

Parish Prepares For Golden Jubilee

EVENTS LISTED AT CORPUS CHRISTI Include Pageant, Pontifical Mass

With elaborate preparations completed Corpus Christi parish is looking forward to a fitting observance of the parish's Golden Jubilee. A Jubilee Pageant produced by pupils and alumni of the school under the auspices of the Sisters of St. Joseph, will commemorate in song and drama the fifty years in which Corpus Christi School has been in existence.

The Pageant will be given Thursday and Friday nights, November 17 and 18, in the Church Hall.

His Excellency, Bishop Kearney will be celebrant of the Pontifical Jubilee Mass on Sunday, November 20, at 11:00 a. m.

Assisting him will be the Rt. Rev. Mgr. William M. Hart, V.G., pastor of Corpus Christi Church, as assistant priest; Rev. John E. Sullivan and Rev. William Byrne as deacons of honor to the Bishop; Rev. William F. Stauder as deacon and Rev. James T. Wood as sub-deacon.

Rev. Emmett F. Magee will be thurifer; Rev. Henry J. Doerbeck and Rev. John O'Boine, acolytes; Rev. Leo Jones and Rev. William Naughton will act as torch bearers and candle bearers, respectively; Rev. Donald Casey will be mitre-bearer; Rev. Harold Kogers, crozier bearer; the Rt. Rev. Mgr. William F. Stauder, canonizer; the Rev. Lawrence B. Casey, vice-chancellor, will be assistant master.

Archbishop Hickey to Preach

The Jubilee Sermon will be preached by Archbishop Hickey, who has had a close connection with the history of Corpus Christi Parish.

He was present at many of the early functions of the parish, presiding at the evening services on the Sunday when the new church was dedicated, November 4, 1903, chose the Pastor of the church, Mgr. Curran, as his first Vicar General, chose Bishop O'Hern to be his Vicar General on the death of Mgr. Curran.

Archbishop Hickey presided at the meetings of the parish board in which the plans were perfected for erecting the present parish plant. Bishop O'Hern was promoted from Corpus Christi Church to be Administrator of the Diocese and later Bishop of Rochester.

Founded in 1838

Corpus Christi Parish was founded by Bishop McQuaid in 1838. It was the thirteenth parish in the city. Its territory was taken from St. Mary's and St. Bridget's Parishes.

The first pastor was Rev. James Leary, who after fourteen years as pastor of St. Paul's Church of Homeopathy was appointed by Bishop McQuaid to build up the new parish. Fifty years ago the parish was on the far eastern edge of Rochester; today it is close to the center of the city.

Fast growth in the section beyond the New York Central Main St. Bridge has developed the parish into one of the largest of the diocese and has also brought about the division of its territory for the erection of the two parishes of St. John Evangelist and St. Ambrose.

Twenty priests have been ordained from Corpus Christi, and more than thirty-five young women of the parish have become Sisters. Five of its young men are now studying for the priesthood in various religious orders, while eleven are studying in the diocesan seminaries.

Monsignor Hart has prepared a Jubilee History of the Parish, copies of which will be distributed at the Jubilee Mass on Sunday, November 20.

A Mass for all who have died since the foundation of the parish will be offered up on Monday, November 21.

The attending clergy with Bishop Kearney and Archbishop Hickey will be the guests of the pastor at a Jubilee Dinner immediately after the Mass on November 20.

Rochester now has forty-four parishes. Fifty years ago, Corpus Christi parish was the thirteenth.

Four pastors have served the parish in this time: Rev. James Leary, 1838-1901; Mgr. Dennis J. Curran, V. G., 1901-1929; Bishop John Francis O'Hern, 1929-1939; Mgr. William M. Hart, V. G., the present pastor, assumed office in 1929.

Five Bishops have cared for the diocese in the fifty years since the parish was founded: Bishop Bernard J. McQuaid; Archbishop Thomas F. Hickey; Bishop John Francis O'Hern; Archbishop Edward Money; and Bishop James Edward Kearney.

CATHOLIC WHO FLEW OCEAN IN 1928, DIES

MUNICH.—In the death here of Captain Hermann Koehl, Germany has lost a distinguished aviator and the Church a devout and prominent Catholic. He was 60.

In 1928, Captain Koehl, in a plane with the late Baron von Huenefeld and the Irishman James C. Fitzmaurice, made the first east-west crossing of the north Atlantic. But this achievement of Captain Koehl was not as spectacular as his flight in western France.

