Take from a college boy's riseyont in a good a title at any le what I am about to say. Living at the Fai Upallen House out the River Campus of the University of Phochester, I see and near a great deal of it first hand. To begin with most of the bays' in the house have radios in their recents. There is another imperin point.

The average college fellow lines muste about the times as well as drawns and about the times as well as well as political speeches. Within the realm of music swing predeminates—though diameted music training about one-courts of the boys. Johann strains waitness are popular however with both the classicists and the allegators.

The college man prefers "name hands" to "commercial hands" used on variety programs—even though the quality of the music though the quality of the music may be practically the same. If a certain frame band has been staned up for the coming inter-fractionly Ball, he will spare no effort it turns it in and get a life animal.

It is interesting to speculate just exactly why the boys prefer must be to the connections. I think the main reason is them. I think the main reason is them his radio in small domestion and ort. He has trained his mars to ignore some of the his mars to ignore some only what he likes or the pieces he know-which is practically Benny Goodman's whole repertoire. Drams, man's whole repertoire. Drama, and is a higher extent, comedy dialogue require to—close attention for apprepalation.

There is one pregram, however, for which work is discarded and the college men drag out their avoid bries. That program is Clifton Factional's "Information Pleases," inventibly, some one in the circle tries to beat Kleran or Adams is the answer—and often does.

Adams to the answer—and often does.

All in all, the college boy doesn't treat radio very seriously. The prime story in my opinion concerns one lad whose name that female: anorymous, but whose deed whall not. He had his radio be all the time during the reent all the time during the reent all the mext day.
