WASHINGTON—(NC)—A great number of the hierarchy are expected to attend the eighteenth annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Women, to be held at Biloxi, Miss., October 21 to 24, it was announced at the N. C. W. headquarters here today.

Among those who have announced to date that they will attend the Biloxi convention are: The Most Rev. Joseph F. Rummel, Archbishop of New Orleans and Episcopal Chairman of the Department of Lay Organization; National Catholic Welfare Conference; The Most Rev. Emmet M. Walsh, Bishop of Charleston and Assistant Episcopal Chairman of the Department of Lay Organization; The Most Rev. Edward D. Howard, Archbishop of Portland; The Most Rev. Edwin V. O'Hara, Bishop of Great Falls; The Most Rev. Gerald F. O'Hara, Bishop of Savannah-Atlanta; The Most Rev. James A. Griffin, Bishop of Springfield in Illinois; The Most Rev. Thomas J. Hooton, Bishop of Mobile; The Most Rev. Louis B. Kaiser, Bishop of Lincoln; The Most Rev. Henry P. Rohlfman, Bishop of Davenport; The Most Rev. John F. Noll, Bishop of Fort Wayne; The Most Rev. Christopher E. Byrne, Bishop of Cleveland, and the Most Rev. William L. Adams, Bishop of Nashville; The Most Rev. Richard O. Gerow, Bishop of Natchez, will be hosts to the convention.

TALK ON EVIL LITERATURE Following a meeting of the N. C. W. Board of Directors on October 20 and 21, there will be a conference of the Directors, national committee chairmen, and the presidents and presidents of the diocesan and affiliated national organizations on Saturday, October 22, a tentative program made public here today revealed.

Bishop Walsh will speak on "The Place of the National Council of Catholic Women in the National Catholic Welfare Conference" at the morning session of this conference, and Bishop Noll will speak at the afternoon session, when "Publicity and Salacious Literature" will be the topic. There will be an informal reception that evening with a program depicting "Woman in Catholicism."

The convention proper will open Sunday morning, October 23, with the National Council of Catholic Women in the Church of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, of which Bishop Gerow will be the celebrant. Bishop Byrne will officiate at Benediction that afternoon. Governor Hugh White of Mississippi will extend the civic welcome to the delegates at a meeting Sunday evening.

Archbishop Rummel will address the opening business session of the convention, Monday morning, October 24, and will speak on the work of the Committee for Catholic Refugees from Germany that afternoon. Miss Katherine E. Williams of Milwaukee, President of the N. C. W., will preside at both those sessions. Social Security will be the topic of the Monday evening session, while education, art and music will be discussed at the Tuesday evening meeting.

A session will be devoted to the National Catholic School of Social Service, which the N. C. W. sponsors, Tuesday morning. Youth will be a topic that afternoon. Both youth and Service School topics will be discussed at a luncheon that day.

Parent-teacher work and parent education will be considered at a session Tuesday afternoon, to be followed by a meeting on the extension of religious education. The presidents of affiliated national organizations will be honored at a luncheon on Wednesday. Sessions will be held this afternoon there will be discussions of international relations, libraries and literature, study club, and other topics.

Bishop Adrian will address the Wednesday afternoon general session, which is to be followed by a meeting on industrial problems. The convention will be brought to a close with a banquet Wednesday evening.

READIUM POISON VICTIM DIES A HAPPY DEATH CHICAGO—(NC)—Mrs. Catherine Donohue died, the victim of radium poisoning, last week in Ottawa, Ill.

About a month ago Mrs. Donohue appealed for prayers for her speedy recovery or grace of a happy death from those attending the Novena devotions at Our Lady of Sorrows Church, here. Her letters addressed to the Very Rev. Fr. James Keane, O.S.M., director of the Novena to Our Sorrows Mother said "But if that recovery is not God's will, perhaps your prayers will obtain for me the blessing of a happy death." From all over the nation came assurance of prayers for Mrs. Donohue. The petitions were answered, for through her death was a lingering one and painful it was marked by a spiritual peace and was in the true sense of the word "a happy one."

