U. S. Catholic Delegates Get Notable Assignments At Lima

Fr. O'Hara and Dr. Fenwick On Six Committees

By ELIZABETH S. ENOCHS
(Special Correspondent, N. C. W. C. NEWS SERVICE)

ON BOARD SS. SANTA CLARA, NOV. 30.—Physically refreshed by days of rest on shipboard, mentally stimulated by daily attendance at conferences and committee meetings, and spiritually strengthened by attendance at daily celebration of the Divine Sacrifice, delegates to the Eighth International Conference of American States at Lima are nearing their destination with the conviction that they are about to participate in one of the most momentous gatherings ever assembled in the Western Hemisphere.

Each morning as the ship's lounge is transformed into a chapel for celebration of Holy Mass by the Very Rev. John F. O'Hara, C. S. C., president of Notre Dame University, member of the United States delegation, diplomats of many nations, clerks and cabin boys, prominent officials and plain passengers gather to seek spiritual aid for the tasks that lie ahead. The first Sunday out of New York found Governor Alf Landon of Kansas, a non-Catholic, attending Mass celebrated by his fellow-delegate to the Conference, Father O'Hara, and kneeling devoutly near Senora Ricardo J. Alfaro, wife of the former President of Panama, and Senora Eduardo de Diez de Medina, wife of Bolivia's Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Catholicism' Prominent Roles

The committee assignments announced by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chairman of the U. S. delegation, indicate the active part which the two Catholic members of the delegation will be expected to play during the Lima conference. Dr. Charles G. Fenwick, President of the Catholic Association for International Peace, is the only delegate assigned to four committees. They are the highly important committees on Organization of Peace, International Law, Intellectual Cooperation and Moral Disarmament, and Reports. Father O'Hara has been made chairman of the Committee on Political and Civil Rights of Women.

Dr. Fenwick, Professor of International Law at Bryn Mawr, has also been pressed into service as lecturer on this subject before a seminar of college professors and high school relations while the conference is in session.

Referring to Father O'Hara during one of the nightly broadcasts from the ship's conference room, Edward Tomlinson, N. B. C. news commentator, described him as one of the most distinguished and outstanding members of the United States delegation. There is every indication that the majority of the passengers share this view. And among the Latin-Americans there was surprise and delight upon discovery that Father O'Hara speaks Spanish as well as any native of the southern republics and that he has the understanding of Spanish peoples which only residence and and study in a Spanish country can give. Son of an American consul who served in Latin-America, Father O'Hara lived and studied in Uruguay and Argentina during his youth.

Better Understanding

Questioned as to channels of intercourse, Father O'Hara listed exchanges of students and professors as one of the most important and recalled the fact that at Notre Dame the head of the engineering department is a Peruvian, born in the ancient city of Cuzco, and also the fact that some years ago for 15 successive years engineering honors and medal had been won by students from Latin-America.

"I have the feeling that many political differences would never arise if people knew and understood each other better, and that the field of intellectual cooperation is one of the most fertile in which

In making the statement, Father O'Hara was expressing the same thought voiced by Secretary of State Hull a few days later at Panama where, speaking of the opportunities for profitable interchange between the Americas, he said: "This interchange is not only that of trade, but the more important interchange of ideas, culture and friendship."

Secretary of State Hull, whose democratic ways have won the hearts of Latin-Americas, has given new evidence of the simplicity and kindliness which characterize his dealings with others. On the first night out, as the passengers gathered in the dining room for dinner, Mr. Hull nodded in friendly fashion to each person he knew in the dining room. When he spied Father O'Hara at a table on the opposite side of the room, he rose and went over to greet him and say a few words. A few days later, when Mrs. Hull, who had remained in her cabin to rest after receiving anti-typhoid inoculations, could not dine with him, Secretary Hull invited Father O'Hara to dine at his table, and a long conference ensued in which both seemed utterly absorbed.

Careful Preparations

After the first two days of the voyage, life settled down to a daily routine of work, with regular meetings of the delegtes, technical advisers, and members of committees. In general it would appear that never has the United States prepared more carefully for a conference.

While it seems extremely doubtful that the Conference will result in the formation of an American League of Nations, as proposed by some of the republics to the south of us, or in the establishment of an American Court of International Justice, there is consensus of opinion that the conference will take decisive steps to intensify inter-American solidarity. The importance of of this solidarity was stressed by the Secretary of State in his speech at Panama, when he said:

"The world is at a crossroads, with one course leading to peace, international order and justice, and the welfare of peoples, while the other would take humanity along the road of war, destruction and anarchy. I am confident that the coming meeting at Lima will be a constructive factor in favor of the first course, which is the way of the American republics."

