivid and stirring scene in the life of the Holy Family in the Passion and Death of Christ...

Modern as the day's newspaper was the first part of the play, which is a picture of a life in a large city. There is a Mayor with faithful followers...

The 1935-36 championship of the Catholic Bowling League was held in a friendly and sportsmanlike manner in the possession of the Holy Redeemer team...

The league's schedule officially winds up this Friday evening but the games will have no direct bearing on the outcome of the pennant race...

From the South comes news that Harry Eggleston, erstwhile Catholic League umpire, finally has made his peace with the Holy Redeemer team...