Always interested in Catholic affairs, Captain Koehl was the principal assistant of the Rev. Paul C. Schulz, O.M.I., the "flying missionary," in placing the airplane in the service of the missions. In 1933, he was received at the Vatican by His Holiness Pope Pius XI when he came to Rome with small planes that was to be sent to the South African missions.

SPAIN Today and Tomorrow

Principal educational objectives of the Nationalist Government, then, are to provide more schools and more qualified teachers.

Next 10 Years To Tell

The importance of this task is emphasized by a statement made to the writers by another highly placed Nationalist official.

"The next ten years will tell whether Spain is to become a first class power again or to continue as a third-rate nation," he said. "The answer to this rests in large measure upon the success or failure of our new educational system."

Dr. Rodriguez and his chief associates are keenly aware of their responsibility. The writers were favorably impressed by their educational plans, developed in the confusion of a terrible war. The plans they have devised would be difficult to carry out even in peace. The war has made their execution doubly difficult. Despite this tremendous handicap the Ministry of Education already has taken the steps, briefly mentioned before, to start the new educational machinery in motion.

Every effort is being made by this Ministry to make children attend school. Compulsory education, a major feature of the new educational program, is impractical now because there are not enough schools. To help remedy this the Ministry is reconditioning old buildings to serve as temporary schools.

RICH'S PROTECTION FROM VIOLENCE Said To Lie In Commutative Justice

TORONTO.—In the law of Commutative Justice "the rich man's protection against violence of any kind" declared the Rev. Dr. William T. Davis, of St. Augustine's Seminary, in his second trans-Canada radio address on Canada's Catholic Hour.

Dr. Davis stressed that superabundance of the means of existence is not intended by God for the possessors, "but for others" and that the holders are merely God's agents, "divinely appointed to succor those upon whom He has been pleased to leave temporarily without sufficient means at their own disposal."

Such disposition of wealth, the speaker said, is not a favor but a duty, even though it is charity. The law of charity, he added, is not incumbent only on the superabundant, all are likewise obliged to think, feel and act true Christian Charity.

While the Church condemns exploitation of the poor on the part of the rich, he declared, "she likewise condemns violent dispossession of the rich on the part of the poor."

"In the law of charity, the great deal of good is accomplished by bringing to the Cornell Catholic outstanding figures in Catholic life and activities.

Arrangements are pending to bring Rev. Robert Gannon, B. J., President of Fordham University and Mgr. Fulton J. Sheen of the Catholic University, Washington, D. C., to the Cornell campus to conduct the series.

Another feature of the Newman Club program this year will be the Victory Breakfast extended to the Cornell football team on the occasion of its successful season. Coach James "Sleepy Jim" Crowley of Fordham will be the principal speaker at this event.

The first Communion Breakfast of the term was held last Sunday by students and others who had their guests the freshmen students. Over a hundred attended the breakfast and profited greatly by a talk given by Professor John A. MacDonald of the Cornell Law School on the subject "Catholic Aspects of the Constitutional Amendment."

150TH ANNIVERSARY OF MASS IN BOSTON MARKED

BOSTON.—In the presence of Governor Henry of Massachusetts and James Tobin, of Boston, His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, celebrated a Mass of Thanksgiving on All Souls' Day in the Chapel of St. Thomas More on the occasion of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the first Mass publicly offered in this city.

The first Mass was celebrated but a short distance away from the present location of the Chapel of St. Thomas More in 1630. The Cardinal, in a discourse, recalled the development of the Catholic Church in this area from the time of the first Mass in the city.

Woman Retires After 33 Years in Mint

WASHINGTON.—Miss Mary M. O'Reilly for years an expert on coinage, has just retired here after 33 years of service with the Treasury Department.

Miss O'Reilly, who is a Catholic, retired as Assistant Director of the Mint, three years beyond the legal age limit of 70, because President Roosevelt extended her services at the urgent request of clerical and Cabinet members.

All of the current coins were first circulated in the course of her official tenure. Rated an authority on coinage, she has been consulted by foreign governments on that subject.

Tangle, N. Y. By special order of General Francisco Franco a new Cathedral is to be constructed in this edifice on the northern coast of Africa will be of Renaissance style and will have a replica copied from that of St. Peter's at the Vatican.

IMPORTANT!

On Armistice Day Friday, November 11 all offices, including the CATHOLIC COURIER will be closed.

Death Takes Woman Who Saw Talbot Die

Dublin, Ireland.—Mrs. Annie Keogh, who went to the assistance of Matt Talbot, the pious Dublin laborer who one day may be canonized, when he collapsed in front of her home as he was on his way to Mass and died in her arms, passed away recently in a Dublin hospital. Mrs. Keogh placed an altar on the spot in front of her house where Matt Talbot expired. The altar has been visited by thousands. On the occasion of the International Eucharistic Congress in Dublin it was visited by His Eminence Jean Cardinal Verdier.

