NAZI PERSECUTION SPREADING WIDELY

Bishops Committee In U. S. Learn

NEW YORK—German Nazis have increased the vehemence of their persecution of Catholics, according to reports gathered by the Bishops' Committee for Catholic Refugees. This persecution, it is stated, extends to the confiscation of art treasures, financial restrictions, attacks on Bishops and priests as well as on the Papacy, dissolution of Catholic organizations, wholesale dismissal of Catholic employees, and "the most satanical methods of intimidation ever heard of."

"These methods are reported in the Free Germany, No. 2, Volume 3," it is stated. "A large number of Catholics are called before the Gestapo. Here they are told that probably a process will be started against activities of the Catholics inimical to the State. After this intimidation speech, the people are questioned as to what newspapers they read with what people they keep company, what the people think politically, etc. Then they proceed to show illegal papers and documents which the Gestapo claims to have seized. The Gestapo also claims to know the sender as well as the addressee. If concentration camps and jails were insufficient, the Gestapo would have to apply the same methods used against the Jews—that is, to eradicate them.

'Culture' Tax Assessed

"The N.S.D.A.P. have issued new regulations to the Gau-leaders in which they warn them to avoid anything that touches on religious life proper. The regulations that follow, however, show definitely that the Kulturkampf goes relentlessly on. The Church tax is replaced by the 'culture' tax. Formerly, the salary of all the priests was taken from the Church tax. Now, it will be paid only to those priests who are 'politically reliable.' It will not be paid to them if they have been warned or punished. According to the same regulation, all convents, institutions and chanceries will have commissioners attached to them in the future. The report goes on to state that members of religious orders whose brethren have been involved in immorality trials can be expelled from Germany without any other reason. The next point curbs the Church financially. All Church institutions should be subject to severe taxation, for which measure tax officers have already received regulations. For instance, the convent of Westphalia, which has been tax exempt up to now, has been taxed 42000 marks a year.

"In spite of this fact, which cannot be denied, the German papers continue to claim that there is no persecution. The Schwarzes Korps under date of January 19 takes issue with the Osservatore Romano which, at the end of the year 1938, gave a survey of events. The persecution of the faith in Germany, the Nazi paper states, is made of political Catholicism. In the same paper on another page we find one of the vilest attacks against the Holy Father, who is called the Supreme Rabbi of all Christians. The Stuermer of February 5, 1939, surpasses the Schwarzes Korps: it calls the Vatican paper the newspaper of the Jews and a traitor to Christianity. It challenges the Osservatore Romano to attack the Jews and charges that the Osservatore Romano betrays Christ, religion and the interest of the Catholic Church. On another page, we read that the Catholic Church commiserates with the 'unjust treatment of the Jews' and agitates against the New Germany.

Inventory of Art

"Alarming is the report that, according to a new law, an inventory is to be made of all art possessions of the Church and of the convents. The reason being that the authorities wanted to have a survey of all art property in Austria (compare the inventory of the Jewish property in March, 1938, and the fine imposed on the Jews in November, 1938). The city of Magdeburg plans to take over the well-known library of the convent of Our Lady, and the St. Mauritius library of the Cathedral. This confiscation, it is asserted, is to 'protect' these treasures from foreign ownership.'"

PRIEST SAVES SACRED IMAGES FROM FLAMES

MANILA.—The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Prudencio David, vicar and parish priest of San Fernando, Pampanga, for more than 20 years, was the hero in the saving of images from the church which, along with its imposing convent was destroyed by the recent $1,000,000 fire which swept the commercial and residential district of the provincial seat of one of the Philippines' leading sugar-producing provinces.

The gallant priest directed the men under him and P. I. Army trainees who helped him. He tried to use the church hose but found that the water pressure was extremely low. However, at the risk of being burned alive he was able to save his parish's images and treasures. His hands were bruised and his cassock was torn as the result of his fighting the flames.

The church was destroyed by another fire May 4, 1899. The edifice burned recently was rebuilt in 1918 by Monsignor David.

Former Count Heads Order; Countess Now in Carmel

BRAINE LE COMTE, BELGIUM—The newly elected Superior General of the Congregation of the Sacred Hearts of Jesus and Mary, the Very Rev. John d'Elbee, is a former Count d'Elbee and member of an illustrious French family.

