Erect 1,000 Foot Cross Over Prague

Prague—The steel cross, approximately 1,000 feet high, which was temporarily erected in one of Prague's main streets on the occasion of the last year's All State Congress of Catholics, is being re-erected in the Praemonstratensian Monastery Garden in Strahov-Prague, situated on a hill overlooking Prague, where the Cross will stand towering high above the city as a permanent reminder of the impressive scenes of the Prague Congress.

MASS ON ISLAND

London—Mass has been said on the stone slab on which Magna Charta was signed. The stone slab rests on a table in the Charter room on Magna Charta Island, in the river Thames at Runnymede, near Windsor. The Mass was said by the Bishop of Clifton, the Most Rev. W. Lee, who was the guest of Sir Patrick and Lady Hannon. Before Mass, the Bishop blessed the house. This was the first time Mass has been said on the island since the Reformation.
