IN ONE EARE

By ART KELLY

WHAM, through affiliation with the NBC-Blue network, shared glory in a recent announcement made by the Women's National Radio Committee. In announcing its annual awards for the best programs of the year, the committee gave highest honors to the Town meeting of the Air which was listed as the most outstanding adult educational program broadcast. The Blue network also received six other citations. The Singing Lady was awarded top honors as the best children's program. Other Blue network programs carried by WHAM receiving citations for meritorious character were the Philadelphia Symphony, Metropolitan Auditions, Metropolitan Opera, NBC Symphony under Toscanini and The March of Time.

The Canadian Grenadier Guards Band, a favorite fixture of the summer music season on WHAM, has returned for its fourth series of weekly concerts each Sunday afternoon at 8:30 E.S.T. The band under the direction of Captain J. J. Gagner is one of the outstanding military musical organizations in the world. It is made up of fifty-five musicians, and includes prominent Canadian composers, conductors and soloists.

It is not unusual to hear an entire program devoted to the compositions of its members. Last month the band celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of its establishment.

Erection of a new antenna for WHAM's ultra-high frequency transmitter W2XAI has put the "ape" station definitely on the International map. Word received by John Long, Technical Supervisor, indicates that the programs of W2XAI are now reaching European shores with a definite gain in signal strength.

W2XAI is located in WHAM's transmitter building at Victor N. Y. The one hundred watt station operates on 310 megacycles and carries the programs of WHAM Research carried on WHAM engineers in fields of high-frequency transmission, electron and radiation in bringing to light many interesting discoveries of value in the development of the so-called "apex" frequencies.

Charlie McCarthy, the cut-up of radio, was cut down by a car-penter saw recently. The operation was performed in the hope that Charlie would emerge from the carpenter's shop with a complete and unimpaired leg. The famous dummy has been teaming around with Edward E. Regan for the past fourteen years.

Did you know that Jack Benny used to be a plumber's apprentice? Andy Devine attended three colleges. Fans of Bob Burns to date have sent the NBC comedian's new daughter, Barbara Ann, 130 baby cups, 200 pairs of knitted shoes, 170 pairs of baby socks and some 300 assorted items of infant apparel.

WHAM was a pioneer in the field of high-fidelity transmission.

Two more full hours of symphonic music each week will be presented over WHAM during coming months by celebrated orchestras. The Boston "Pop" Concerts and the Toronto Promenade Symphony Orchestra.

The "Pop" Concerts will be heard each Wednesday from 8:30 to 9:30 P. M. E. S. T. The Toronto Promenade Symphony will broadcast its concerts each Thursday from 8:00 to 9:00 P. M. E. S. T.

Have you heard WHAM's new sportscaster? In case you haven't, the new commentator is Harry McTigue. Baseball fans, after listening to Harry do the ball games over WHAM, were pleasantly surprised to hear "The Colonel" doing a full fifteen minute period each evening at 6:45.

CATHOLIC SCIENCE FORUM DISCUSSES 'What Is Life'—Sees Varying Viewpoints

"What is Life" was discussed by members of the High School Division of the Catholic Forum of Science meeting under the chairmanship of Rev. John M. Duffy, Saturday, May 7, at Our Lady of Mercy High School.

The viewpoint of the chemist was presented by John A. Temmerman, city chemist, that of the biologist by Sister M. Adelaide, teacher of biology at Our Lady of Mercy High School; and the philosopher's views were outlined by the Rev. Walter Kohl, Ph.D., of St. Andrew's Seminary.

The missing link between chemistry and biology or the borderline between living and non-living things was suggested by Mr. Temmerman's study of the protein over, at merely a catalyst in living cells. The experiments of Dr. Crile in which other extracts of brain substances, under favorable conditions, seemed to show many of the characteristics of life, such as respiration, digestion and secretion, and those of Dr. Stanley on tobacco mosaic in which one microgram of a crystalline protein when injected into the tobacco leaf, will cause the disease, brings up again for consideration the old theory of spontaneous generation.

