ESKIMOS RESCUE JESUIT FROM REDS

Fr. Hubbard To Tell How On Cornell Visit

How an American Jesuit mission ary was saved by a band of armed Eskimo hunters from arrest and imprisonment by Soviet officials when forced by a storm to land on an island off the coast of Siberia, is related by Father Bernard R. Hubbard. S.P., professor of Geology at Santa Clara University, Alaskan Explorer, better known as the "Glacier Priest," who brings his newest motion pictures, "Cliff Dwellers of the Far North" to the Finger Lakes Region on April 12. The Cornell Newman Club is r sponsible for the famous Jesust explorer's visit with his eleventh and atest Arctic expedition recorded in thrilling celluloid reels. He will appear in Bailey Hall on the Cornell Campus at Ithaca at 8.15 the Wed-nesday after Easter.

"Let American Communists sepend two weeks in Siberia," he says. "Siberia is a land ruled by fear. It is a place where no one, native or white, dares express a per-sonal opinion lest he be shot summa.s.rily. Eskimos Terrerized
"Siberian Eskimos are so terrorized—they are afraid to accept as much as a cigarette or a cup of coffee from an American" Father Tom Cunningham, a Jesuit missionary stationed at Lesser Diomede Island in the Bering Strait (U S. territory), Father Hubbard explains, was out with a party of Eskimo walrus hunters when forced by a storm to seek shelter on Russia's neighboring Greater Diomede Island.

"Angry Soviet officials," says Father Hubbard, "menaced Frather Cunningham with pistols and al-tempted to place him under arrest. "Father Cunningham escaped scizure only because his armed Eskimo hunters, headed by their chief. Uperaluk, refused to permit it. They were fully prepared to and quite capable of offering serious resistance, and the Soviet officials thought better of their plan." Typical Attitude This incident. Father Hubbard said, is typical of the attitude the, Siberian Soviet officials, every tothority to do so from Moscows and Washington.

"Cliff Dwellers of the Far North." is the pictorial record of the prepration for and consummations of a two-thousand mile journey heavily laden walrus skin across the Bering Sea and the stormy Arctic ocean On this voyage Father Hubbard 'edicated the great bronze, "Christ of the Ber ing Sea which faces across the Sea toward Godless Siberia, a symbol of America's Christianity
