IN ONE WE ARE

By ART KELLY. On January 16, WHAM's newly organized staff orchestra assumed its radio duties under the direction of WHAM's Musical Director Charles Siveron. The group will henceforth occupy itself providing programs for WHAM. The musicians will present not only regular musical programs but also incidental music for dramas and accompaniment for soloists.

Many of Rochester's most popular musicians have joined WHAM's ranks in fact reading through the personnel list one might think he was reading Who's Who in Rochester's Music World. Tom Grierson, Irene Godney, Bob Henning, Carl Anderson, and Bony Morgan are just a few of the well known artists who now hold WHAM contracts.

Lily Pons will begin her eighth season at the Metropolitan Opera House in the first performance in six years of Rossini's rollicking "Barber of Seville," to be broadcast in full directly from the stage of the Metropolitan tomorrow afternoon (Jan. 22) starting at 1:55 John Charles Thomas will have the role of the immortal barber, Figaro.

Another musical treat for music lovers tomorrow, the weekly ninety minute performance of the NBC Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Arturo Toscanini tomorrow night starting at 10:00 P. M. The program will feature tried and true masterworks by Chevalier Haydn, Brahms and Wagner. Spectacularly speaking the program will include the overture to Cherubini's opera, "The Love for Three Oranges" and the "Haydn's B Flat Symphony" as well as Brahms and Wagner's Prelude to "The Meistersinger."

Things aren't always what they seem, especially radio sound effects. In the "Romance of Old Indiana" heard in the Friday evening at 8:45 (Gene Lane) the sound effects man was confronted with the task of making a sound of water lapping against a boat. He chopped down a full grown elm and made it crash loudly. For the first effect he used real water all right but it wasn't lapping against a boat. Gene held a quart can nearly filled with water up near the mike, and pushed away to the other side of the studio for the can was too full. He didn't have much trouble with the chopping of an ordinary meat cleaver and a block of wood did handily. But the crash of the tree presented a problem. Undaunted Gene simply took about a dozen wood match boxes in one hand, a wad of cellophane in the other and crushed them furiously at the proper moment.

But again things aren't what they seem in another program several weeks earlier the script called for the sound of a cracking. Again match boxes again perfect success. Then there's the old story about the S. P. man who was baffled by the problem of attaining the effect of dirt being shoveled in to a bucket. He tried every thing except dirt being shoveled into a bucket. Finally reduced to desperation he tried to shove a tin of tinned beef of all things.

Tyrone Power recently received a letter earnestly begging two tickets for his broad cast. The writer said she had planned to go a week earlier but to her great disappointment had to meet her father. Instead the writer was Janet Avey, daughter of Norma Avey, the man who took the sensational news reels of the Panay bombing.

The new NBC-Blue dramatic serial "Those We Love" demanded a lot of work before it got on the air. On hundred and seventy actors and actresses were auditioned for roles in order that the new series might be brought to life with perfect authenticity.

NBC gets another exclusive broadcast on a big-time fight on February 23, NBC and WHAM will carry the Joe Louis-Nathan Mann bout which will be fought for the championship of the world. Those unsung and unheralded dance pianists—who have long contended that their talents remain hidden because dance bands don't offer enough opportunities for solo performances will have their chance in a new series of programs to be presented by the NBC-Red net starting tonight at 8:25. "Tudor Place" the series will be opened by Art Tatum, the blind negro genius of the jazz piano. General Hugh S. Johnson's radio commenting schedule will be reduced from four nights a week to two beginning Tuesday, January 25. From then on he will be heard only Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 10:00 to 10:15 P. M. over the same stations now carrying his series. It is said that pressure of his many activities, which include the writing of a daily newspaper column and wide-spread lecturing and speaking engagements have made it necessary for the General to lighten his broadcasting schedule. As before, WHAM will carry the General's addresses. There is no wealth but life, and no life outside God. A. J. Francis Stanton.

Fr. Coughlin Prescribes For Industry

DETROIT, (NC) Presenting A Permanent Cure for the Recession! Sunday in the second of a new series of radio broadcasts, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower, Royal Oak, proposed "a voluntary regulation of production or rationing of the industry as the means to the end of annual wages for mass production industrial workers."

"Our problem," said Father Coughlin, "is concerned with regulating production so that there will be sufficient for all with nothing wasted. It is a problem which concerns the industrialists. They must keep their factories operating at a profit for themselves. It concerns the laborers. They must profit from industry to which they have given their lives so that they can supply their families with the necessities and the conveniences which our nation is capable of producing even though they are obliged to work nine months a year."

When I propose the rationalization of industry and the regulation of production," Father Coughlin added, "I intend to pay a well-earned compliment to business management. This philosophy is not to be misconstrued in the sense that I advocate the intervention of government to dictate the policies and practices of industry to be executed under the jurisdiction of a military form of government. That would be dictatorship, that would be Fascism."

