

Young Wisdom

'ALONG THE WAY' By Rev. Daniel A. Loh, S.J.

Like the wise answer of these modern youngsters. For instance a young father was talking with his ten year old son Father-like, he was looking far, far ahead.

A slight error. My good friend, Frank Dooling, vaunts for this story. Three young women had been going to the movies quite regularly.

The next time they went to the movies, there were only two of them. The third member had dropped out.

What's the matter with her? she wondered. "Well," said her friend, "she's a Catholic, and she got mad at the movie."

A pitcher's battle. I stood watching the little sixth graders, all of them of the feminine persuasion, playing baseball.

Between innings the captain called to me. "Play St. Mary's last week," she said, and then triumphantly, "and beat 'em."

Correct reporting. A young lady secretary in our office had one of those experiences with the delivery of messages which makes us all distrust the good sense of our fellow men.

Thank God! he cried. Then you are not dead. She protested her decided allegiance and delivered the correct news. Then he groaned in the phone.

Why," protested the brother. "That can't be I only have one sister."

"Yes," replied the soldier, "but the message only said that one sister was dead."

Five Years Ago

With 2,000 Catholic women in attendance, the national convention of the Ladies Catholic Benevolent Association was held in Rochester.

Mrs. Cora McFarlin was re-elected to the Supreme Board of the L.C.B.A. as national meeting closed here.

Miss Stella Maris opened its eighth season at Conesus Lake with 80 boys in encampment.

Softball team of Auburn State prison established a new record in the belief that the team managed by the Rev. William F. Bergin, Catholic chaplain, had 22 innings to a 3 to 3 tie with Gifford and Goodman Streets mercantile team of Rochester.

The football team used to blow out the boys who played on the Chicago team.

LOOK BEHIND YOU!

An Epidemic Of Prejudice

(From "Interfaith Review," July, 1938)

America appears to be in the early stages of a virtual epidemic of prejudice. A number of recent events indicate that the three most common types of hate are on the increase.

The virulent speech of Senator Bilbo denying that the Negro was created by God; the anti-Semitic utterances heard with increasing frequency in recent months; the violence done to the share-croppers organizing to secure social justice; the vicious assaults and slanders of the Catholic Church by the self-styled "Judge" Rutherford in Seattle.

"Judge" Rutherford in Seattle are all manifestations of this dangerous epidemic. The revival of the Ku Klux Klan, the tradition of lynching with impunity the surreptitious organizing of Silver Shirts and the subversive activities of the Nazi Bund are grave concerns to all who are aware of the appalling significance of this dread evil.

The Interfaith Review is convinced that Catholics throughout the country could render a great service in God and country if in addition to their religious freedom (Catholicism and religious freedom) they would as frequently and as vehemently condemn all other forms of prejudice, such as the barriers, discriminations and denials of opportunity confronting the Negro in America.

"All my brother that his sister called to say that his aunt has died. Do you get that?"

He didn't see her. He came back with pencil and paper. She gave the message again slowly and he took it down. At least she thought, he'll deliver it correctly after all that time.

Thank God! he cried. Then you are not dead. She protested her decided allegiance and delivered the correct news. Then he groaned in the phone.

Why," protested the brother. "That can't be I only have one sister."

"Yes," replied the soldier, "but the message only said that one sister was dead."

Feast Days

- Sunday, July 17—ST. ALEXANDER. Monday, July 18—ST. CAMELUS OF LELLIS. Tuesday, July 19—ST. VINCENT DE PAUL. Wednesday, July 20—ST. MARGARET, VIRGIN AND MARTYR. Thursday, July 21—ST. VICTOR, MARTYR. Friday, July 22—ST. MARY MAGDALEN. Saturday, July 23—ST. APOLLINARIUS, BISHOP AND MARTYR.

Question Box

(Send your questions to the Question Box Editor, Catholic Courier, 111 E. Main St., Rochester, N. Y. Write only on one side of paper and typewrite questions if possible.)

Q.—Outside the Roman Catholic Church are there other religions known as "Catholic"? The enclosed article, I know, there must be an explanation as to how our religion's name is derived, yet I am at a loss to explain it.

A.—The clipping speaks of the "Catholic Church." The enclosed article, I know, there must be an explanation as to how our religion's name is derived, yet I am at a loss to explain it.

A.—There are other sects which use the name "Catholic." Such Churches have either denied the authority of the Pope and asserted their independence or have kept all the same rites as the Catholic Church (such as the Old Catholics in Germany and the Polish National Catholic Church in America) or are Protestant and follow Protestantism (such as the Episcopal Church).

A.—The strength of me and the purity of blood must be protected and fostered by every means possible. However, since this end is good and permissible.

A.—The chief source and origin of all human, spiritual and moral qualities is the blood which holds the characteristics of the race.

A.—The origin and highest standard of every system of justice is the racial instinct.

A.—The individual lives only through and for the State. Whatever rights he may exercise are merely conceded to him by the State.

A.—The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

A.—The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

A.—The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

A.—The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

A.—The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

A.—The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

Heroes of Charity

'LIBRARY SIGNPOST'

Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday bring us a bright galaxy of the Church's calendar. There are the feast days of St. Vincent de Paul, St. Vincent de Paul, and St. Jerome Amilliani.

St. Vincent is rightly held to be the father of the Red Cross. Pope Pius XI has named him Patron of all nurses and nursing orders, as well as of the dying.

