

Catholic Youth Join In Week Of Activity

Nearly five hundred Boy Scouts responded to the invitation of the Diocesan Holy Name Union to attend the Rally at Red Wing Stadium last Sunday evening. The Scouts represented more than twenty of the troops under Catholic auspices in Rochester.

Several of the assistant Scoutmasters of the troops served as ushers for the assembled men.

The Scouts held glowing candles, and raised their voices in praise of their Creator with their fathers and older brothers in other parts of the stadium. Once again the Catholic Boy Scouts put into actual practice their law, "A Scout is Reverent."

Camp Stella Maris

"Clean-up" week has been declared for Camp Stella Maris and the gray whirling of brooms, beating of rugs and good hard scrubbing of floors are visible to passer-by. The pier is erected and the raft set up, and an order has been put through to Mr. Sun to heat the water every day to insure fine swimming. Next week the camp will emerge as a bright and ready home to house many boys for their summer vacations.

Camp Stella Maris is located on the eastern shores of Oneida Lake. Reservations are taken at the Camp Office in the Columbus Center, Stone 1492.

The Camp is supervised by the Division of Social Action of the Rochester Catholic Charities, of which Rev. Joseph E. Vogt is director. Rev. George C. Vogt is director of the Camp. Mr. J. J. Bernier, St. Andrew's and St. Bernard's Seminarians serve as counselors.

INDIAN LAD CAST IN SHIRLEY FILM

Martin God Elder, a Catholic boy of Holy Family Mission, Montana, accepted a motion picture contract only when assured by Father Bernard Cullen, Director of the Marquette League, that his studies, which he hopes will lead to the priesthood, would not be interrupted. Martin, seen here with Shirley Temple who appears with him in the 20 Century-Fox "Sun-Annals of the Mountains," will be a representative of the Marquette League at the Eleventh National Convention of the Catholic Student Mission Crusade in Washington, D. C. August 22-23.

Literature on the Convention, described as "four days at an international university," may be had from the Diocesan Mission Office from the C. B. C. National Center, Stratton Ave. (Linwood), Cincinnati, O.

'St. Charles 13-St. Stanislaus 12-Protes' to be replayed.

Holy Apostles, undefeated 1938 baseball team is the new champion of the Southern Division of the C. Y. O. Grammar School League. Eleven straight wins, including a victory over strong St. John's and Corpus Christi, runner-up teams, gave Holy Apostles a strong threat for the city title when they meet the winner of the deadlocked Northern Division.

St. Stanislaus and St. Andrew's broke a four-way tie by victories over Holy Rosary and St. Margaret Mary teams respectively during the past week, and are at present still tied for the lead. Dedicating games this week were St. Andrew's and St. Charles, and St. Stanislaus and St. Stanislaus, the latter game a replay of a protested first meeting. In the event of a tie, St. Andrew's and St. Stanislaus will meet for the right to play Holy Apostles.

Rev. John S. Randall
DIRECTOR

Perhaps it is an unusual way with which we introduce our Column this morning. But one look at that mail pouch in the corner, and I've decided to ask the Editor if I may take over the entire paper this week. You know boys and girls our Editor has been more than generous with space throughout the year. And now at the end of school we won't take advantage of his good nature. For this reason only those letters that were received at the office before Monday June 19, are being reported. The rest will follow next week. Be patient, then, and keep your eyes open for the next issue.

Well, here goes! Pull up a comfortable chair, adjust the light over your left shoulder (recommended by the best eye specialists) and get a load of the good news.

Yes, just as I suspected. Remember last week we wondered about the absence of St. Andrew's and feared that they would descend upon us in a surprise attack. Well, here they are, bright and early Friday morning. They came, they conquered and they really laid us low with an overstaffed envelope. Within we found the following list of all three adoptions, from the Fourth Grade girls: John Randall, an African by this time I must be every color of the rainbow should I ever visit these mission countries. I probably would meet these coming probably from the First Grade South, Indore, O'Brien a Chinese and from the Sixth Grade North Mary de Lourdes a Chinese. Then there were dues from the boys of the Fourth Grade and from the First Grade to the amount of $863. Not satisfied with that big bank they included a donation towards our chapel fund. The Seventh North and South boys and girls of the South gave us $188 for this purpose.

I guess that about finishes up their mission work for the year. And a grand job it was, too. You'll agree they coped an early lead way back in September and never once let everyone of them think goes to everyone of them with the idea that they take up right where they left off next September. Here is an interesting little item which can be added to our rapidly growing Chapel Fund. Perhaps you're wondering what we're going to do about it. I doubt if you'll have enough to begin to build right now. So in that case we will let it pick up next year. But interest in the bank is hopes that very soon next year will be able to return the Chapel. Well, but the letter.

During May and June the Third and Fourth Grades have saved two dollars for the Chapel Fund. We promise you will hear from us again next year. Shirley Ann Woods, St. Mary's, Danville.

And now a welcomed note from St. Theodore's, Gates. They may have started their mission work a little late but they're sure making up for lost time.

The boys and girls of our room have saved enough to ransom a little Chinese girl. We would like her named Mary Louise. We would like to have her called Mary Lou, but of course she would have to be baptized Mary Louise. We hope that by our offering we will be able to bring another soul closer to Christ.—Jean Radtke, 7th Grade.

Say, here's a novel way of sending adoptions. These friends of ours at Sacred Heart Pro Cathedral

Wings Tackle Bisons Saturday

Billy Southworth's Rochester Red Wings have been on the road most of the time of late, but they're coming home Saturday for a five-day home stay previous to a stretch of games that will keep them in the Flower City for the first three weeks of July.

Steve O'Neill's Buffalo Bisons will cross bats with the Wings in afternoon games Saturday and Sunday, whereas the Toronto Maple Leafs, now piloted by that ex-Yankee infield great, Tony Lazzeri, will visit Rochester Monday and Tuesday nights and Wednesday afternoon.

Thursday, June 29, the Red Wings go to Montreal for three days, after which they will retrace their steps to the Norton Street ball orchard for the long July home stay.

The Buffalo Bisons have a collection of long distance hitters, and because of that, they're always dangerous. Ollie Carnegie and "Smookey" Joe Martin are largely responsible for the Bisons League leadership in the home run column. Bison-Wing games are always gala affairs, irrespective of the positions of the two clubs in the race.

Southworth's men are still playing the fine brand of ball that enabled them to climb into first place late in May. This 1939 Red Wing aggregation is the hottest hitting Rochester team since the champion Wings of 1936.

Immaculate Conception

The Immaculate Conception Youth Association finished its second year of activity with its second annual banquet last Monday evening.

One hundred and twenty members attended the affair which marked the official closing of the religious discussion club work of high school girls.

Joseph Ryan, an instructor in social studies and vocational guidance at Vocational High School addressed the group on "Making Your Own Future."

The Rt. Rev. Joseph S. Cameron spoke briefly congratulating the group on its record of the year and the Rev. D. J. Murphy also urged them to continue their interest in religious studies.

Entertainment was supplied by group singing and songs and recitations from the following Mary Kundral, June English, Peggy Sullivan, James Mullen, Frank Mulvan, Jack Egan, Marilyn O'Connell and Dorothy Dennis. Election of officers for the coming year placed Leo Mehan of West High School in the office of President, succeeding Thomas McHugh, and Jean Wilson of Madison High School was elected Vice-President, succeeding Betty Green. Dancing was enjoyed the remainder of the evening. A committee of mothers with Mrs. Patrick Mehan as chairman was in charge of the banquet.
