Champs Take Decision Over Sacred Heart Nine; St. Michael's and Cathedral Break Into Win Column With Initial Victories

Holy Rosary and O. L. P. H. forged to the lead in the western and eastern divisions of the Catholic Softball League as the result of victories in Tuesday's games.

Turning on their former star hurler, Barney Agness, for six runs in the sixth inning, the Holy Rosary champions won a decision over their rivals from Sacred Heart by a 6 to 4 margin. It was the third straight victory for the champs.

With Teddy Schlafer pitching one hit ball, O. L. P. H. notched its second successive win of the year with a 12-1 decision over Holy Redeemer's.

Gust Twirls Well

St. Michael's broke into the win column in the eastern division by taking the measure of St. Boniface in a hurling duel, 2-0. Pete Gust pitched two hit ball for the winners and also drove in the deciding run.

In the western loop, Immaculate Conception drew up to a tie with Sacred Heart for second place with a smashing 13-2 victory over Holy Apostles. Except for the fifth inning, Murphy as invincible.

Cathedral took the measure of SS. Peter and Paul's by a 9-2 margin in the other game in the western division.

And there you have it! Only three with their records unspotted. Margaret Mary's, Blessed Sacrament and Holy Apostles.

Of these three Holy Apostles and Blessed Sacrament seem the best in their Divisions. We say "seem" because so many things can happen! Take St. John's game with St. Monica's! St John's seemed to have it sewed up until the last inning. The St. Margaret Mary's game with Corpus Christi was one of the best this season.

It went to two extra innings and was put on the "pan" when Bob Schoepfel singled the winning run across the plate. The final score was 3-2.

In the Western Division, Holy Apostles is causing all to have heart failure with the big scores they are turning in. They averaged about 15 runs on every team they have played.

The reason: A good battery and good ball players. That's always bad news to other teams! Harrell Thomas has rounded together a nice team for Blessed Sacrament. O'Coin is the king pin and pitched a fine game against Holy Rosary Dody, their third baseman is so small that one umpire called out to him "Hey, bat! Stop waving that you around!" But against St. Mary's in a practice game, he hit over the fence. Lally and Johnny Baynes are the best performers for Holy Rosary. They are among the best fielders in the League. St Ambrose came from behind to take Holy Redeemer. It was a good game down to the last out. Charity forbids us mentioning the player's name who hit a homer and then forgot to touch first base!

The League is going fine this year and the evenness of the scores shows this. Very few of the scores trend 50-0 as they used to a few years ago. This is due to the fact that most of the teams have coaches who train the boys from the sixth grade. Holy Apostles and Blessed Sacrament are examples of this. One year you lose quite a few games because you train the rookies, the next year you have trained warriors and you cash in.

Registrations for Camp Stella Maris are coming in fast and we advise those who want one-half or one enrollment to see to it at once.

Interest in the Junior Page is growing apace. Many of the boys and girls have written in articles and many have signified their intention of writing more. Fine. Keep it up.

Listen in on WHAM on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock on "Children Can Conquer" program for the team standings and latest scores.

The scores of last Friday's games were: St John's vs St Monica's 9-8, St Boniface vs Holy Apostles 20-8, St Peter's vs St Lucy's, 18-5, Holy Redeemer vs St Ambrose, 10-8, Corpus Christi vs St Margaret Mary, 3-2, Holy Rosary vs Blessed Sacrament, 8-4.

Along the SPORTS Horizon

By BILL LANG

Daughters, my dear clients, is not a definition limited to a certain species of the human race.

On the contrary, Daughters is a name which ranks high in the annals of Holy Cross College for the simple reason that it happens to be the surname of one of the brightest stars ever to twinkle in the Crusader athletic firmament.

Bill Lang

When Holy Cross piled up that remarkable record on the gridiron last fall it was Daughters who proved to be the pivot man around which its defense and attack revolved. He won considerable mention for an end position on several of the sectional All-American teams.

Now, with the coming of spring Daughters has been transplanted to third base of the Holy Cross baseball team, which is surging through collegiate ranks in a mighty torrent of base hits, airtight pitching and flashing defensive play.

Labeled as a major league prospect young Mr. Daughters is keeping in the headlines day in and day out. This week in the game against Colgate he dug up a play which is fast becoming a rarity and actually store home to break up a glittering hurling duel.

