DONNELLY REPLIES TO RED CHARGES
Citing Catholic View on Communism

"Godless Communism to them, and by every instrument available, attempts to put into practical operation, merciless class warfare," while the Catholic answer to this doctrine is that "class is not hostile to class, but that by nature all are desiring to live in peace and concord."

Thus, the theme of the fourth of a series of radio talks on the Rochester Catholic Hour was established Sunday by former County Judge Philip H. Donnelly. Judge Donnelly said, "The Catholic Answer," was given over Station WHAM.

The next address in the discussion discussion club program series being sponsored by the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine will be "The Communist Answer," to be given by John F. Egan, a member of the faculty of Nazareth College. Egan is a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Catholic Action.

The Most Rev. Walter A. Porey, Bishop of Syracuse, a classmate of Father McGowan's, has said of him, "I consider Father McGowan one of the most learned of the Catholic economists of our country. There are few Catholic economists who have a better knowledge of the Holy Father's encyclicals."

Activities of the chief Catholic organizations in the United States, the living wage, the labor movement and legislation with particular reference to the recession, will highlight Father McGowan's talk. Miss Mary A. Buette is general chairman of the lecture, with Miss Lucy R. Sheridan chairman of arrangements and Mrs. George D. Bryant chairman of tickets.

Members of the ticket committee are: Mesdames Leo F. Simpson, Frank J. Moran, William E. Blackwood, C. Baneroff Carson, Frank J. Connor, Harry B. Crowley, John P. Callahan, George W. Gierman, Edward C. Hartman, Henry B. H. are Anthony J. Ryan, Louis A. Whalen, Charles W. Naper, Edward J. Reynolds, Bernard O'Reilly, Leo J. Frayer, Dale D. Murray, Harry E. McEwin, Lawrence T. Women's Club Sponsors Address Here On Social Question, April 10

A discussion of the present day labor and business problems of the United States as they pertain to Catholic social action will be presented by the Rev. R. A. McGowan, of the National Catholic Welfare Conference and widely known Catholic economist, Sunday evening, April 10, in the Columbus Civic Centre, under the auspices of the Catholic Women's Club.

Father McGowan, who will be a member for his address in December, 1936, in connection with the Regional Meeting of the Catholic Conference on Industrial Problems, was one of the founders of the two national organizations which have grown out of the work of the Social Action Department of the Catholic Conference on Industrial Problems and the Catholic Association for International Peace.

The Most Rev. Walter A. Porey, Bishop of Syracuse, a classmate of Father McGowan's, has said of him, "I consider Father McGowan one of the most learned of the Catholic economists of our country. There are few Catholic economists who have a better knowledge of the Holy Father's encyclicals."

CATHOLIC FILM SHOWING AROUSES INTEREST HERE

"Monastery," which is now playing at the Regent Theatre shows the two types of religious life of the Catholic Church, the active life typified by the Benedictine monks of the Great St. Bernard and photographed at that monastery in Switzerland and the contemplative life of the Trappist and photographed at a Trappist monastery in France.

"The Monks," a famous picture by Emil Verheeren was the inspiration to Robert Alexander, director for the thrilling picture "Monastery." The English translation was by the Rev. Thomas B. Peeney, S. J.

"Monastery" is regarded as one of the most remarkable films ever presented in theatres here. It opens the doors of the monasteries and shows the life and work of the monks for the first time. It is a thrilling and dramatic account of what has gone on behind closed doors for 1000 years.

Of the teaching of Communism with regard to private ownership, Judge Donnelly said, "It is one thing to have the right to own property; it is quite another to use it as one pleases. Ownership has a twofold aspect, individual and social, and by reason of the social aspect of property everyone is obliged so to use his property as to promote the common good."

He said the Communist philosophy is based upon a purely materialistic conception of things, in other words, everything is viewed solely from the standpoint of matter, that there is nothing in existence except purely material things and that man exists only to promote the economic good of the State.
