Hollanders Carry Bethlehem's Star

The Star of Bethlehem is the center of an interesting Christmas practice in Holland. In various towns, young men join together and carry a large illuminated star from house to house. It is symbolic of the star which lighted the Magi to the Holy Child. At each house they visit, and from the throats that follow the procession, the young men collect alms. Afterwards the funds are turned over to the burgomaster to be used in relief of the poor of the area.

Playing Santa Claus

Little Santa Claus, who was dressed in a red suit and a white beard, was the center of attraction at the Christmas party given at the school hall of Holy Rosary Church Tuesday evening.
