Five Dollars

Five Dollars will support a missionary priest for one week. When we say support, we mean it will not only feed him but take care of his ordinary expenses. Will you support one missionary for one week?

VILLAGE CHURCH IN RUINS

Young People Ashamed of Conditions
Near the Mountains of Lebanon in the Diocese of Tyre is a Village called Tebnie. It is not very large. Most of the population is made up of Mohammedans. There are about one hundred Catholics. The Vicar General sent us this letter:

"I have seen many churches that were in a deplorable condition. The worst I have ever seen is that of Tebnie.

"It is very old, and actually it is crumbling. The walls are weakened and threaten to fall. The roof no longer keeps out the rain. On Sunday, the poor Catholics try to find a dry spot to stand during Mass. If it rains during the week, the Church is damped and wet on Sunday.

"There is only one thing to do. We must tear down this Church and build a new one. So kindly do our people feel the disgrace that they have signed a petition begging me to do something. They have promised to pull down the Church, clear the ground and work on the new church.

"As a consequence, we can build a large Church for Five Hundred Dollars. I believe a new Church will mean converts. Under present conditions, even our own people are remaining home on Sunday. We are worried about the young people. They seem to be ashamed to come.

"Please help me to remedy this sad situation. Believe me when I say it is hard work when you lack even a Church."

"We hope somebody will answer very soon. Perhaps you can send us something."

ST. JUDE

St. Jude the Apostle, Patron of hospitals and difficult cases, is also one of the Patrons of this Association. St. Jude lived and worked and died in the Near East. Your dues priests are working where he worked. Send something to our missions in honor of St. Jude.

FRIARS PRESENT

ROLAND HAYES

Famed Negro Tenor Sings Here Nov. 26

After an absence of more than five years, the distinguished Negro tenor, Roland Hayes, is returning to Rochester on Wednesday, November 29, to sing at the Auditorium under the auspices of the Blackfriars Guild.

Hayes comes at the height of a triumphant concert tour which already has won him wide praise throughout the East and Middle West.

He always has been a primo favorite with Rochester audiences and a capacity crowd is assured for his concert. Hayes is the son of a former slave. Hayes has had one of the most remarkable careers in the history of musical America. Born in the Georgia back country, the now famous singer sang in church choirs and listened to phonograph records as he molded his career.

He worked his way through Fisk University singing with the Jubilee Singers. After leaving the University he continued his musical studies in Boston and finally gave his first concert which netted him $200.

With that fortune, Hayes went to England. London was cool at first but finally capitulated and the crowning triumph was a summons to sing before the king.

This was followed by invitations to France, Germany and what was then Austria. For more than a decade he has been the musical hero of England and the continent. When Hayes sang in London and Paris last Spring, after an absence of several years he was welcome back in great style.

Hayes' hold on musical America is well known and there is little doubt that Rochester will give ample evidence of that welcome when he comes here on November 29 to sing for the Blackfriars. The Auditorium boxoffice opens Wednesday, November 22 for the exchange of membership stubs for reserved seat tickets to the Hayes concert. Mail orders from the general public and subscribers are now being received.

Nazareth Model School Is Blessed

His Excellency, the Most Rev. James E. Kearney, D. D. Bishop of Rochester, assisted by the Rev. Earl Ritz officiated at the blessing of Nazareth Model School in Pittsford, Thursday of last week. The school is conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph.

Parents and friends of the pupils assembled in the school auditorium to witness a demonstration program of the daily educational activities of the children; and later assisted in the religious ceremony of blessing the school.

On their arrival, an informal reception took place. Sister M. Evangelina and Sister Helen Agnes conducted the guests through the departments. There was a display of primary library books; simple figures in color art, well-formed script on the blackboards; and a variety of materials used for intellectual development and for motor activity.

The visitors went to the auditorium, and a program of self-expression was presented. It consisted of a review of the daily routine of training in Religion, language, song, dance, health, cultural etiquette and social procedures. Each little boy played the part of a gallant knight, each tiny miss a graceful lady. Applause was frequent and vigorous. The program was announced by the Instructor in dancing and French, Miss Margaret Hannan. At the completion of the program, His Excellency, Bishop Kearney, delivered a brief address.

