

Offer Mass In Mexico For Slain Monarchists

MEXICO CITY (NO) - At the request of the Spanish Colony here, a solemn requiem Mass was celebrated on Sunday, in the Church of Santo Domingo, for the repose of the soul of Don Jose Calvo Sotelo, Spanish monarchist leader who was assassinated in Madrid a month ago.

Senor Pujada, whom the Spanish Rightists have named Ambassador to Mexico, did not attend the service to prevent its being interpreted as a Euzist ceremony. Pujada was first Secretary of the Spanish Embassy here but resigned when Ambassador Felix Gordon Ordaz attended a meeting of Communist workers, headed by Vicente Lombardo Toledano.

At the time the Spanish Colony of Mexico City addressed a letter to Minister of Foreign Affairs Eduardo Faya, a copy of which was given to the press, censuring the Spanish Ambassador for meddling in strictly Mexican affairs.

Stating that "we have never seen an Ambassador of our country nor of any other country, departing from his diplomatic status to take part in public manifestations on a political matter," the letter assured the Mexican Foreign Minister that such activities did not meet with the approval of the majority of Spaniards resident in Mexico.

First Mass Since Reformation Said On Scottish Isle

LONDON (NO) - For the first time since the Reformation Mass has been said on the remote island of St Kilda off the West Coast of Scotland. The island belongs to the Earl of Dumfries, a Catholic, who four years ago was married to a daughter of the Catholic Earl of Granard.

The Rev John MacMillan, of the island of Barra, went over to Kilda, several priests and many of the local Catholics gathered to see him start off on his historic trip.

The Earl of Dumfries met the priest who blessed the island as soon as he arrived.

On the following morning, Father MacMillan said Mass at an open-air altar. The Earl of Dumfries served and received Holy Communion with his mother. Mass was said on the two following days.

TO ASK KING FOR SURVEY ON POVERTY

Catholics In England Join Move for Bettering Conditions for Poor

By GEORGE BARNARD (London Correspondent, N.C.W.C. NEWS SERVICE)

LONDON - Influential support is being found among Catholics here for a movement to petition the King to make a searching inquiry into the causes of poverty, economic warfare and to allow his subjects to "enjoy those material benefits and that economic security to which the nature and extent of the natural resources and productive capacity of the realm entitle them."

A Catholic section of the Petition Council has been formed and meetings have been arranged in many parts of the country.

Archbishop's Letter

The Most Rev Alban Coadier, S. J., former Archbishop of Bombay, now Titular Archbishop of Hierapolis, sent this letter to a meeting held here with Frank Nugent, Catholic Stage Guild secretary, in the chair.

"Surely there is not a man or woman in England, no matter to what school he or she belongs, who would not sign such a petition. Our Lord said: 'The poor you have always with you,' implying that poverty would always be. But He also said 'Blessed are ye poor' and would not allow that poverty implied misery and starvation. To feed the hungry is a work of mercy, but to lift up the poor and to make their lives no less happy and worth while than those of their more fortunate brethren is the work of Christ and of Christianity."

Mr Nugent asked his audience not to take the attitude that revolutions and civil wars cannot happen in this country.

Mrs. Cunningham, Catholic member of the Petition Council, said the petition gave the King the chance of making the greatest reform in British history.

The Petition Council is its literature shows is not making a demand for reform in a specific way. It is asking "for an impartial and totally disinterested inquiry into the workings of the present monetary system."

Many in Great Need

In the petition to the King it is claimed that great numbers of the people are in the extreme of poverty, yet food and goods in great quantities are continually destroyed, that many people are unemployed, yet work on the production of food and goods is deliberately restricted, that invention and scientific method have released great new sources of wealth, yet the realm lacks the principle demanded for the utilization of such wealth. The petition asserts that international amity is threatened by trade restrictions.

Declaring that the circumstances are without parallel or precedent in the history of the realm, the petition asks the King to exercise his royal prerogative and summon his judges to inquire into the circumstances.

SUCCESSFUL FETE IS HELD IN HORNELL

Adds Large Sum to Church's Fund; Rexville Parish Reunion Held

Hornell - An unusual golfing fete was accomplished by Dr. C. E. Falt this week on the Canister Valley golf course. He played nine holes in par, 33, using the same number of strokes on each hole as designated on the score cards.

The score card par reads 3-3-4-4-5-4-4-3-4, and Dr. Falt's card was identical. The physician had a chance to break par but missed short putt, the ball clinging to the lip of the cup.

"It was the most successful event," the Rev. Ignatius Cameron, pastor, said. The Rev. Francis Heister, assistant pastor, was general chairman.

Despite inclement weather, the festival at the home of Ernest H. Weyand on Crosby Street was a success in every way. Father Heister said that it was hoped to realize $1,000 from the affair but the amount would not be definitely known for several days.

The two-day festival opened Tuesday with the Mass of glory and hundreds thronged the enclosure. Rain fell in the midst of the program Wednesday evening and it was postponed until the next night.

Although the weather was chilly and the costs would have been welcomed by many, a large crowd milled about the illuminated and gaily decorated enclosure, and were attracted by the various concessions by "barbers extraordinary."

During the evening a band concert enlivened the program, and the "Bingo" games proved one of the most popular forms of entertainment.