Metropolitan critics are on record with the declaration that this year's Holy Cross team could step into The International League without a single change in the lineup and make a fine showing.

If that's the case Syracuse or Albany might send a civic committee to Worcester with hand engraved invitations and the key to the cities. Or, for that matter Rochester might try it if the Wings show signs of weakening.

Not since Frankie Frisch came up from Fordham have the majors visioned a prospect with a better chance of taking the long jump and not retracing his steps to the minors than Ben Geraghty, late of Villanova and now of Brooklyn.

Geraghty, a born performer, is holding down the shortfield position for the Dodgers and doing a mighty fine job of it. His hitting has surprised even his most ardent supporters and right now the most enthused of critics are convinced that Benny is no mere collegiate flash in the major league pan.

Down Auburn way the Commerce Squires have just wound up record season of sports promotion.

From December 8, 1935 to April 12 the Squires sponsored seven basketball teams, six of these [illegible] Auburn Pro final records and standings for the basket ball season of the Columbian Square teams sponsored by St. Alphonsus Circle No. 112 were published by Manager William Coleman.

The Circle sponsored seven teams during the season and six of these teams competed with outside organizations in 144 games. The Columbus Square Emblem awarded unanimously on 106 games.

Circle No. 112 of the Columbian Squares is strictly a parish organization and has in its membership only the boys belonging to St. Alphonsus Parish who attend the Junior and Senior High Schools of Auburn.

Its membership has risen to nearly 100 and of this number, 65 boys played organized basket ball under the direction of Coach Peter Vacarelli, a graduate of the Ithaca College of Physical Education.

In the Physical department of the program many others as well as some of the basketball players participated in Skiing, Tobogganing, Skating, hunting, hiking, wrestling and boxing.

While Team No. 2 held the record for the number of games won winning 32 out of 36 starts, all teams made fine showings and Manager Coleman was much pleased with the report. Coach Vacarelli expects a well trained squad for early fall practice.

Hard and softball are the chief diversions now. Several teams have been formed and are awaiting their assignment in the leagues. Eight teams teams are represented in the Squires in a Circle League. Golf too is attracting members of the Circle.

Fr. Mason Stresses Knights Ideals At Memorial Mass

In his sermon the Knights Father Mason said: "The Memorial Mass could be called also a prayerful service not only for the dead but for the living Knight."

Warns Against Dangers Of Youthful 'Horseplay'

Tells of Tragic Incident Which Brought Death to Young Boy; Memories of Youthful Pranks Can Haunt Us All Our Lives

I think it was Bulwer Lytton, the English novelist, who said, "The saddest words of tongue or pen are, it might have been."

I have often thought of this when I have seen a group of youths at some place or other, it is at least a swimming pool, for example, or a lake, chasing one another about on the slippery logs heedless of the consequences to themselves and to others whom they knock about and push and annoy in the most thoughtless and barbarous fashion.

I was reminded of these youths again recently in reading about a tragedy that grew out of this same sort of "horse-play." In this instance one of the boys was accidentally killed. Two boys were involved, both about 15 years old, although one would imagine to know from past experience something about the consequences that might follow their acts.

Called 'Chew Tobacco'

I had called Joan 'chew tobacco' earlier in the day and the boy who survived explaining what had happened and he was trying to explain me for it. I had a board I had been cutting in one hand and the pencil I found that day in the street. He rushed at me and hit me. When I tried to push him away the knife struck him. Then he had come on, but me to the hospital. I would not have been trying to hurt you anyway.

Well, the boy who died, this boy who carried the knife, was forty, but it was only a few minutes after he had been admitted that he died. The blade of the knife had pierced his heart. The mothers of these two boys, though attempted to comfort each other. The mother of the one who had been killed was ill at the time. You can imagine what I should have to say to her. The coroner's jury a few days later found that the boy had come to his death through accident and his playmate was being held was released.

Saddest Words

The saddest words a tongue or pen or it might have been. Certainly this boy was saddened to know that he was not responsible for the death of his friend, but he will always remember that in some sense provoked his friend by taking him that knife. He will never forget. He will go over this thing again and again. It will haunt him like a bad dream. The thought of revenge and mere horseplay can result in [illegible] and that is what these boys are also engaged in this horseplay in a public place.