The blessing of the School, an impressive ceremony, was then given by the Bishop, assisted by Father Ritz.

Victor Vezelis Heads Junior Holy Name Men

The recently organized Junior Holy Name Society of St. George's School held their elections on November 9. The twenty-eight participating members elected the following officers for the current scholastic year: Victor Vezelis, president; Edward Manella, vice-president; John Kazakiewicz, secretary; and Joseph Kovas as treasurer. The regular Holy Name pins were distributed to all the members by the Principal of the School, Sister Mary Alphonsa, O.S.F. There was perfect attendance of the members for the reception of Holy Communion in body last Sunday.

Holy Childhood Association

Rev. John S. Randall DIRECTOR

"Circumstances beyond our control compel us to say only a brief word to you this morning. I do want to say a brief word of encouragement to the proposition we suggested last week, that of a Newspaper Drive. Sister is receiving in the monthly bulletin the rules and regulations of such a campaign. The important thing for you boys and girls to do is to immediately busy yourselves with saving old newspapers and magazines. Not only those with content into your own home, but it wouldn't be a bad idea to tip off the people next door. Just ask them if they wouldn't be so kind as to give you their papers, and I am sure they would."

One thing that you must be careful of is this. See to it that the papers which you are saving are stored away very carefully. It could easily happen that your younger brother or sister might accidentally get into your pile of newspapers and scatter them all over creation. Then, too, the dog might have loads of fun tearing papers into shreds. You must be careful lest either of these things happen.

Come on now, let's get busy everybody and stack up the newspapers a mile high. In this way we will be doing more for the missions than in the past.

Newsweek

Perhaps you noticed the length of the Column last week. Our Editor was most generous in giving us the amount of space he did. But after all, and unfortunately for us, there is other news equally as important as Holy Childhood activities. Therefore, after having occupied a good part of the paper, we had to surrender a little space for other news. This meant dropping out some of the articles which should have been included. I trust that they will pardon the omission of their names from last week's list. It was nobody's fault except that everybody tried to gang up on the Editor at the same time. These articles were not deaf to his plea for mercy. The following then are the schools and their letters which should have appeared in the column last week.

Lo and behold! If there isn't another crowd of boys and girls that are jumping aboard the old band wagon once again. And surprisingly enough it's the First Grade who's leading the way. May they then be the means of a real awakening for the older boys and girls to the needs of our Holy Childhood. These first grade children of St. Stephen's School in Geneva have ransomed a Korean baby named John. I might tell you in a little while of which the boys and girls of St. Stephen's are very proud. Their interest lies particularly in Korea, a country to the north of China where it gets bitter cold in the winter time. A graduate of their school is now a priest in this part of the mission world. I am sure that they should do their best to help the poor people for whom Father Felix White, M. M. is working. Yes, they tell us that each of the grades is trying to copy their progress. Well, I wasn't wrong because they are right here Johnny on the Spot with two more adoptions. Let's listen to their own story for they tell it so well. "Here we are again ready to do our part in helping our parents. The girls gave up a movie. It is to be a little Eskimo boy and we want to name him John Jerome. We had to make some little sacrifices to buy this one. Some of the boys sold some old iron and old papers. The girls gave up a movie for this week. Some of us are going to be rewarded for a good report so we are looking forward to ransoming another baby before long. We are quite delighted with the mission spirit in our grade. Every day we say a special prayer for the missions." Fourth Grade Pupils, St. Monica's School.

"Here we are a rain ransoming another pagan baby. This time it is to be a black African baby and the name we have chosen is Francis Halloway. The girls gave up a movie for this week. During the next few weeks we hope to buy up a few more pagan children so that their souls may be saved by our missions." Fifth Grade, St. Monica's School.

Now feast your eyes on this letter. Hardly had the printers ink dried on a previous letter from Nazareth Hall when the boys of the Eighth grade were pounding at the door with the ransom of another little baby. "After working hard for two months we have finally ransomed an Indian baby named Mary Patrice. Although we were late in starting we hope you will hear from us again soon. We are praying hard and offering sacrifices for the missions." Robert

St. Joe's Ties Aquinas in Finale

Everything was tied up last Saturday afternoon as Aquinas Institute and St. Joe's Collegiate Institute of Buffalo battled to a 6-6 tie. Neither team had been tied nor scored upon a high school competition this season. Both teams were evenly matched and the game was a display of strong offensive power stopped by fine defensive play.