St. Vincent de Paul is the founder of the Vincentian Fathers and of the Sisters of Charity, the foundations for whose excellent tradition of charity were deeply laid by the heroic charities of their holy founder.

We ought to pray to these remarkable saints, during this triumph that God may raise up for our times the same heroic charity which urged them, so that holy men of their strong calibre may reclaim the hostile poor for Christ.

Suggested Readings: St. Vincent de Paul—Livedon. Great Penitents—Blunt (chapter on St. Vincent). What Are Saints? Martindale (chapters on St. Vincent and St. Vincent de Paul).

As the following item was not given the prominence it deserved, when first issued, I give it here in its full text, so as to acquaint our readers with what I take to be a very important Papal document in progress from the Sacred Congregation of Seminaries and Universities, and is submitted to the Rectors of Universities and Seminaries throughout the world.

The letter is addressed to Cardinal Baudry, Rector of the Paris Faculty. I quote it from the London Tablet.

"Last year, on the eve of Our Lord's Nativity, the reigning Pontiff, in his address to the cardinals and prelates of the Roman Curia, spoke with address about the persecution which to everyone's knowledge afflicts the Catholic Church in Germany.

"The human races are, in their nature and unalterable condition, as widely differing from each other as the highest is as far removed from the lowest as it is from the most highly developed animal.

"The strength of me and the purity of blood must be protected and fostered by every means possible. However, since this end is good and permissible.

"The chief source and origin of all human, spiritual and moral qualities is the blood which holds the characteristics of the race.

"The origin and highest standard of every system of justice is the racial instinct.

"The individual lives only through and for the State. Whatever rights he may exercise are merely conceded to him by the State.

"The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

"The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

"The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

"The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

"The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

"The detestable propositions others may, without difficulty, be added. The Holy Father, Prefect of our Sacred Congregation is the number of the instructions you laid down in this letter.

Apostrophe To Liberty Sursum Corda

By REV. JAMES M. GILLIS, C.S.P., Editor, The Catholic World

There used to be current among our soldiers returning from Europe at the close of the World War, a jocular salutation to the Statue of Liberty. It ran something like this: "O Liberty, I greet Thee. I look upon Thee with capture. I gaze fondly upon Thy beautiful face. As I scrutinize Thy countenance, so do Thou study mine. Gaze upon me intently and remember me, for you shall never see my face again unless you turn around."

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

There is a matter of actual fact. I heard that mock-heroic apostrophe when I was returning in an immigrant ship from war-ridden Europe in 1914, before our boys had gone over.

and laughter. By contrast with Austria, Hungary seemed like the land of promise.

There were no Germans at the Congress and no Austrians, though scores of thousands had been expected. It was ominous.

On every side we heard questions and doubts about England's ability to hold her share of interest in the Suez Canal and so to protect the life-line of her Empire.

Our cavalcade of automobiles, as we moved up and down across the Holy Land, was preceded and followed by armored cars, and all the roads were literally policed with armed men.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Metaphorically if not literally people walked on tip-toe and spoke in whispers. We commenced to ask questions but received shrugs and significant glances in place of answers.

Credit Unions and Banks

Diocesan Recordings

Contracts in news of the week peace and harmony in Ireland, riot and bloodshed in the Holy Land.

Catholic lay persons who do not believe that an organization like the Knights of Columbus for instance should take a stand in public matter such as voicing opposition to the presentation of anti-Semitic propaganda under the guise of a religious or patriotic entertainment without such endorsement being so labeled are accorded the sympathy quota of this department, they are urged to use the out-moded arguments of such action.

One encouraging fact has come from the issue raised over the showing of the motion picture containing foreign political propaganda in favor of one side in the unfortunate conflict in Spain that is the number of capable letter writers who were able to give the Catholic viewpoint in the issue to the daily press. The letters we read did not contain any venom against those with whom they disagreed, but presented their cases in a calm, but forceful and convincing manner.

One encouraging fact has come from the issue raised over the showing of the motion picture containing foreign political propaganda in favor of one side in the unfortunate conflict in Spain that is the number of capable letter writers who were able to give the Catholic viewpoint in the issue to the daily press.

One encouraging fact has come from the issue raised over the showing of the motion picture containing foreign political propaganda in favor of one side in the unfortunate conflict in Spain that is the number of capable letter writers who were able to give the Catholic viewpoint in the issue to the daily press.

One encouraging fact has come from the issue raised over the showing of the motion picture containing foreign political propaganda in favor of one side in the unfortunate conflict in Spain that is the number of capable letter writers who were able to give the Catholic viewpoint in the issue to the daily press.

One encouraging fact has come from the issue raised over the showing of the motion picture containing foreign political propaganda in favor of one side in the unfortunate conflict in Spain that is the number of capable letter writers who were able to give the Catholic viewpoint in the issue to the daily press.

One encouraging fact has come from the issue raised over the showing of the motion picture containing foreign political propaganda in favor of one side in the unfortunate conflict in Spain that is the number of capable letter writers who were able to give the Catholic viewpoint in the issue to the daily press.

One encouraging fact has come from the issue raised over the showing of the motion picture containing foreign political propaganda in favor of one side in the unfortunate conflict in Spain that is the number of capable letter writers who were able to give the Catholic viewpoint in the issue to the daily press.