AURIESVILLE Solemn Pontifical Mass and a program of special ceremonies on Sunday, August 16, at the Shrine of the North American Martyrs here, will commemorate the 200th anniversary of the arrival in this country of the martyr-saint Father Isaac Joques.

Father Jogues was put to death by the Mohawk Indians at the Indian village formerly located on the site now known as Auriesville, a few miles west of Amsterdam.

Thousands of pilgrims from various parts of the state will journey to the Shrine to participate in these rites

The Most Rev. Thomas H. McLaughlin, D D., Bishop Auxiliary of Newark, will pontificate at the 11 o'clock Solemn Mass in the Coliseum The Rev John J. McGrath, S J., a member of the Jesuit Mission Band, will preach the sermon at the Mass and the Rev A M Thibbitts, S J., Assistant National Director of the Apostleship of Prayer will preach the sermon at the afternoon devotions in the Ravine.

The program of the afternoon devotions will consist of the Way of the Cross, veneration of the relic of the martyrs, and solemn procession of the Blessed Sacrament. Music at the Mass and in the afternoon will be furnished by the Auriesville Shrine Male Choir directed by Hugh P Donlon This will be the only appearance of the Male Choir this season.

The Rev. Peter J. Cusick, S. J., is director of the shrine.

Father Jogues came to the shores of New France, July 2, 1636. During the decade that intervened between his arrival and his martyrdom at Auriesville in October, 1646 he labored among the Indian tribes whose hunting grounds were in the vicinity of the Great Lakes.

LITTLE FLOWER CARMEL

The following letter from His Excellency Archbishop Mazzoli, the Apostolic Delegate to Bulgaria, we know will be interesting to our readers

"As you know when a diocese or even a country is in a bad spiritual condition, it is the custom of the Church to open in that diocese or country a house for a Contemplative Order This is what is being done in the City of Sofia, Bulgaria. In all Bulgaria, there are only 5,500 Catholics out of a population of 4,061,829—so you see what a difficult mission field it is. The vast majority of the people belong to the Separated Church which is supported by the state and by the government.

Over a year ago I wrote to you and told you that we had opened a house for the Carmelite Nuns in the city of Sofia. This Carmel is under the special protection of St. Terese of the Child Jesus. This is the first foundation of its kind in this country. These women belong to the Byzantine Rite and are making Bulgaria their own country. Already there have been many vocations and many young women have offered themselves for the religious life However, it grieves me to tell you that these holy women who give themselves to prayer and to mortification are living under conditions that are almost unbelievable Nobody expects the Carmelite Nuns to live in luxury—but every human being must have at least enough to live

My work took me to the Carmel about a week ago and I was shocked at conditions. I know you will scarcely believe it when I tell you that some of these women are without even the regular cots for their cells I asked the Superioress the reason for this and she told me that the greatest drain on their slender resources is the Thirty Dollars rent that they must pay every month for their house. She said if it were not for this, they could get along some way At present they owe $250.00 for various items and this is worrying them

I know that anybody who helps these Sisters now will certainly be blessed Surely, these women as they kneel before the Tabernacle all through the day and far into the night, will not forget those who help them"

We are giving you the letter just as it is, the letter from the Apostolic Delegate. Surely anyone reading this letter and who can spare anything will not fail to send us something. Perhaps you can pay the rent for the Sisters' House for one month—Thirty Dollars; perhaps you can only give Five Dollars. Remember every dollar looks very big to these poor sisters.

3 Buildings Needed To House Displays At Electric Show

To meet the growing demands for commercial display space at the Electrical Show October 3 to 10 the show management has decided to make use of every square inch of display space in Buildings 3, 4 and 5 at Edgerton Park

This announcement was made yesterday by Edward J Kramer manager of the Show and secretary of the Electrical Association, under whose auspices it is being staged

The additional space thus provided will make possible an extensive Industrial Section at the Show. This section, while of primary interest to builders, contractors and electrical technicians will hold real educational value for the layman, as well Though plans for the Industrial Section were first discussed only a week ago, over fifty per cent of the space in this section has already been spoken for according to Mr Kramer

Meanwhile the number of exhibitors who have spoken for one or more of the general display spaces has been swelled to over forty Practically all of the nation's leading electrical manufacturers will send elaborate displays to the Show

A heart given to God loses nothing of its natural affection; on the contrary, that affection grows stronger by becoming purer and more spiritual.—Saint Therese of the Child Jesus.

Suburban Service Offered Merchants By City Delivery

For many years the merchants of Rochester have been eager to establish a delivery contact with outlying towns surrounding Rochester, that might be comparable to the direct contact prevailing with their customers in the city Today, such a service is possible through the activities of the City Delivery and Storage Corporation, 195 Scio Street.

This company has inaugurated a complete suburban delivery to place goods in the hands of out-of-town customers, direct from door to door. Their new equipment creates faster and more efficient service.

City Delivery and Storage Corporation maintain daily morning delivery to suburban Rochester, which includes: Brighton Charlotte, East Rochester, Fairport, Forest Lawn, Gates, Greece Irondequoit, Penfield, Pittsford, Sea Breeze and Summerville. They also adequately cover the outlying districts along the Avon-Geneseo-Le Roy-Scottsville and Mendon-Newark-Palmyra-Ontario roads each Monday, Wednesday and Friday; while, on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, their trucks reach the territory along the Churchville-Brockport - Albion - Hilton-Spencerport and Honeoye Falls-Lima-Canandaigua-Victor roads.