Father Heister expressed his appreciation for the loyal support.

Fr. Lynn Ertels Fete

Rexville - The busiest person here early this week was Rev. Raymond Lynn, pastor of St. Mary's Church. He was engaged in making preparations for the annual Harvest Festival, Wednesday evening. The annual home-coming affair attracted former residents and visitors.

Father Lynn was appointed pastor of St. Mary's and St. Joachim's in Canisteo in the summer of 1934. That fall he participated in his first Harvest Festival, and last year, after a year in the harness, directed the affair. He worked along similar lines this year.

Lack of electricity, according to Father Lynn, nearly hampered the staging of a successful festival and when festival time rolled around in the season's booths. This fall he planned to light the dining hall where the supper will be served, and in 1937 he claims the entire building will be electrified, including the dance hall.

Lourdes Cure of Nun Registered As A Miracle

By M. MASSIANI (Paris Correspondent, N.C.W.C. News Service)

PARIS (NO) - The Bureau of Medical Verification at Lourdes has officially registered a miracle cure, that of Sister St. Marguerite Marie of the Augustinians of Versailles.

Sister St. Marguerite Marie suffered from tubercular peritonitis following an appendectomy in January, 1935, she had a suppurative wound which did not heal until July 16, 1935, at Lourdes. An abscess on her neck, of tubercular origin, had also resulted in a running fistula which closed the same day.

The marked emaciation of the Religious, her fever and excessive nausea, had caused her companions to ask for the Last Sacraments for her, but, suddenly on the evening of July 16, as the Blessed Sacrament was carried by Sister St. Marguerite Marie felt herself cured. Her sores dried up and all surgical marks had disappeared.

A year later found the miraculously-cured Sister again at Lourdes but this time as a nurse for the pilgrims and not as the same last year, a dying woman.

AIR-WATER TOURS

With the popularity of Miami Beach and other Southern watering resorts established for the summer vacationists, great transportation companies the Clyde Mallory Lines and the Eastern Air Lines have created a new holiday cruise, a combination air-ocean voyage with hotel accommodations included in one, low rate, available to Charleston, S. C., St. Augustine, or Miami, Fla., or to the Texas Centennial.

Transportation is arranged as the passenger desires to include a complete, leisurely ocean cruise on a luxury liner, with the journey in the other direction by air.

Thus the vacationist spends two to six luxurious comfortable days at sea, with deck sports and the full facilities of an ocean cruise, followed by an interlude at a first class hotel, or at the grand World's Fair and Centennial in Dallas, before the return aboard a large air liner.

WIDE WINTER PROGRAM

With little doubt that transatlantic and cruise traffic has not only returned to pre-depression level, but exceeded it, the Italian Line announces the most comprehensive winter cruise program they have ever offered.

In addition to three Mediterranean voyages and a Christmas cruise of the West Indies, a special, hitherto unavailable, cruise of the Isles of the Atlantic, an ocean exploration trip that pioneers a new departure in cruise travel is offered.

A GUIDE TO THE LITURGICAL YEAR

By The REV. PAUL BUSSARD (Editor, The Ladies Mirror)

THE GOOD SAMARITAN

The Gospel today is the story of the Good Samaritan who took care of the man wounded by robbers. This parable is obviously intended to urge us to love our neighbor in practical fashion, but many have seen in it a picture of Christ. Our Lord took pity on a world wounded by sin and lying half-dead by the roadside. He came down from the heavenly Jerusalem, repaired the damages wrought by sin and left the world in possession of an abundance of supernatural life.

The Israelit, which preys that the Lord make haste to help us, these words begin every Sabbath in the divine office. A similar plea should be at the beginning of every prayer we say and of every action we are about to perform.

The feast by which our Lord repairs the damages of sin are hinted in the Communion Chant, which says that the earth is filled with the fruit of His work. Then it mentions wine which gladdens the heart of man, bread which strengthens his heart, and oil that maketh him radiant. It is not difficult to apply these words to the Holy Eucharist, and to the anointings with oil in Baptism, Holy Orders and Extreme Unction. (N.C.W.C. FEATURES)

To The Blessed Virgin

O Mary my Mother, what joy in thy name!

Bright star of our hope, sweet solace of pain,

A shield to protect us when enemies rage,

A guide to our youth a comfort in age.

When the last joy is fled and the last hope is gone,

And the death-stricken victim stands trembling and lone,

When the agonies of the grave gather 'round my soul fast,

And the child of affliction fears mercy is past.

When the cold sweat of death trickles down my pale brow,

And the spirit in agony breathes its last vow,

Oh! then 't is that moment when life's light departs,

And the pulse ceases forever to thrum in my heart.

O Mary my Mother! with my last feeble breath,

As I love thee in life, let me love thee in death!

Oh! be thou my refuge, my solace, my shield,

Be thy name on my lips when my spirit I yield.

When friendless and lone, in that strange distant land,

My spirit with trembling in judgment shall stand,

I know that my Mother will meet her child there,

I know that my Mother will hear her child's prayer.

Her name is my refuge, her bosom my rest;

Her love is the sweetest, the dearest, the best.

Then Mary my Mother, be it e'er to me given,

As I love thee on earth, still to love thee in Heaven.
