

The Conditional Gift

No better financial risk exists in the U. S. A. than the Catholic Church.

For those who want safety and a fair interest, the Conditional Gift Plan for the Society for the Propagation of the Faith commands itself as a wise and charitable investment.

At death the principal is devoted to the greatest single task facing the Church—the conversion of the twelve hundred million pagans who do not know the true God.

Conditional Gifts are a means of escaping the debt which the gift of faith imposes on us.

Diocesan Office Guest Book

The Rev. Romig McCoy of the White Fathers from the Vicariate of Maranga, Northern Territory of the Gold Coast, West Africa, called recently at the Diocesan Office of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith and gave us some interesting information.

It seems that he and another White Father and Brother were the first white missionaries and white men to preach the Gospel to these black tribes. This was in November, 1929. From this virgin territory they have converted 25,000 natives. They also have five thousand African priests.

This astounding progress has been all the more noticeable, as they continue to make mass conversions. This the missionaries attribute to the Grace of God, to the confidence of the natives in the Catholic Missionaries, and to the medical care that is the equipment of each missionary.

Broadcast We included in this column a short time ago an appeal from the Rev. John Rottmann, S.S.J., Father Rottmann is laboring in a newly formed parish for Negro people in Tyler, Texas. His Sunday collection averages between 15 and 20 cents—not a very big sum to live on.

Already ONE generous person has responded to his appeal. Will YOU add your little mite? Anything is most acceptable, perhaps the price of one movie or even a pack of cigarettes. Send your contributions to the Diocesan Office and we will gladly forward them to Father Rottmann.

A Sunday on Saipan Island The missionary "Day of Rest" on Saipan Island, off the coast of the South China Sea, is described by Father Robert J. Calina, Marist, Missioner from Worcester, Mass.

"You may be interested in what this mission does on Sunday, the day of rest here, for what happened today: Morning prayers and meditation at daybreak; confessions until all were heard; Mass with sermon. After Mass, medals and catechisms were distributed; and Chinese newspapers, magazines, and foreign medicines.

"I always sleep in a bed of straw, followed by Little hours and Benediction. A glass of milk was my lunch, and then Divine Office kept me reading until three. Number One Roy came in to take over plans for our school for next week and of possible shops to be hired at Saan Chow Market.

"Five o'clock struck as I set out for the next village—a half-hour's walk. It consists of only twenty shops, but people come here from every part of the island, and for this reason we are trying to get mission work started in town. We looked at several available shops and made a note of them before starting home.

"A swim in the cold dark ocean made my blood tingle and my supper that much more to be desired. I sat down to it at seven-thirty and was fairly well advanced before a delegation came from the village of Sun Tai to discuss our plans.

"It was long over an hour before they left and after a visit to the Blessed Sacrament, I locked the church and house doors and went everybody else in bed, the lamp shining brightly, the wind howling vociferously, my pipe burning glowingly. I have the time and the quiet for this long chat with you.

One of Our Own On August 5th, the Rev. Felix White, M. of Geneva, N. Y., sailed from San Francisco for Korea. There he begins his life's work winning souls for Jesus Christ. Certainly the hearts and prayers of the people of his own diocese go out with Father White, as daily we breathe a prayer for his success and welfare, let us remember that a membership in the Society for the Propagation of the Faith incorporates each of us in the work of Father White and the hands of other missionaries in far flung lands.

YOU PICK THE NAME You ought to read our pamphlet on Gregorian Masses. People have found it very interesting and very instructive. It tells in a few lines of the old custom of offering a Mass every day for thirty days for one who is deceased. Write for a copy, it is free.

YOU PICK THE NAME If you went to a part of the United States where Catholics are very few and found a priest celebrating Mass in a wooden shack, you would understand why he has so few converts in these days. It is necessary to make at least a good impression. How can our priests in the Indian lands where Catholics are very few expect to make converts when the people are hearing Mass in small rooms without a roof?

You can help to remedy this situation by building a Chapel. Five hundred dollars will build a Chapel in the Near East. You can decide the name of the Chapel and the Holy Father will decide the site.

THE MISSIONARY AND THE CHILDREN In a few weeks school will be open and the little ones will be commencing their year's work. This is a concern for fathers and mothers. Think of the missionary who is trying to keep the small child so that he can take care of the children in his district. He knows that without a Catholic education these children will not be Catholics in the year to come.

Five dollars will help this missionary to take another child into his mission day school. Five dollars will take care of a child for six months. Five dollar bill at this time will mean a great deal to him—far more than it means to you.

YOUR WILL Many Catholics make a Will and leave nothing to the Church. They remember only their relatives and their friends. They forget Almighty God. Some little token of appreciation should be left to the Church by every Catholic who has even a little. Put into your Will the name of the Catholic Near East Welfare Association. Our missionaries will not forget you.

FORM A GROUP Two or three people forming a group can do a great deal for the missionaries without any individual making a sacrifice. It is possible to give to one Chapel the following: An Altar A Set of Vestments A Chalice A Missal A Sanctuary Lamp A Set of Altar Linens

All these can be given to one Chapel for $102. This gift would make it possible for a missionary to make his Chapel presentable and would also help some bishop to open a Chapel that is now closed because of lack of furnishings.

FOR YOU The Holy Father has arranged with the missionaries to offer fifteen thousand Masses every year for all our members. This means that all who are enrolled, the living and the deceased, share in these Masses every year.

3 New Centers Including School for Colored Children Opened

Having a total registration of 2,189 for a four-week period, city vacation schools conducted in Manchester were closed last week with religious dramatic presentations by the children.

In several of the schools parties and entertainments were furnished by Catholic women of the parishes. The figures on attendance which include children who attend the public schools during the regular school years who take advantage of the vacation schools were reported by the Rev. John M. Duffy, Director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine supervising the schools.

Catholic School Exalts Cathedral school led in attendance with 400. Religious vacation schools were again conducted in other centers throughout the city. St. Francis de Sales and St. Michael's, Geneva, St. Canandiana and St. Francis de Assisi, Auburn.

Three new schools inaugurated this year were: St. Stanislaus School, Hudson Ave., under direction of the Rev. Joseph Baberaki, St. Peter Claver Vacation School, 13 Rome St. for colored children, directed by the Rev. George Weinmann, and St. Francis of Assisi Vacation School, Auburn, under the direction of the Rev. Adolph Gabballi.

Colored Children Attracted The vacation school for colored children was conducted at the new St. Peter Claver Mission House recently purchased and remodelled by the Rev. William M. Molloy, pastor of the church. Many of the colored children attended the sessions this year. The school is in charge of the School Sisters of Notre Dame.

Directed by the Missionary Sisters of the Holy Trinity, the new St. Francis of Assisi Church in Auburn is the first to be established in that city.

Vacation schools were in charge of teaching sisters of the diocese, the Sisters of Notre Dame, the Sisters of St. Joseph, the Sisters of Mercy and the Sisters of the Holy Trinity.

Sisters Landed "Great credit is due the sisters" said the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine statement issued today. "For this work carried on after teaching in the parochial schools during the school year. The Sisters of St. Joseph, who were by girls from Nazareth Academy and Our Lady of Mercy High School who generously gave their time in helping with the recreation and preparing religious projects.

"Especially to be commended are the members of the Parent Teachers Association of Sacred Heart School and the Rochester Diocesan Council of Catholic Women for their responsibility for transportation of the sisters to Precious Blood School, School of the Annunciation and St. Peter Claver Mission House Transportation was in charge of Mrs. John P. Kelly, president of the P. T. A., and Mrs. Conita M. Yawman, president of the N. C. W. Figures Given