Living things, according to Mr. Temmerman, are organized colloidal systems and a living cell probably becomes inanimate when the colloidal system is destroyed. A differentiating characteristic of living forms is that they not only accumulate atoms in growth, as non-living ones do, but that they change the arrangement of these atoms to form an entirely different substance, living protoplasm.

Sister Adelaide showed that among life's most characteristic manifestations are cellular organization and irritability. The former, she said, "Living substances can be said to have definite organization of cells, and this cellular organization is so characteristic of living things that it is one of the most fundamental concepts of biology and one of the most striking distinctions between living and non-living."

Irritability is regarded as another fundamental characteristic of living matter, she continued, since it enables the organism to adjust itself continually to its environment.

Dr. Kohl said the question belonged not to the scientist but to the philosopher. The scholastic philosopher himself, a scientist armed with the known data and arrived at the conclusion, "Life is the principle by which a thing is able to move itself or to operate irrationally. This principle is the form that which makes a thing what it is. For example, form makes a dog a dog, an apple tree an apple tree. Form in plants is the vegetative soul, in animals, the sensitive soul, and in man, the immortal soul. Living things to the philosopher are a composite of prime matter and its vital principle.

In contrast with this, Sister Adelaide's paper stated, "Our present question is a scientific one and acceptance of a philosophical or religious interpretation of the beginning of life does not relieve us from the responsibility of tackling the scientific problem."

Priests and Doctors Allied, Bishop Says

Things that priests and doctors have in common were emphasized at a dinner in honor of His Excellency, Bishop Kearney given by members of the Staff of St. Mary's Hospital last Thursday evening at Oak Hill Country Club.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. William M. Hart, V.G. and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William F. Bergin, chancellor of the diocese were present.

Bishop Kearney was presented to the staff by Dr. Leo F. Simpson.

In his response to the greetings of the Doctors, Bishop Kearney recalled that in his early experience as a priest, having been in contact with one of the largest hospitals in New York, he had occasion to see how closely allied are the priests in their work and the doctors following their profession.

The doctors know, he said, that the assistance given the soul of the patient can be of great benefit also in assisting the ministrations they give to the body.

"I have had every opportunity to learn of the deep devotion that medical men have to the principles of their profession," the Bishop said. He declared that he has always counted on them for co-operation with him in his duties.

He expressed his gratitude to the staff of St. Mary's for the honor shown him.

"I hope that our paths will cross frequently in the years to come," the Bishop stated, "and that I will learn to know better and to appreciate more fully the fine characteristics that mark this splendid body of medical men."

WARNS NAME MEN To Fight 'Iams' In Auburn Talk

AUBURN—Cut out the "devil of paganism, Nazism, Communism and Socialism."

This was the stirring plea made to 370 members of St. Mary's Holy Name Society by James V. Hayes of New York, nationally known lay leader at the annual Communion Breakfast held last Sunday at Rossville-on-Oswego.

Nationally prominent in Catholic Action, Mr. Hayes who has been president of the Catholic Evidence Guild of New York and chairman of the National Catholic Evidence Conference, touched upon the various subversive aims and roundly denounced them.

Violence of incidents of religious persecution in Germany, Mr. Hayes said.

"The Catholic Church is being persecuted in Germany and Austria for reasons at first unknown, but today these reasons are known. It was because the Church stood in the way of the advance of Hitler and his ministers and fought against the wiping out of codes of morality."

He said that Mussolini has proven smaller things similar by nations that without a faith, a population could not survive and hence has not molested the Church.

Touching on conditions and the government setups in Spain, France and Russia, comparing their democracies with the United States, he highly lauded the democracy of this country which he said provides for free worship, free speech and assembly.

The men, many accompanied by their sons, received Holy Communion in a body at St. Mary's Church at the 7:30 o'clock Mass.

President Joseph J. Hickey presided. After singing "America," invocation was pronounced by the Rev. William L. Tobin, assistant pastor. Dr. Louis F. O'Neill served as toastmaster. In addition to the principal address there were remarks by Rev. Dr. William M. Cowan, pastor of St. Mary's.
