Maryknoll Jubilee Held On Coast

SAN FRANCISCO — With the Most Rev. John J. Mitty, Archbishop of San Francisco, presiding and a distinguished array of prelates and priests in the sanctuary, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Catholic Foreign Mission Society was commemorated here with solemn high Mass yesterday in St. Mary's Cathedral.

The Rev. William T. Cummings, director of the Maryknoll procure here, celebrated the Mass. The sermon was preached by the Rt. Rev Charles A. Ramm, rector of St. Mary's. Maryknoll has three institutions in this archdiocese; the Junior Seminary at Los Altos the San Juan Bautista Mission and the local procure.

Adults learn faster than children, it is maintained by Dr Edward L. Thorndike of Teachers' College, Columbia University.

I would rather be sick than idle Seneca.

The Lonely Missionary

The lonely missionary is always grateful when you ask him to offer Mass for your intentions. He is cheerful when he knows that at least somebody thinks of him.

Ask this poor priest to say Mass for your deceased and for your intentions.

RUSSIAN CONVERTS

Frequently we are asked, are we making any progress amongst the Russian people? Recently, we received a communication from the Sacred Congregation for the Oriental Church in which we were told that the number of Russian priests who have become converts is growing daily. According to this letter, there are seventy Russian Catholic priests formerly belonging to the Orthodox Church, who are now working for the Russian people in various places. There are also some Latin priests, who with the permission of the Holy See adopted the Byzantine Rite and are now working for the conversion of the Russians. Altogether, it can be said that there are about one hundred priests of the Byzantine Rite engaged in this work.

One of the great difficulties is to supply these priests with the proper liturgical books. They must have Missals to use at Holy Mass and rituals for the administration of the Sacraments and Sacramentals. It is the duty of the Sacred Congregation for the Oriental Church to examine all the liturgical books of the peoples of the Oriental Rites and to approve them before they are used. The Congregation is now working on an edition of the Missal for use by the Russian priests. The Russians belong to the Byzantine Rite, and they use the old Slavonic in their Liturgy. This is a big task, but a very important one. The Holy Father is deeply interested in it and has appointed a special committee to handle this matter. Getting out an edition of the Missal is an expensive undertaking.

We are going to ask our readers to help the Holy Father in this task. Everyone can easily see the importance of this work. These priests who recently became Catholics cannot use the books of the Separated peoples. They must have books and Rituals approved by the Holy See. We ask you to send us something for this work. If those who read this notice will send us five dollars each it will go a long way towards bringing the work to completion. This is as much a necessity for our missionaries as is anything else. The missionary when he goes amongst his own people, must be able to say Mass and must be able to administer the Sacraments, and for these he needs the proper books.

Let us hear from you this week, even if you can only send one dollar.

ONE CHAPEL

The contrast between the churches of the separated people and our Catholic chapels is striking. Those outside the church have beautiful temples and our people have, in most cases, very mean looking chapels. In some cases the Catholic Chapels are no larger than the average room. They are without any light and are miserably furnished. In other places Mass is celebrated in private houses.

Five hundred dollars will build a simple chapel. Think of what one chapel means to a village. The donor can choose the name and the Holy Father will select the site.

ST. ANNE

Between now and July 26, thousands of Our Readers will make novenas and triduums in preparation for the Feast of St Anne. We hope they will pray for our missionaries.

St Anne, the Mother of the Blessed Virgin, was born and lived and died in the Near East. She must be interested in our missions. If you can send something for them in her name, we are sure it would please her.

MAKING A WILL

In making your will leave something for God. Remember His missionaries who are working for souls.

Put into your Will the name of the Catholic Near East Welfare Association.

AN UNUSUAL LETTER

Dear Father:

Enclosed is my check for Ten Dollars which I ask you to use for the education of young men to the Priesthood. I wish I could make it more but I really can't. My mother died recently after an illness of three months. The priest who took care of her visited the house four or five times a week. It was very consoling to Mother to receive the Sacraments so frequently and it means a lot to us now to know she was so well prepared.

