'CHARLEY'S AUNT' To Be Given Dec. 2 At Convention Hall

With a capable cast, well-drilled in more than 15 rehearsals, the popular comedy, "Charley's Aunt," will be presented for the benefit of St. Charles Borromeo Church at Convention Hall on Friday evening, December 2. Dressing the production is Francis E. Island, who has had 13 years experience directing, acting and writing plays. In the cast will be such well-known players as John Kester, David Van Winkle, Arnold Morrison, Richard Wendley, Virginia Wolverson, Evelyn Berry, Evelyn Zabel, Dora Ann, John Waddock and Mildred Randall. The production is the work of the Community Players and other organizations of the city and has been well received. Mr. Island, the director, last year, appeared with the Regional Code Summer Theater at Clinton Hollow. He will return there next year in an executive capacity and will play Hamlet in another dress. He recently starred in "Edgemon" for a Carrot, a P. T. A. presentation for the Rochester schools. Joseph E. Clontier, managing director, announces that there is a large advance sale for the production and a capacity audience is expected to greet the cast to "Charley's Aunt." In this age of "isms" nothing seems to be a "realism" except Hitler's mystic.
