

Gives Church's Views On 'Capitalism' Today

NEW YORK—"The Catholic Church does not condemn capitalism in the sense of private ownership and operation of the means of production," nor does it condemn production for profit," the Rev. John A. Ryan of the Catholic University of America, Director of the Department of Social Action, N.C.W.C., says in an article appearing in this month's issue of Common Sense.

The Conditional Gift

No better financial "risk" exists in the U. S. A. than the Catholic Church.

For those who want safety and a fair interest, the Conditional Gift Plan for the Society for the Propagation of the Faith commends itself as a wise and charitable investment. This plan gives the donor from three to five per cent. annually during his life.

At death the principal is devoted to the greatest single task facing the Church, the conversion of the twelve hundred million pagans who do not know the true God.

Conditional Gifts are a means of repaying the debt which the gift of faith imposes on us.

The Little Flower

Thousands of our readers will complete the Novena to St. Therese the Little Flower on Saturday. We hope they will remember our work in their prayers.

St. Therese is the Patroness of all the missions; so, naturally, we feel that we have a special claim on her.

Can you send us something in her honor? Make a gift to the missions in gratitude for the favors received through her. Fifteen dollars will purchase a large statue of St. Therese for a mission, chapel or school.

LITTLE FLOWER CHAPEL IN SOFIA

Delegate Writes About Carmelite Nuns

Some weeks ago we made an appeal for the Carmelite Nuns of the Little Flower Chapel in Sofia. The response was rather disappointing, and we repeated the appeal this week with the hope that we will be more successful this time. Perhaps those who are closing their Novena to the Little Flower on Saturday will be able to send us something to help these Carmelite Nuns who last year opened a house in Bulgaria. It should be borne in mind that in all Bulgaria there are only 5,500 Catholics out of a population of 4,000,000. We are giving again the letter from His Excellency, the Apostolic Delegate, Archbishop Mazzoli.

"Over a year ago I wrote to you and told you that we had opened a house for the Carmelite Nuns in the City of Sofia. This Carmel is under the special protection of St. Therese of the Child Jesus. This is the first foundation of its kind in the country. These women belong to the Byzantine Rite and are making Bulgaria their own country. Already there have been many vocations and many young women have offered themselves for the religious life. However, it grieves me to tell you that these holy women who give themselves to prayer and to mortification are living under conditions that are almost unbelievable. No body expects the Carmelite Nuns to live in luxury—but every human being must have at least enough to live.

"My work took me to the Carmel about a week ago and I was shocked at conditions. I know you will scarcely believe it when I tell you that some of these women are without even the regular robe for their calls. I asked the Superiora the reason for this and she told me that the greatest drain on their slender resources is the $30 rent that they must pay every month for their house. She said if it were not for this, they could get along some way. At present they owe $250 for various items and this is worrying them.

I know that anybody who helps these Sisters now will certainly be blessed. Surely, these women as they kneel before the Tabernacle all through the day and far into the night will not forget those who help them."

You have read the letter. What do you think you can do? Perhaps you can only send us a small sum, but remember the small amount is very welcome. The Sisters have nothing except the walls of their house and their only hope is the response for this appeal. Surely St. Therese would be pleased if you sent something to these Nuns who belong to the same order as she belonged.

BEGIN TASK OF REVISING CATECHISM

150 Theologians Prepare First Draft in Huge Undertaking

WASHINGTON—As a result of the preliminary study of the text of the Baltimore Catechism undertaken by the Episcopal Committee on the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, more than 150 theologians have co-operated in the preparation of the first draft of a proposed revision, it was announced today. These theologians represented archdioceses and dioceses, 10 major seminaries, and 12 religious Orders of men.

Three committees of theologians were appointed to collate the reports received. To one committee were assigned the chapters on the Creed, to the second the chapters on the Commandments of God and the Church, to the third the chapters on the Sacraments and Prayer. Each committee received all the work-sheets submitted on their respective assignments and undertook to arrange the suggested revision in two columns, (a) preferred reading, (b) alternate reading. Each committee after some months' labor, completed its appointed task, reducing the vast bulk of reports to a manageable manuscript.

The report of these three committees was then submitted to another group of theologians to be reduced to a single rough draft of a revision. After two months' devotedly to the task, this group has completed the manuscript of a rough draft of a revision of the Baltimore Catechism now being printed but not published.

In submitting this draft of a revision to the Episcopal Committee on the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, it was pointed out that this text is intended only for the upper elementary grades—the question of grading for younger children being left for further study. Pertinent criticism of this draft, therefore, will confine itself to (a) the accuracy, (b) the clearness, and (c) the completeness of theological presentation.

Criticism in writing received by the National Center, Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, N.C.W.C., 1312 Massachusetts Avenue N. W., before October 1, 1936, will be presented for discussion by a group of theologians at the Catechetical Congress of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine to be held in New York October 3 to 6, under the patronage of His Eminence, Patrick Cardinal Hayes, Archbishop of New York.

Pilgrim Bearing Cross Visits Paris After 4 Year Journey

PARIS—Now present in Paris and engaged in visiting the places of pilgrimage in the Capital is the German, Johannes Ter Tauer Muller, the 61-year-old man who for four years has been traveling about with a heavy wooden cross on his shoulder.

Mr. Muller wears a long black robe and wooden sandals kept on by small bands. He has a long, gray beard and speaks only German.

