Sodaltalk

Rochester Parish Sodalities Union Activities

By Margaret Worthington

Solemn Installation of new officers of St. Patrick's Sodality will take place in the Church Friday evening, October 7, in conjunction with the October devotions. Friends of the Sodalists are cordially invited to attend.

Daily recitation of the Rosary with particular effort to meditate on the mysteries is recommended for every Sodalist during October. Don't disappoint Our Lady, Sodalists; she expects this of us.

Ask Delegate Penny Brennan whose was the streamlined contribution to the Union Poster Exhibit at the S.S.C.A. in Washington. Says Penny: "Step this way, folks, see Rochester's poster. No crowding, please. Don't push. But they did and the compliments flew in, be gratefully received and relayed to Artist Alice Schauseil. Many "thank yous", Alice. We were "right proud".

Father Alphonsus Crimmens, Spiritual Director of St. Patrick's Sodality, was guest speaker at St. Bridget's Sodality's September meeting. While we are on the subject, Sodality Speakers Bureau is open for business. Mary Helen Hayes will be pleased to furnish Sodalists with a speaker for any occasion—within limits, of course. Her crew is at your service.

Trouble with committees? No pep? No action? It's not sulphur and 'lasses, but the October 9 Rally you're needing. Get your problems presentable, Prefects, and we'll "fire" them at Miss Dorothy Willmann at her 3 o'clock session for parish leaders in the Ball Room. Read this an be prepared, Dorothy!

Colored movies of St. Monica's congregation leaving Mass will be shown to the Sodalists of St. Monica's at their October meeting.

Next week, Sodaltalk would like to hear from the following Sodalities: Holy Cross, Corpus Christi, Sacred Heart and St. Boniface. We're saving space for you.

We borrow these words of Father Lord's from Sodality Union News: "The modern world needs more and more the Sodality. Young men by purity, faith and loyalty to Mary, and young women by taking Mac as their model, may easily become an inspiration which will save the world!"

Gifford, chairman.

Tickets Available For Guild Members Oct. 5

The Auditorium box office will open Wednesday, October 5, for the exchange of membership stubs for reserved seat tickets to the three performances of "The Late Christopher Bean," starring Helen Menken on Friday and Saturday, October 14 and 15.

Under the terms of sponsor membership in the Blackfriars' Guild, those holding memberships can obtain seats for themselves and as many additional reserved seat tickets as they desire beginning next Wednesday.

The box office sale for the public opens on Monday, October 10. Reserved seat tickets, priced at $1.50 each, will be held for sponsor members until Thursday evening, October 14. After that date, members can obtain $1.50 seats if any are available. If not they will be given seats in the next lower price bracket.

Stubs can be mailed to The Auditorium for ticket exchanges beginning next Wednesday providing a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed for the return of the tickets. General mail orders also will be received beginning next Wednesday although none will be sent out until Monday, October 10.

The cast which will support Miss Menken in the comedy hit is going through nightly rehearsals under the supervision of Director Joseph Weis. Rehearsals are being held at Blackfriar headquarters at Clifford Avenue and North Street.

Included in the cast are John W O'Connor, Mae W. Welder, John Hannan, Marion Odenbach, Janet Ferguson, Emmet O'Neill, David Van Winkle and Fred Englert.

Miss Menken will arrive in Rochester on Wednesday, October 12, to conclude rehearsals with the group

Pastor Makes Reply To Attorney

last Friday afternoon as the only cause of all the misery, poverty and sin in this and every other community. But if I know anything about Christian teaching, there are seven capital sins, namely, 'Pride, covetousness, lust, anger, gluttony, envy and sloth.' Gluttony is the fifth in this category and not the first and only one. If I know my Bible correctly, God gave us Ten Commandments and not one only.

Among other things Mr. Clohessy is reported to have said: 'I have been criticised in the past for my religion.' He apparently did not think it opportune to mention just what his rligion is. A little later he also said: 'I love criticisms and abuse because it brings out the truth.' Well, I am not surprised that he has been criticised in the past, if he made such false and incriminating statements about the members of the church to which he is supposed to belong, as this: 'Catholics are naturally wet and Democrats are naturally wet.' 'Parishioners are heavy drinkers and the priests of the county must do something about it.'

What Mr. Clohessy said may be true about some nominal Catholics and those with whom he associates, but it is most emphatically false as regards real and sincere Catholics as a whole. But if this appeal was made sincerely against the baneful results of the abuse of liquor in this county, why drag in the political party and condemn the Democrats cap-a-pie? Was it perhaps his own limited association in the Democratic party a few years ago that prompted this insane castigation of his former party members?

The clergy is blind to what is going on. If they don't, do something about it pretty soon, we will have empty churches and filled saloons, continued Mr. Clohessy. As a member of the clergy of this community I personally resent, as every clergyman in the community does, the despicable insinuation contained in that last statement.

We may not know the personal duplicity and hypocrisy of each individual member of our congregations, but we do know what is going on morally and immorally in our respective parishes. The fact that we do not stand up on the street corner and prate about it does not prove that we are ignorant of it. Some of us have common sense enough to know and are honest enough to admit that you cannot legislate morality. The fiasco of Prohibition Times legislation should have taught us that. If a man persists in being a moral coward, afraid to stand up and be counted for what he should be religiously or politically, all the laws of all the legislators; aye even the laws of God Himself, will not change or steer him aright.

If Mr. Clohessy would take the time off to observe the crowds that fill his own parish church at Waverly, N. Y. four times each Sunday morning, or count the cars that all but block our Main street twice each Sunday during Mass time in our village here, he would not give utterance to such a silly statement as: If they don't do something about it pretty soon, we will have empty churches and filled saloons.'

In conclusion let me say that a sincere public apology, if that be possible, might help the Catholic people of Tioga county to forgive the libelous assertions of Mr. Clohessy last Friday afternoon in the Methodist Episcopal church, but we may not be induced to forget so easily. All the circumstances, the person, the place, the cause, stamp the whole affair as most unworthy and unchristian; a poor political gesture which most certainly has defeated its own cause. And in fine I would remind Mr. Clohessy that the abuse of liquor is decried as much by good Catholics and Democrats by any other class of respectable citizens. There are still seven capital sins in this world and Ten Commandments. It might be well for all of us, especially those who profess to be moral leaders, to recall these significant words of Christ: 'Can the blind lead the blind; do not both fall into the pit?'"
