Holy Family, Rochester, Leads Way

Breaks Crusade Records; John Steger Tops Individuals

ter; St. Patrick's Owego; St. Aloysius, Auburn, and St. Mary's, Elmira.

Johnny and Betty will lead the fourteen Crusade leaders to the Catholic Press Association banquet at Rochester in May, where they will be presented with suitable merit awards in the presence of a distinguished gathering of Catholic journalists from all sections of the nation.

The net results of the Crusade compare most favorably with those of last year. The first Crusade was such an outstanding success that it set an exceptionally high standard for the second Crusade.

Edged out for one of the major awards last year, Holy Family came back this year to do twice as good and prove that, regardless of the high results obtained by any one school last year, many opportunities still remained to sign up additional subscriptions.

Winners Repeat

Several of last year's winners repeated their prize performances to give additional proof of this fact. In District No. 1, Sacred Heart Academy and Ss. Peter and Paul's were among last year's winner while this year marks the second successive top prize awards for St. Patrick's, Owego and St. Aloysius, Auburn.

The newcomers to the victory list include St. Agnes Institute, which displaced St. Andrew's Seminary; Holy Family, which succeeded St. John the Evangelist and St. Mary's of Elmira, which displaced St. Mary's of Auburn, last year's top school with its 4108 percentage.

Notable in this year's Crusade was the fact that every order turned in was accompanied by a cash remittance.

THE LEADER . . .

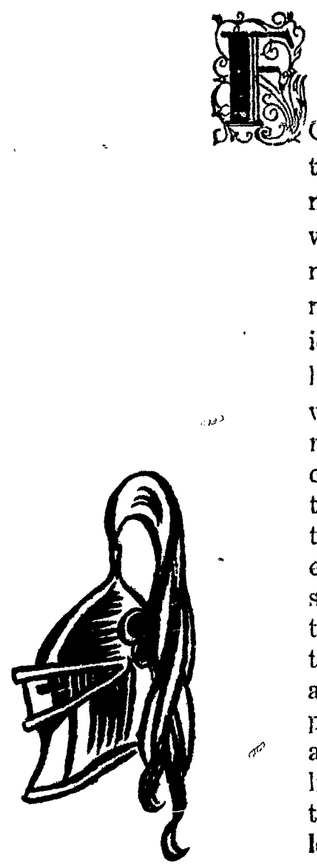
A SECOND VICTO[illegible]

THE PENALTY OF SUCCESS, it has been said, is that [illegible] the success. Yet the ability to repeat a success is the [illegible] leadership. And the success of the Second Annual Students' [illegible] Press Crusade establishes the leadership of your diocesan [illegible] beyond question . . . while adding to the still fresh laurels [illegible] schools of the Rochester Diocese in advancing the Catholic Press [illegible] worthwhile form of Catholic Action,—for Church, for Home, for [illegible]



FOR OUR READERS, new and old, the success of this great diocesan movement means much that is worthwhile for the future. A growing newspaper can render better service more varied service, more vital service,—not alone to the Catholic public but to the whole community as well. In that way, your diocesan newspaper becomes a force for accelerating the development of all things Catholic, and of all Catholic things. In this edition, and in every edition that follows, we want our subscribers both new and old to see tangible evidence of growth in editorial and news coverage that will add to their interest in this newspaper, and so make it more and more an essential part of their Catholic life and thought. Week by week, throughout the year, follow the leader!

FOR OUR ADVERTI[illegible] cess of this Crusade [illegible] confirms the leadership of the CATHOLIC COURIER as the [illegible] ential Newspaper of the Roch[illegible] Diocese. More and more business leaders will be led to the logical conclusion that the pages of this [illegible] newspaper are an ideal vantage [illegible] from which to present business mes[illegible] sages that will most directly and [illegible] pressively reach their Cath[illegible] patrons. The increasing number of regular readers of the CATHOLIC COURIER will welcome the broad[illegible] coverage of business and shopping news thus developed, and the com[illegible] munity services of their diocesan newspaper will accordingly be broad[illegible] ened. In confirming leadership, the CATHOLIC COURIER will [illegible] greater opportunity to function more effectively for the common good. Follow the leader!