The son of Bavarian cultivators of the vicinity of Rosenheim, he had become a tavern-keeper. In March, 1932, he set out for Rome with a cross weighing 24 pounds. On Holy Saturday, he reached the Eternal City and was received in audience by His Holiness Pope Pius XI, who gave him a paternal blessing. In the autumn of 1933 he reached the Holy Land, where mobs mocked him and threw stones at him. On October 19 he arrived at Jerusalem and 19 days later he crossed his eyes and became blind and planted it there. He then spent some months at Bethlehem. On August 7, 1934, Mr. Muller began his return to Bavaria, by way of Damascus and Beirut. He was detained him, but when he did reach Rosenheim, bearing a new cross, lighter than the other, he was hailed by the people.

After a few weeks, Mr. Muller decided to start on new pilgrimages. Bearing a third cross, he traversed France and Spain, and at Lisbon, Portugal, celebrated the Feast of Christ the King. Last October he deposited his third cross at Paray-le-Monial. He passed through Alsace and visited Lieux before coming to Paris.

Bishop Duffy Urges Militant Catholicity at Dinner Honoring National Leaders of Knights, Auxiliary, Residents of This City

A call for militant, aggressive Catholicity was sounded by their Supreme Chaplain as 300 Knights of St. John and members of the Ladies Auxiliary honored their two national leaders, both Rochesterians, at a dinner in Sibley's Tea Room, Thursday evening of last week.

The Supreme Chaplain, chosen for life at the Columbus Convention, is the Most Rev. John A. Duffy of Syracuse. The national leaders are General Frank H. Biel, K.H.S., supreme president of the knights, and Mrs. Teresa Ganster, supreme president of the Ladies Auxiliary.

From their own Bishop, the Most Rev. Archbishop Edward Mooney, the knights and ladies heard words of congratulations and good wishes given General Biel and Mrs. Ganster with encouragement for success in their respective offices.

From Youth Peril. In the situation America finds herself today, Bishop Duffy said, the Knights of St. John fill a greatly needed want. Not only the life of the Church but the life of the rising generation is endangered.

"Repeat for the children of today, the discipline and training of character given us 40 years ago and the Church will have nothing to fear," declared Bishop Duffy. "Unfortunately the discipline in the home and the moral guidance for our children has been changed and today we find the children exposed to the same influences which are turning many of the older generation from the Catholic Church."

Saying that duty does not end with external display, the national spiritual adviser, the knights said they should be aggressively militant in every field offered a citizen. They should defend the

'House of Magic' To Provide Thrills At Electric Show

At 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon the gates at Edgerton Park, Rochester, will swing open to admit the first visitors to Rochester's second Electrical Show. The show will continue thereafter through the following Saturday, October 10, from 2 to 11 p. m. daily with the exception of Sunday.

The Electrical Show, sponsored by the Rochester Electrical Association, will bring to Rochester the very latest developments in every branch of the electrical industry. Every one of the nation's leading electrical manufacturers will send extensive displays.

The General Electric 'House of Magic' will be one of the most sensational features of the Electrical Show which comes to Edgerton Park October 2 to 10. The floor space of Building 3 at the Park will be devoted to this mammoth display.

According to Frank Beauchamp, chairman of the feature committee for the show, the varied exhibits which make up the 'House of Magic' are mystifying electrical developments fresh from the research laboratories of the General Electric Company. Taken all in all, they will constitute a fascinating glimpse into the future.

Visitors to the 'House of Magic' will see, among other things, the 'Inductotherm' an electrical fevering machine. This peculiar apparatus has already caused widespread comment in the field of medicine.

The 'Stroboscope' is a moving demonstration of the speed of light which gives vivid impressions of speed which in reality may, or may not exist.

400 FRIENDS OF FR. BRICK GIVE SHRINE

'Little Flower' Memorial Honoring Priest To Be Dedicated Sunday

The shrine in memory of the late Rev. William Brick, C.S.S.R., a gift of more than 400 of his friends, will be dedicated with impressive ceremonies at St. Joseph's Church on Franklin Street, Sunday, Oct. 4th at 8 p. m.

With the sanction of the Rev. Frederick Nastvogel, C.S.S.R., Rector of St. Joseph's Church, the Little Flower Study Club of St. Joseph's Church soon after Father Brick's death took over the task of arranging for a suitable memorial in his honor.

The shrine is in perfect harmony with the Renaissance Architecture of the Church, and was designed by George F. Lorenz, Architect.

Forma Imposing Group. It is located in a niche in the south transept of the church near the altar of Our Lady of Perpetual Help. The panel is in a frame of ornamental plaster in a bar-relief and the imposing statuary group represents "The Little Flower." It reveals the Infant Saviour on the lap of His Blessed Mother, with St. Therese on the opposite side. From the folds of the shroud hanging on the cross, in the background a shower of roses stream downward. Over the arch is an inscription with the words "I shall let fall a shower of roses." Beneath the altar are three panels, the center panel having a wreath of roses, with the words "In memory of Rev. William Brick, C.S.S.R." The shrine is 14 feet high and 9 feet wide. The illumination consists of the most modern indirect tubular lighting arranged in back of flashed opal glass set in chrome plated frames.

The dedicating was executed by Aloys Schneider, noted church artist.

Donors will have their names placed within the shrine during the ceremonies conducted by the Redemptorist Fathers.

Scarcely Olden as Death. Father Brick was born July 28, 1855 in St. Louis, Mo., and attended St. Joseph's College, Buffalo. Following his novitiate in the Redemptorist order he was professed Aug. 2, 1877 and was ordained three years later. At the time of his death he was the second oldest member of the Redemptorist order in this country in point of years and length of service. Father Brick had been a member of the religious community for 54 years. He had served as novice master at the Redemptorist house at Annapolis, Md., and was vice-president of the Canadian province for some years. Prior to his coming to Rochester in 1927 he had earned a distinguished reputation as a house missionary. A deeply religious, quiet, and unassuming, Father Brick had many friends.
