Women's Banquet Featured By Talk Of Father Straub

Auburn — Over one hundred and fifty attended the annual banquet of the Immaculate Heart of Mary and Rosary Society of St. Alphonsus Church, held last Monday evening at Springside Inn. The color scheme was originally carried out in the Society's colors — blue, white and gold. Spring flowers added to the attractiveness of the rooms.

The principal speaker of the banquet was the Rev. F. J. Straub, pastor of St. Alphonsus and moderator of the Society. Father Straub's subject was "Social Life." The Rev. Francis Waterstraat, assistant pastor, told humorous stories. Another speaker was the Rev. Walter Fischer, prefect of the Columbian Squires organization in this city, who told of some interesting experiences as a camp counsellor.

The program opened with the singing of "America," followed by an invocation led by Father Fischer. Mrs. Mortimer Hyland, president of the Society, gave an address of welcome.

Following the banquet, the toastmistress, Mrs. Lawrence Salzer, introduced the speakers. Mrs. Joseph Barry, the parish leader of Study Clubs at St. Alphonsus and an enthusiastic promoter of Catholic Action, gave a talk on the accomplishment of parish Study Clubs during the past season. Her report brought out the fact that the Study Club movement had been very successful, not only in St. Alphonsus, but throughout the city.

A short program of entertainment included a patriotic poem of Civil War Days, "The Old Man and Jim," and a humorous reading in Irish dialect, given by Miss Jane Salzer. Miss Irene Gentile, a soloist in the Barcelonia orchestra, delighted the audience with a number of solos, accompanied on the piano by Mr. Nammolite.

The toastmistress announced that the Rev. Father John Bohmwetch, who was invited as the guest of honor, was unable to attend because of a previous engagement.

The remainder of the program was turned over to Mrs. F. Maywalt, Mrs. H. Blumrick, Mrs. F. Risigerwald, and Mrs. C. Schneider who led in old-time community singing. Some of the charter members of the Society sang German songs. Mrs. Mary E. Woods sang, "The Hunter in the Woods," and Mrs. W. Roland and Mrs. Kate Kierst rendered, "I am a Musician," both songs in German.

The banquet marked the close of the Society's activities until October. The present officers are: president, Mrs. Mortimer Hyland; vice-president, Mrs. Charles H. Berry; treasurer, Miss Isabelle Herrling, and Miss Mame Herrling.

Crying In The Dark

By EILEEN LEARY

It is Memorial Day again, a day for remembering the soldiers who sleep under white crosses and the soldiers who live and carry a cross because of the havoc and the horror of War.

"The best way to honor the soldier dead is to remember the living soldiers, the disabled veterans," a speaker pleaded in a radio address on the annual sale of poppies.

To that material way of honoring and living soldiers, the Christian adds his prayers for the peace of their souls, departed or yet to depart. And more for the peace of all nations in all future times! Consolation to mothers of the soldiers of wars, courage to mothers of the soldiers of peace!

Eileen Leary

After the music has died away
The martial music that drum corps play
And memories of a thousand lives
Have disappeared, and the graves have been
Decorated one by one;
Children's songs have all been sung,
And little plans that lately hatched
In their clucks busily have been carefully laced
And the city streets and the country lanes,
Play allegiance and the wounds there have been dissert of Thee, and there
A concrete instance to Our
A peanut boy, or bandies leg
Still warmly moist from someone's grief,
I walked flower decorated alleys
A thousand feet echoed death to death
Then solemn tribute, as had once been
To the valiant dead as high made over
The sacred spot. Then Nature comes
With lighter tread with deeper drums —
Hollyhocks, lacey veil about
His heads bow down, and lies

ESTHER FLUEY

As I write I am startled by a baby voice singing, "There's something about sojer that is fine, fine fine." My heart quickens. Can those words be coming from Denny boy's lips? Yes, he repeats them a child of two happy at his toys singing about soldiers. Suddenly I am old, white-haired and I see him marching, marching. He is off to war! There is nothing fine about a soldier that must mutilate another mother's son.

Little girls who seek a husband and explain that they know how to cook and to live within a given budget have still another way in which to perfect themselves for the marriage vocation. Marriage normally includes children. God grant to Catholic wives sons, strong, brave and true. But oh the responsibility of being a mother to those sons today and tomorrow! So much that a mother alone can give to a child.

Not in the classroom, not in the church pew, by his mother's knee some of the lessons of life must be learned. An important lesson, the one of brotherly love whereby all sons, little boys growing up to manhood strive to make this world safe for peace, French, German Italian, Irish, Russian, Japanese, what matter the nationality, what matter the color of that mother's son? A woman begot them. The same God calls them His children. On Memorial Day, God's peace to all of them!