Aquinas had several opportunities to score but failed in the pinches as St. Joe's turned on the power. The Irish scored on some passing plays by Bob Landry who capitalized on the fine interference of his backfield mates. Runs of 34, 32 yards and a final sideline sweep netted the score. Point after touchdown was not made as the attempted pass was knocked down.

St. Joe's settled down to serious business in the third quarter when a poor punt and a penalty put them on the Irish 25. Erben, Moran and Baker drove over for a touchdown on concerted drives. The try for point number seven went wide and that was the end of scoring for the day.

The final record of victories over Holy Family High of Auburn and Canisius Prep, a tie with St. Joe's; losses were chalked up in their battles with college teams. Freshman teams of Holy Family, Canisius and St. Bonaventure Colleges all succeeded in downing the Irish leads of Johnny Sullivan. Against teams of their own standing the Aquinas stars were two from the Buffalo district, Niagara Canisius and St. Bonaventure. The band of Aquinas Institute, directed by Raymond J. Hasenauer of the School faculty, has proven a marvelous weapon in the arena and they received big hands for their skill in spelling out the name of their school and that of the visiting team.

And now, we are happy to report a letter from the Sixth grade of Corpus Christi. They are just be-

Guards in Top Place In K. of C. Loop

After adopting a resolution of sympathy on the death of the late Harold (Butch) Johnson, the Knights of Columbus League proceeded with hostilities at Joe Carlin's Columbus Club. The Aquinas Guards too distinguished themselves at first prize, sharing with McDonagh's Pines 2 to 0 with a salvage of 10 pins and spares. The Mustangs Schooner's Puritans were unable to maintain the fast pace of the Guards in their 2 to 0 decision over the champion Puritans and consequently dropped into second place. Jackie Kinney's White took advantage of the slip of Aquinas Indians, dropping them 2 to 1. and Billy Woerner's Santos took the odd game from the Indians, who incidentally amassed the season's high total of 82.

The veteran Cy Matt in thwarting the ambitions of the Puritans to maintain an even clip with the Guards scored a 908 for a three-game high for the evening. He followed by Kinney with 847, Trimby 589, Peters 574, Morrow 573, Fitzpatrick 560 and Butch Pedmore 553.

Herb Trimby had individual high game for the week with 223, closely followed by Jack Kinney with 225, Petera 224, Austing 216, Statt 214, Lofink 204, Pedmore 213, Kennedy 212 and Secretary Billy Kinney with 211. This one is a high man in individual average in the league with 190, trailed by Jerry Weinhart with 183, Morrow 182, Statt 180, Pedmore 180, Schoiland 180 and Joe Hasselwander 177.

Norton and John Reider, 8th Grade, Nazareth Hall. Like the boys from Nazareth Hall, here are the boys and girls from St. Stephen's Geneva. Even before we could get their first ransom printed which you will read above, they were loudly clamoring for another Korean baby, once again proving their devotedness to Father White. This little one, according to the boys and girls of the Fourth Grade who are making the ransom, is to be baptized Joseph.

And now, as a gentle reminder to those whose dues have not been paid to you, may we refresh your memory by reminding you that this week the Fifth and Sixth Grades of St. Salome's School paid their dues in full to the amount of $6.72. They there was this brief note from St. John's, Tyde: "This letter is short and sweet. Here are our dues for this month."—Doris Redder. And in closed we found $3.24.

I am also happy to especially congratulate a newspaper printed by the boys and girls of St. Boniface. It is called The Blue and Gold Banner. You may be very sure that the missions occupied a prominent place in their past. These boys and girls are just filled with the mission spirit and whatever they do is always done with an eye on the missions and how they can possibly increase their prayers and sacrifices for this great cause. I congratulate the Editor and his very excellent staff for an excellent publication. I sincerely hope that I will be continued on the mailing list as I don't want to miss any part of the story. They tell me that they are selling the paper for three cents per copy and the returns, after expenses are taken out, go to the missions.

That is the spirit, boys and girls, and I do sincerely hope the others might find the means of imitating your good example.
