INDUSTRY that is varied in scope, business enterprises that offer a complete range of modern services, explain the thriving character of this city of nearly 40,000 people. Not only is AUBURN the trade center for an area which embraces communities such as Seneca Falls and Waterloo, Skaneateles, Weedsport, Moravia, and Port Byron, but it is also an active manufacturing center. Principal industries include diesel engines and locomotives, marine and power plants, rope, twine, carpets and rugs, agricultural implements, shoes, auto parts, trucks, forgings, surgical instruments, plastic specialties, dresses, hats and caps, and wood products. Banking, transportation and other facilities are proportionately large and active to serve efficiently the growing needs of this busy city.

ELECTRICITY and GAS

EVERY day Gas and Electricity work remarkable wonders in our lives. They outlive anything ever offered by the wizards of old. For these are wonders which we more or less expect—wonders which no longer leave us wide-eyed and spellbound.

Take the average home for example. Electricity provides light for seeing—heat for warming pad or toaster—cold for safe refrigeration—power for talking time, running the radio, mixing foods and for many other uses. Gas cools foods—heats water—keeps a room or the whole house warm as toast.

In the field of commerce and industry, Electricity works

Smaller miracle. From an office desk lamp up to the largest factory motor, Electricity performs a wide variety of different jobs calling for heat, heat and power. Gas, too, Gas plays the important part in the normal operation of any business, large or small.

What makes these two modern, versatile sources of energy even more remarkable is their low cost to use. The housewife can use them any way she wants, from 1 hour to 24 and get the greatest possible service for the money she spends. The business man will find it difficult to locate a job which Electricity or Gas can't do well and at up small an expense.
