COLONIAL COTTAGE

Judged by the standard of good planning and building economy, this small house is an excellent value. All of the rooms are arranged compactly, and the plan shows properly placed windows and doors for good light and ventilation. The centrally located fireplace and chimney is a practical and pleasing feature. A home of this type can be satisfactorily built anywhere, and makes a pleasing home for town or country living.

SELECTION OF LOT IMPORTANT PHASE OF BUILDING HOME

Selection of lot is one of the most important phases of building a home. It is not enough to select a lot in a desirable neighborhood. The lot must be of the right size, shape, and location. It must be well drained, and have a good view. It must be free from any encumbrances, and be in a quiet, well-kept neighborhood. The lot should be in a convenient location for shopping and business, and be near public transportation. The lot should be in a well-kept neighborhood, and be free from any encumbrances.