Former Count

Very Rev. John d'Elbee

Father d'Elbee is the oldest of the six children of the Marquis d'Elbee, whose five sons fought as officers in the World War. Four were killed. Father d'Elbee was sent to Morocco as a lieutenant in the French Legion in order to spare the life of the last male member of the family.

Sermon Decides Vocation

Soon after the war he married the Countess de Sees, daughter of the Marquis de Sees and granddaughter of a famous French general of that name. After four years of married life, a decision already contemplated for some time, was taken by the couple to consecrate themselves to the religious life. The occasion was a sermon by Father Matheo, the "Apostle of the Sacred Heart," who was preaching in France at that time.

Countess d'Elbee entered the Carmelite Convent in Louvain, Belgium, while her husband joined the Congregation of the Sacred Hearts in France. Both made their profession the same day and were the recipients of personal messages of congratulations from the late Pope Pius XI.

Count d'Elbee, after receiving the sub-deaconate in company with the late Father Pro, the martyred Mexican Jesuit, was ordained to the priesthood by Cardinal Mercier in the Carmelite Convent Chapel in Louvain in the presence of the former Countess d'Elbee, who is now Mother Clare, Prioress of that house.

Held Many Offices

After his ordination, Father d'Elbee held successively the offices of Assistant Master of Novices in France, Professor of History in the Grande Seminaire of Poitiers, member of the Sacred Hearts' mission band in France during which time he preached devotion to the Sacred Heart and spread the Work of the Enthronement, founded by Father Matheo, throughout France and Belgium. He was made Master of Novices at Montgeron, France, when elected Superior General of the entire Congregation at the General Chapter in France.

Father d'Elbee, 44 years of age, is the youngest of six members of the Congregation who have been Superior General since the foundation of the Congregation in 1800. He is expected to visit the United States in 1940.

only indirectly a part of education, if they attend schools to which their parents feel bound in conscience to send them."

"At the present time," Dr. Johnson told the Senatorial group, "there are more than two million children in Catholic elementary and secondary schools. The right of the schools to exist is guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States. Their purpose is to prepare the young for the duties of American citizenship. They are supported by the Catholic people of the United States, who at the same time contribute, as do all other citizens, to the maintenance of the public school system. They have assumed this double burden, because they are convinced in conscience that the only sound basis for citizenship training is religion, that men will recognize their obligations to one another, only if they have an intelligent recognition of their obligations to God."

"It is a negation of democracy, to do violence to the individual conscience; it is un-American to interfere with religious liberty," Dr. Johnson declared. "To say the very least, any action on the part of the government that would restrict such services to children, as transportation, books, care of health and welfare to those who attend tax-supported schools, would be penalizing those parents who, following the dictates of their conscience, insist on providing for their children an education rooted and founded in their religious faith. Such a discrimination is intolerable on the basis of American democracy."

LATEST U. S. LIST Of Spain Aid Stirs Special Interest

WASHINGTON—With the civil war in Spain virtually at an end, the latest report issued by the United States Department of State on money gathered in this country for Spain is of particular interest.

The tabulation shows that of the 253 organizations registered with the State Department as "relief" groups, approximately seven-eighths are Leftist organizations, collecting funds for the so-called Spanish Loyalists, emphasizing that radical groups in the United States have been the ones most energetic in attempts to bring the United States and the American people into a commitment for a particular side in the Spanish strife.

The sum total of contributions received by the organizations listed is more than $2,000,000, of which groups organized on behalf of Nationalist Spain and neutral groups have gathered approximately $279,-614.

REICH OFFICIALS HARASS POLISH NUNS AT BORDER

WARSAW—A new instance of the annoyances undergone by Polish Religious at the hands of German border police and customs officials is reported here by KAP, Polish Catholic press agency.

According to information Mother Ledoschowska, of the Order of St. Ursula, returning from Rome was detained by German officials at the border to her extreme hardship. At Neu-Bentschen, the nun and her Sister-companion were forced to undergo a customs examination which lasted several hours. Their persons and luggage were subjected to the most minute search, their clothes and even their shoes being examined. Needless to say, the search produced nothing of a "suspicious" or "dangerous" character. However, the protracted examination caused the nuns to miss their train connections and they were forced to spend the cold night in the station. Mother Ledoschowska is 70 years old.