I want to help so that others may have the same benefits.

Respectfully.

We found this letter so interesting and unusual that we decided to print it. Perhaps it will suggest something to others.

EMERGENCY CASES

So frequently we wish that our Stringless Gift Fund would grow. There are many calls from the missionaries and we are able to answer only a few. When the Stringless Gift Fund is strong we are able to take care of the emergencies.

Send us an offering and tell us to use it where it is needed. Every offering no matter how small is welcome.

GREGORIAN MASSES

Read our pamphlet on Gregorian Masses. Thousands of people have found it interesting. It explains the ancient custom of offering a Mass every day for thirty days for one who is deceased.

Write for a copy. The pamphlet is free.

K. C. Hold Record Outing

AUBURN The Cam-Ridge Gun Club in Elgridge is the site where members of Auburn Council No 207 Knights of Columbus, stage their annual summer get-together on Sunday afternoon.

Success of the affair is greatly due to Lecturer George H. Otis who arranged all the details for the outing.

Features of the outing included a softball game between the teams of "Clarey" Hoey and Joe Emlaw. District Deputy John J. Lee umpired the game.

"Marty" Welch, the champion horseshoe pitcher of the 1935 outing, was on hand to defend his title. A program of sports in which all the guests were able to participate was under the direction of William Dempsey.

The clambake proper was in charge of the Gun Club chefs.

Putnam Leads Grand March

AUBURN President John Putnam of Syracuse led the grand march Friday evening when the Central New York Club of Notre Dame University conducted its annual summer dancing party at Club Dickman. The grand march began promptly at midnight to the strains of the Notre Dame Victory March. Music was furnished by Lex Waldorf and his Club Dickman Orchestra.

Directly behind President Putnam marched other officers of the organization and the co-chairmen of this summer social. The officers included Henry Hickey of Auburn, vice-president, Robert Rumpf of Auburn, secretary, John McAuliffe of Syracuse, treasurer, co-chairmen, John Beer and Dick Ganther of Auburn.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair included the parents of the students from Central New York.

Stamps! Don't Throw Them Away

Cancelled stamps have built missions, supported missionaries and catechists, and supplied medicine, clothing, food, and other necessaries of body and soul for thousands of God's poor. All stamps are acceptable as long as they are whole; stamps printed on envelopes are not wanted by collectors.

Save all stamps that come your way and get others to help you, the office force, your friend, the stenographer, the business manager from across the street, the office boy and the janitor who empties the waste baskets.

It is best to tear stamps off envelopes, leaving a little margin to protect the edges. When you have a pound or more, mail them in a metal-clasp envelope, cardboard box or burlap sack (for large quantities) to the

If You're Adult You Need Milk, Say Most Doctors

People accept things as a matter of course, long before they become interested in whys and wherefores. But often in the case of food an understanding of those whys and wherefores builds an appreciation of an article of diet that leads to its wider use. Milk, for example, has always been accepted as an ideal food for infants and children; only in recent years has its value as a food for adults been fully recognized.

Bartholomay Dairy at 555 St. Paul Street, has for years been serving the children and adults of Rochester with the purest and lowest-priced health food that you can buy. Its extra rich pasteurized Guernsey milk in the cream-top bottle gives you a greater value than you can possibly get elsewhere. For in addition to receiving the finest Guernsey milk that can be produced, you get this milk in the famous cream-top bottle that makes it so easy to pour off the cream when you wish to use it separately for whipping or other purposes.

Physicians, generally, are of the opinion that milk is a basic necessity of adult life. Its high content reduces the irritableness of persons inclined to be nervous and promotes valuable sleep.

All Bartholomay products are the most wholesome. All milks are pasteurized, being heated to a temperature of 142-145 degrees F. for 30 minutes. All temperatures are registered and regularly checked by health authorities. There is no appreciable change in the milk, except the destruction of all pathogenic bacteria.

Thus in these warm, sultry, summer days, you can be assured of fresh, pure milk when you order from Bartholomay's. Phone Main 6523.