"I propose that with the principle well established that ownership of a factory does not permit the owner to use it as he pleases, I propose that the shoe manufacturers of America, for example, establish their own organization. Let them draw up just rules for competition. With the aid of available government statistics, let them ascertain the approximate quantity of shoes which America will consume in a given year. Let them place their factories on a schedule of a five-day week and an eight-hour day. Let it be their agreement to work unconditionally as a team abiding by the rules and regulations set down at their convention."

See At End of Road. "It is my conviction," the speaker said, "that unregulated production has come to the end of its road. Unregulated production under which factories opened for the annual profit and closed down for the annual profit lay-offs for the hourly workers. So too has unregulated currency which has permitted prices to fluctuate at the whim of those who defined money as a medium for profit and refused to accept it as a medium of exchange."

Father Coughlin said that militating against this solution there are several types of citizens. "Debilitating Thomases who cling to the outworn and broken-down theory of the hourly wage system. 'This they accept as the best method of remunerating labor as if this hourly pay system were founded upon some natural law' he added. 'Warning against regulated production is repeated money lent by either Fascism or Communism. Father Coughlin urged that they be 'accepted by us voluntarily through the agency of democratic cooperation.'"

Guild Lists Bishop Kearney For Church Unity Address

NEW YORK—Lined among prominent preachers is the Most Rev. James E. Kearney, D.D., Bishop of Rochester, who will take part in the annual Church Unity Octave now being held by the St. Paul Guild, a national organization here.

Bishop Kearney will give the concluding address in a series of addresses in the Shrine of St. Paul the Apostle on Tuesday evening, January 25. His topic will be "The Missionary Conquest of the World for Christ." The series of services opened on Tuesday. The Guild is interested in assisting financially formed Protestant clergymen and their families who by becoming Catholics have lost their means of earning a livelihood. The Church Unity Octave originated in this country with the Society of the Atonement, Gardiner, N. Y., when that community was Protestant Episcopal. After the society became Catholic in 1909 its members spread the devotion throughout the Church so that it is universally observed and richly indulged in. At the annual conference of the American hierarchy held in Washington in 1921 His Eminence Cardinal Dougherty presented the resolution providing that the Church Unity Octave be held throughout the diocese of the United States. This resolution was unanimously adopted. "While the St. Paul Guild is primarily interested in solving the problems of Protestant clergymen who enter the Church," said Father Fisher, spiritual director of the guild, "it is a convert-conscious society and realized with Hilare Bellou that mass conversions are near at hand in these United States. Its members want to do their part in fostering such conversions."

Inter-High Choir To Sing Vespers At St. Michael's

Next in the series of Vespers which are being sung by the Inter-High School Choir and a selected group of elementary school voices, will be held January 30, at St. Michael's Church at 3:30 p. m. An invitation is extended to the public to attend. Vespers, an ancient rite in the Church's Liturgy, is the even song of praise which the Church offers chiefly in thanksgiving for the day of salvation considered in the light of the basic idea of the drama of Redemption.

ASKS PROTEST OF YOUTH CONTROL ACT

(Continued from Page 1) of persons under 18 years of age. Over a number of years, and particularly at the last session of the Legislature, we have indicated our opposition to such amendments. The language of the proposed Child Labor amendment is ambiguous. It would permit unwarranted intrusions on state authority and federal invasions of personal freedom. The amendment would also suspend state laws and act for the federal control of youth.

"Federal laws, immediately affecting children and family life, have never been and cannot be an efficient substitute for state and local action in this field. An impartial review of all available information and data as concerns child labor and youth employment in and outside the State of New York, definitely shows that there is a decrease in youth employment and child labor in no field of legislation has such marked progress been achieved by the states as in child labor and compulsory school attendance.

"The remnants of any abuse in youth employment can be wiped out by federal legislation and cooperation as contemplated in such bills as the Numan-Moffat bill of 1937, Chapter 806. We hand you herewith copy of the statement of our Committee as made before the Assembly Judiciary Committee during the 1937 session of the Legislature, in which the present Bishop of Rochester and Syracuse, the Most Reverend James Edward Kearney and Most Reverend Walter A. Foery.

Very truly yours, Edmund F. Gibbons, Chairman. Word has been received here that Governor Lehman, a champion of the health, innocence, education, and recreation of all American children is no longer a champion of the so-called 'Child Labor Amendment.' 'The Governor,' says the Brooklyn Tablet editorially, 'is receiving the congratulations of the people for retaining his devotion to children and his dedication to their best interests. But also he is being felicitated on finding a better means for his objective.' Ratification of the amendment has taken place already in 28 of the necessary 36 states. Father Lambert urges that postcards, letters and religious cash be used in appealing to the assemblymen to vote no on the two bills. "What is the hardest thing in the world to do," he writes, "is to get a mosquito's eyelid with a pair of boxing gloves on."