President of Notre Dame Preaches in Peru on Dec. 8

LIMA, PERU.—The Very Rev. John F. O'Hern, C.S.C., President of the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Ind., and a member of the American Delegation to the Eighth National Pan-American Congress here, will deliver the sermon in the Cathedral on the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, Patroness of the United States, December 8.

Invitation to Father O'Hara to deliver the sermon at the principal Mass was extended by the Most Rev. Peter P. Farfan, Archbishop of Lima.

respecting citizenry, wearied by the eternal parade of indecency across the silver screen, forced to strike and strike hard."

Three Faiths Co-operated

All faiths joined in the movement both locally and nationally to clean up the films. Developments in the motion picture industry have since proved a statement made here at that time by the Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S.J., that "Dirty entertainment is bad business and has proved so at the box office." Clean pictures have since shown to have been box office successes.

The one attempt at subversive motion-picture production, "Blockade," was soundly protested throughout the country. Any further attempts at producing such films which insidiously attempt to overthrow existing standards of democracy in this country will be combatted by those enrolled in the Legion of Decency might give the whole story of these agents in relation to the recruiting of American citizens to fight in Red Spain.'"

"In the last Congress," Monsignor Ready continued, "the North American Committee to Aid Spanish Democracy called for the lifting of the embargo on Loyalist Spain. With the American League for Peace and Democracy, it organized a campaign to send resolutions, telegrams and letters to the President, to the Secretary of State, and to select delegations to visit Congressmen and Senators in the interest of Red Spain. These groups cannot be sincere in their support of legislation which they would be the first to condemn under reversed circumstances. Stalin recently conducted 'a popular election by secret ballot,' and, of course, any school child could have foretold the result of such election.

"It was not in any real sense a free democratic election. But it did fulfill the conditions of the proposed 'Peace Act' which the League and Friends supported in the last Congress and which undoubtedly they will agitate for in the next Congress. Now, if the people of Russia were to rise up against the oppressive tyrannies of Moscow, the American Government, according to the proposed Peace Act and Lift the Embargo legislation would have to take sides with Stalin against the people.

German Election Cited

"Herr Hitler also had an election in German not long ago and the results were early predictable. I am confident that the League and Friends are not in favor of keeping Der Fuehrer in power. However, if the 'Lift the Embargo' drive succeeded and later the German and Austrian people rose up against Hitler, we may be sure that the college professors, lawyers, rabbis and preachers now issuing manifestos in favor of the Reds in Spain would be scurrying around in no time for an amendment of an amendment amending the Neutrality Act."

"In this unfortunate carry-over of alien propaganda," said Monsignor Ready, "we are in danger of losing our poise and usual fair judgment. Charges are made and hotly debated. Names are called and honesty impugned. In all of this we Catholics have great reason to pray for the conversion of sinners, for many of the outstanding leaders of the vicious political theories and organizations now pinguing the world, in class strife and racial hatred and religious persecution are former children of the household of the Faith.

"Unfaithful Catholics, if our distress and sorrow are now leading exponents in this country and abroad of the hideous forces opposed to all human decency and nobility. We that glory in the Faith, it seems to me, have the obligation of more zealously practicing Christ's doctrine of love and justice."

Monsignor Ready told the alumnae that "the preservation of democracy demands more than a mere natural humanitarianism." "It needs," he said, "that which the founders of this Republic recognized as the essential characteristic for a just society—the free exercise and untrammeled diffusion of religion."

National Social Sins

"Against the ominous world background of today's political and economic insanities, with their ruthless wars against religion and their attempted extirpation of all Christian moral principles, we rejoice in the free opportunities and actual encouragement which our nation gives to religious social organization," Monsignor Ready said. "The propagandists of hate in our country must be met by the invincible forces of religious-minded men and women intent on preserving this condition."

Monsignor Ready told the alumnae that if they know the great Encyclical Letters of His Holiness Pope Pius XI "as cultured Catholic women should know them," "there is no power on earth that can deprive you of a position of true leadership in your communities."

RAISE STATUS OF POOR TO AVOID WORLD PEACE, ADVISES NYA OFFICIAL

PITTSBURGH.—Raise the status of the poor to promote world peace, J. W. McGowan, District Supervisor of the National Youth Administration in Western Pennsylvania and Professor of Sociology at Duquesne University here, urged the Lake Erie Students Peace Federation of the Catholic Association for International Peace, which met at Mt. Mercy College last Saturday.

Speaking on "The Good Neighbor Policy in International Relations," before students of 12 colleges, Mr. McGowan said "a contented labor group is poor recruiting ground for those militaristically inclined." "Our strivings for peace," he added, "must represent a way of life. True progress comes only with the advancement of humanity."

Mr. McGowan declared "organs of arbitration have not been given a fair trial" in international affairs. He added that tolerance and charity should prevail in international relations, pointing to the lack of these qualities on the part of the Versailles Treaty's framers as a cause of many current difficulties.