Youth and Man Exchange Individual Ideas on Problem of Landing a Place in the World of Today

The end of another school year has come and gone. Many young college men are doubtless thinking seriously about what it means to step forth from the shelter of home and college, to enter practical life, to begin carving out the niche that is called a career. As a matter of fact, they've been working on that niche for some time; all one's past life is in some sense a development of one's career.

The poet Grey, contemplating from a distance the youth gamboling on the greens of Eton, and thinking of the cares and problems that awaited those youth, and of which they were then unaware, penned those famous though somewhat cynical lines: "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise." In this connection an interesting exchange of letters recently took place in the New York Times, and one of the letters, written anonymously, is quoted in the Notre Dame Religious Bulletin. I give it here, not that I agree with it entirely, but I do think it says a number of things that the young man on the threshhold of graduation will do well of remember:

"George Holtzer's letter, 'Youth Seeks a Place,' illustrates the sad trend in our country. This is just another case of making the hustler who is not afraid of hard work, and has the initiative to provide for himself and his dependents, take on the load of supporting in ease the higher educated sapling.

"Mr. Holtzer says these men of 'productive ability' are 'being ruthlessly brushed aside'—'their energies are lying dormant.' I should like to ask who is 'brushing them aside'? Can you brush aside a man of 'productive ability'? And if their 'energies are lying dormant,' whose fault is it? Why, it is the fault of business, Mr. Holtzer suggests, because 'industry is unable to absorb the millions of unemployed youth' who find 'their college training is of negligible value.'

"The question arises, What did they do in college to make this training valuable? And what are they doing now to sell their services to industry? If the Mr. Holtzers of the country are going to make these fellows sorry for themselves, and we are going to provide relief from the job of getting a job, we are 'ruthlessly' handicapping their able brothers by making a public charge of those who believe Uncle Sam owes them a living.

"In no other country, or at no other time in this country, have brains been in such demand. We are seeking now uses for by-products, we must find ways to reduce waste materials; cost accounting in thousands of firms is absolutely antiquated; time study work is in its infancy; simplification is possible in nine out of ten offices and factores; to say nothing of new products, new methods of marketing and distributing.

"The trouble is, this 'involuntary idleness and mental apathy' that Mr. Holtzer refers to is usually in direct ratio to determination. Certainly, these men who ask for 'relief' have asked for jobs, but what have most of them honestly done to convince an employer that he can afford to hire them? There are opportunities in every town and in every business in the country. No not always a vacancy to be filled, but a job to be done.

"The illiterate man seeking manual labor may have to wait to be hired or depend on help, but those men with higher education need not wait they can sell their brains and energy to thousands of employers who never themselves had the opportunity of college training. But first of all, they must apply their brains to find why and where they should be hired. This idea, that there is only just so much employment to go around is all nonsense. If you cannot find a job, create one. Make a suggestion that makes a place you will soon find you are hired.

"If the road is too easy there will never be any joy in achievement, and this is written by a man who has experienced all the heartaches of getting started. I first worked for 10 cents an hour, 60 hours a week and I am only 44. I was married at 20 on $85 a month. At 23 infantile paralysis put me as a charity patient in a hospital bed for a year, then five years in a wheelchair, living in the waste places, with wife and little son on $45 a month. No, I have not any technical brains or special ability. I am just another American business man making a good living behind an office desk, with a life assignment on crutches as the only drawback. Forgive the heroics, but it makes a lot of us boil over to see this attempt to make weaklings of the young American boyhood. By the way, my son graduates this year, and I expect him to make his way if he has to split rails as Abe Lincoln did."

Nun Urges Proper Children's Reading

ST. LOUIS—"Children who are left to their own devices in the selection of their reading invariably get their hands on books and magazines much inferior to those provided for them in the public libraries, and Catholic children are no exception to this fact. Sister Cecil, C.S.J., an authority on children's reading, made this statement as she arrived here to conduct a course in Children's Reading at the summer session of Fontbonne College.