Shirley Temple Dines Catholic Jap Students

Los Angeles Eight little Japanese girls of St. Francis Xavier School here received a thrill when Shirley Temple, child film actress, invited them to luncheon at the studio where she is employed.

The little Orientals with their black hair and bright kimonos made a striking contrast to the curly headed American child actress as they demurely took their places at the table. But soon they were chatting with her, telling of Japanese customs and quaint oriental ways.

The St. Francis Xavier School for Japanese, largest of its kind in the United States, has 350 pupils. It is conducted by the Foreign Mission Sisters of St. Dominic, commonly known as the Maryknoll Sisters.

The school was opened in 1911 by five young Japanese women who came from Tokyo to dedicate themselves to mission work among their compatriots in Los Angeles. By 1920 it had grown so large they were no longer able to handle it and the Most Rev. John J. Cantwell, Bishop of Los Angeles and San Diego invited the Maryknoll Sisters to take it over.

Sister Mary Martina Bridgeman of Newfoundland, principal of the school, is at present on a good will tour of Japan with Sister Mary Susanna Hayashi of Tokyo, also a Maryknoll Sister. The tour is sponsored by The Japanese Daily News, published in Los Angeles as an expression of gratitude by the Japanese-American people to the Maryknoll Sisters.

Centenary Exhibit of St. Joseph Nuns Held at College

The Sisters of St. Joseph are celebrating the centenary of their arrival in America this week with an exhibit depicting the progress of the Order in the Rochester Diocese shown at Nazareth College.

The exhibit consists of a reproduction of the Sisters' first log cabin with its crude furnishings. Pictures and posters tell of the history and progress made from this humble beginning. According to the display, the Sisters of St. Joseph have established fifty-three schools, four secondary schools and one college in the diocese of Rochester. Five homes for works of charity have also been established.

This remarkable progress has been made by the Sisters within a comparatively short time. It is a remarkable record of achievement that the Sisters of St. Joseph have accomplished since 1858 when the Rochester diocese was established.

The public is invited to visit the exhibit.

Rochester Diocesan Council of the National Council of Catholic Women

Office: 536 Columbus Civic Centre, 50 Chestnut Street

The Rochester Deanery Council meeting on Tuesday of this week was devoted to reports on the Board of Directors meeting held in Corning last Saturday; to plans for the Vacation Schools to be held in the Rochester area and to announcement of a garden party to be held on June 18 at the residence of Mrs. Charles Mayer, 540 East Avenue, for the benefit of the National Catholic School of Social Service in Washington, D. C.

Rochester women present at the Corning meeting in addition to those whose names were given last week were Mrs. Edward J. Lucas, Diocesan Chairman of Ways and Means; Mrs. F. J. G. Connor, Diocesan Auditor; Miss Helen Gantert, Diocesan Chairman of Religious Education; Miss Florence Mails and Mrs. Emily M. O'Donnell, Diocesan Chairman of Study Clubs.

The reports at the Corning meeting were most interesting.

The women of Auburn Deanery Council surprised us with a donation of $32 to the National Catholic School of Social Service obtained through a food sale. Mrs. Treat also reported N.C.C.W. literature and folders now ready. The School passed out at a breakfast for 90 young women.

Over 150 attended the luncheon held in the dining room of the Barton Steuben Hotel.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. James Grifin, LL.D., V.F., gave the invocation.

Mrs. Catherine B. Welch, president of the Corning Deanery, welcomed the guests.

"The charming toastmistress was Mrs. Philip E. Purcell, known to many of her Rochester friends as Marie Pelanger.

Responses by Rev. Francis Moffett of Addison, the Diocesan President, Miss Cecilia Yawman, and the deanery presidents were followed by an address by Rev. Michael B. Groden of St. Vincent de Paul's Parish, Corning on the Encyclicals.

The Holy Father's 79th birthday will be celebrated May 31.

A greeting goes to His Holiness from NCCW headquarters.

We ask all our women for a special remembrance of Our Holy Father on Sunday next.

GLOVES are very important this year. The feeling is to keep the silhouette of the glove simple but to elaborate their details with fine work and hand sewing. With the new spring ensemble, whether tailored or feminine, fashion is strong for the accent of brilliance in gloves. Some that are featured in the shops today are decorative enough to be worn with the frothiest of prints, yet their simplicity makes them look clipped and clean that their lines are tunable to match with men's clothes.
