CHIEF OF CHAPLAINS SAYS ARMY NEEDS AID

Col. W. R. Arnold, chief of chaplains of the U. S. Army, in Rochester on a brief visit in guest of Francis R. Shorer, stated that there was a grave need for army chaplains and chapels at the army posts.

A graduate of St. Bernard's Seminary, class of 1908, Col. Arnold has been in army service for 25 years. Following his ordination he had a brief period of parish work in Indiana, after which he entered the Army. He has seen service in Mexico and the Philippines.

Stating that the shortage of chaplains was due to the lack of funds, rather than a lack of volunteers for the positions, Col. Arnold said that there was hope that the present Congress would appropriate sufficient funds for the purpose.