Cornerstone Laid In $300,000 Chapel

CHICAGO.—A simple slab of stone with two Greek letters, Chi and Iota, signifying the name of Christ carved upon it, is the cornerstone of the new Madonna Della Strada at Loyola University. The chapel, facing Lake Michigan, is being built by the Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago, in the presence of hundreds of Chicagoans, many of them alumni of the famous Jesuit school.

The chapel, facing Lake Michigan, will cost $300,000.

Return to Cambridge

London. Franciscans were welcomed back to Cambridge after an absence of 400 years when the new St. Bonaventure's Friary was opened.

AMSTERDAM.—Leaders in radio from many countries attended the meeting of the International Catholic Radio Bureau, which was held in the new buildings of the Catholic broadcasting organization in Hilversum.

Because of conditions in Germany the headquarters of the Bureau were transferred from Cologne to this city with the Rev. G. Ditz, O. P., being named Chairman of the Bureau to succeed the Rt. Rev. Mgr. B. Marshall, of Dusseldorf, who resigned.

Some 20 countries are allied with the Bureau and representatives of 30 nations attended the meeting.

WASHINGTON.—Among those present at the White House on Monday, when President Roosevelt signed a proclamation making the postage rate on books the same as that of magazines, was the Rev. Dr. George Johnson, head of the Department of Education of the Catholic University of America. Director of the Department of Education of the National Catholic Educational Association.

The establishment of this new postage rate on books was considered as being primarily an educational move and certain prominent educators were invited to be present for the ceremony.

If they happens to be founded on the opinion, either way of these, that it miserably—Bishop J. Le Spalding.

Dr. Carpenter Addresses C. R. T. S.

By Grace L. Murray

GENEVA.—"Perfectly fitting spectacle masses of plastic material will be selling for ten cents within twenty years," predicted Dr. Carpenter by his talk on plastics and the utilization of farm wastes given before the Catholic Round Table of Science at their semi-annual dinner meeting Saturday, November 4, here as guests of the Rev. Edward K. Bell.

The teaching of chemistry was transformed from a subject of abstract formulae and atomic weights to fascinating wizardry as the speaker tossed about without fear of breaking glass rods of inconceivable lightness. He showed how a camera the material of which cost four cents was shaped by heat for forty cents and, slightly changed, to retail for $2.50, since the plastic materials in manufactured articles have a market value for an excess of butter, Dr. Carpenter stated. The farmer is saving 25 cents worth of butter cream while throwing down the sink casing worth three dollars.

Many demonstrations were given through the courtesy of the Geneva Experimental Station. The audience in preserving fruit and vegetable juices by flash pasteurization and of preventing enzyme action, while retaining vitamin C content in frozen foods, was discussed by Dr. Treasurer. Step by step the method was shown of growing in the laboratory great numbers of parasites to be scattered into the field to destroy the oriental fruit fly. Dr. Novell explained how insurrection in cell-chlorophyll of plants doubled and tripled their chromosome number and produced huge odorless marigolds and giant snapdragons.

The next meeting will be held in Spring in Rintira.

Approved By Bishop Kearney

Catholic Information Society, Newburgh, Pa.

My dear Sister:

I think that Society is doing a very fine piece of work for the propagation of the Gospel of Christ. It is a true Catholic Action which is very necessary and should be very fruitful. May God bless your efforts with great success.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

James E. Kearney, Bishop of Rochester.

Need of Teachers

Another principal difficulty is getting qualified teachers for the State schools. In this period of adjustment all persons with qualifications approximating the strict teaching standards enforced by the Ministry are being accepted as teachers.

The Nationalist Government has drawn up a comprehensive plan for primary and secondary schools that it is now attempting to carry out. Two features of this plan are the emphasis being placed on agriculture in the schools (Spain is predominantly an agricultural country), and of physical education. The plan is perhaps the most ambitious of its kind ever devised for Spain. With the full cooperation of the Church, and administered by a capable Ministry of Education, it unquestionably has excellent chances to succeed.

As Dr. Rodriguez, in describing the essential features of this plan, told these correspondents:

"On the whole it will be the Church and State working together, each in its own way and for its own particular end, but both working for the honor and glory of God, the development and eternal salvation of the individual and the building up of a strong State in accordance with the traditions of the country.

"God, the individual—his nature and needs, and the State; these are the three foundation stones of the new Spanish educational system."