The plight of Mrs. Donohue and other women in Ottawa suffering from radium poisoning was brought to the attention of the Illinois Industrial Commission recently by a Chicago newspaper. While employed to paint watch dials they contracted the radium poisoning.

Among those who participated in the week's program of the Second Annual Institute on Industry, held at the National Catholic Institute of Social Service in June was Miss Mary Anderson, director of the Women's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor; Miss Elizabeth Christman, executive secretary of the National Women's Trade Union League; Miss Gwen Gosh, secretary of the Minimum Wage Board, District of Columbia; and Miss Rosamund Santora, organizer for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

What did the Institute accomplish? It would be difficult to find any one of the young women very articulate as to what specific things they learned. The question was put to them: Living in community was a new experience to many of them, and they profited by it. New friendships were formed, and new horizons opened to them. They all agreed that the Institute was a most helpful one in their industry, they must keep close to its problems; that life can be enriched by the setting up and abiding by high ethical standards.

There was one person noticed as a member of the Institute who was really teacher and counselor and spiritual adviser—the Rev. Francis Burns of St. Bernard's Seminary, Rochester, N. Y. Father Burns attended the first Institute last summer.

The National Council of Catholic Women, encouraged by the success of this second venture, is already planning plans for a continuation of the Institute another year—L. E. NA. E. DRESBETTE.

The operetta given by the children of the Charles House set to music and enjoyed by all was most enjoyable and reflected great credit on all who had helped in the training of the children.

Father Joseph Vogt will be most grateful for any financial assistance for his Youth projects.

Large Catholic gatherings always offer opportunities for the Catholic leader to receive inspiration and information on Catholic work that are invaluable and should not be overlooked among these the following are of special interest to many of our members: August 13—Central Venetian and National Catholic Women's Union, Bethlehem, Pa. August 22-23—International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, 12th Biennial Convention, Cleveland, Ohio.

The Convention folder is at hand for the NCCW Convention at Biloxi, Miss., in October. It contains information on hotels, transportation, and the business sessions of the convention. Get a copy at our office, 535 Columbus Civic Center.

In response to a number of inquiries we regret that we have been unable to make satisfactory arrangements for a pilgrimage to Asheville this year.

BEWARE FROM JEALOUSY "In order to prevent the development of jealousy in the child, every effort should be made to keep down the growth of selfishness, a trait more or less common to all children. The child should be taught to share his toys, his candy and the like, with other children. He should be taught habits of unselfishness and the joy of making others happy. If he learns to do this, with the family directly he will find little difficulty in being so when he comes into contact with the great outside world." Father and Child (N.C.W.C., Washington, D.C.)

State's License Pay Colors Honor Catholic School

BATON ROUGE, LA.—In 1933, for the first time, the colors of the Louisiana automobile license plates will honor a high school.

By LOUISE PRICE HELL, Author of "Jane Louise's Cook Book," "Kitchen Fun," etc. One lovely Summer day Mother Hubbard was going to a party. "What shall we have for dinner tonight," she puzzled. "There is a little cheese and some."

"Never mind trying to think what there is," Mother's interest in Helen. "I know a delicious salad that I can make. May I try it?" "Of course you may," agreed Mother Hubbard willingly. "It is always fun to do things to eat which I have not made myself. They always taste better, especially when one of my little girls makes them. If you need anything for the salad, Helen, Hetty may get it for you at the grocery."

Hubbard went upstairs to get dressed for the party. Helen busied herself getting everything ready for the salad. Then she set the ingredients in the refrigerator to chill until dinner time. Mixing with the salad dressing would take but a minute. The entire Hubbard family liked the salad so well that there was none of it in Mother Hubbard's cupboard that night. This is the recipe that Helen used.

BERNISE SALAD Can be served 2 plantanos. One-half cup chopped nuts. One-quarter lb. American cheese. Drain the nuts (Helen saved the liquid) and Mother Hubbard used it for soup). Chop plantanos and nuts, or cut them very fine with kitchen scissors. Cut cheese into small cubes, serving one mix with plantanos and nuts, the added mayonnaise to make the salad moist. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves. Helen put a strip of plantanos across the top of each salad to look pretty. Decorations like this are called garnishes and help to make food look attractive.
