St. Anne Held As Ancient Lesson For Mothers Today

NCCW Call To Youth Radio Program

St. Anne, mother of the Blessed Virgin, was called an object lesson for moderns in the importance God places on motherhood, declared Mrs Carlton J. H Hayes, of New York, in the Call to Youth program of the National Council of Catholic Women Saturday

The "Call to Youth" program is sponsored by the Youth Committee of the N C C W and is broadcast over the Red Network of the National Broadcasting Company

"In the present day when motherhood is not always regarded as the high vocation and blessing which God intends," Mrs Hayes said, "when private organizations and even some state governments are spending time energy and money in disseminating information to prevent motherhood when the emphasis is placed on selfishness not on self-sacrifice or self lessness, when many women aim to destroy life instead of create it we might well reflect again and again on the life and example of St Anne and ask her intercession with her divine Grandson for a misguided world"

Mrs Hayes also pointed to St Anne's patience and perseverance by which she could pray and hope for twenty years that the Lord would send her a child And if St Anne could do this, without knowing the Messiah and His Message of Love and Hope" she added "how much easier it should be for us with the aids that her divine Grandson Jesus Christ has given us His Church and His Sacraments to pray and to persevere in prayer confident that God will not forget His children in their troubles and afflictions in this present world"

Mrs Hayes said "it would seem that all virtues which Christian mothers desire and cultivate were possessed by this Jewish mother who lived by the Old Law"

Nazareth Marks Press Month

"Catholic Action Through the Catholic Press" was the theme of Nazareth Academy's observance of February as Catholic Press Month

The Catholic Literature Committee presented to the students a highly successful program which consisted of a book display in the library, a campaign for the collection of Catholic reading material, pledges for decent literature, and an excellent talk by the Rev. Benedict Ehmann.

In the school library, a fine exhibit of modern Catholic literature was on display. Attractive posters made by the Art Department bore catchy slogans as "The Romance of Sainthood" and "Pleasant Pastime"

Other distinctive posters drawn by Miss Marie Stephens and Miss Jane B. Thurston added zest to the display for the CATHOLIC COURIER Crusade.

At every available opportunity groups of Sodalists crowded into the library to view this colorful, interesting display which covered every possible field of Catholic thought

Father Ehmann in his address said "we can never be any bigger than the people we admire." He gave a timely illustration in the form of a story about Russia and showed clearly the wealth of facts that lie hidden in the Catholic Press. Father's suggested program of daily reading of the best spiritual books showed the students how to discover new world's worthy of conquest

The Catholic Literature Committee extends thanks to Miss E Trant, Predmore's School and Church Supplies, the Collector's Book Shop and the Maryknoll Book Shelf for their contributions to the exhibit.

We regret that despite all our efforts it is not possible to secure the Call to Youth broadcast over any of our local or Buffalo stations

Communications received from these stations deplore their inability to carry this program at the present time

We suggest that those who can, tune in on Saturday at 12 30 on station WEAF New York City or station WGY Schenectady and follow this eminently worthwhile series Others will find summaries of the talks in the CATHOLIC COURIER, or can obtain copies of the addresses in full by writing the N C C W Headquarters, 1312 Massachusetts Ave N. Both our Diocesan President, Miss Cecilia M Yawman, and our Deanery President, Mrs M. H Keogh, have been heard over the radio this week in connection with the Inter-faith Program.

• • •

Miss Yawman, as Diocesan President N C C W, heads the Women's Committee in the Campaign for the Catholic University assisted by Mrs M H Keogh, president of Rochester Deanery Council, Mrs T A Kane, president of Geneva Deanery Council Miss Mary A Newsome, president of Elmira Deanery Council, Mrs Lynn Cooper president of Corning Deanery Council Mrs J C O'Toole president of Auburn Deanery Council and Mrs Daniel Warren president of Ithaca District Council

It is the duty of this Committee to contact the heads of all organizations parochial and inter-parochial throughout the diocese with a view to obtaining a donation from these organizations toward this campaign which, to quote our Bishop "challenges our heartiest cooperation"

At the opening dinner on February 19 twenty four of the members of our Women's Committee were in attendance despite weather conditions

The first Report Dinner for Rochester will be held at Hotel Seneca on February 28 It coincides with the monthly meeting of Rochester Deanery Council N C C W which will be held at Columbus Civic Centre in Room 611, at 8 15 P M.

Miss Yawman will attend the Report Dinner Mrs Keogh will preside at the deanery meeting at which the announcement of the amount of our donation to the National Catholic School of Social Service will be made and the postponed awarding of prizes will take place

We quote from our National President's Message for February

Our thought today is for our parish affiliates During the holy season of Lent Holy Mother Church admonishes us to fast to pray and to refrain from worldly pleasures to spend time in contemplation and give alms to the poor Our Pastors stress the positive angle of Lenten observance and ask us to increase our good works as well as practice self-denial during this holy season

Individually we are eager to give alms through our own self-denial "Not what we give but what we share" We consider this our private privilege, whether the offering calls for material sacrifice, physical or mental effort or the tacit sharing of such calm spirituality as may be ours Approaching the altar rail, we are anxious that all be right between us and our neighbor before we say our offering before the Lord

Should we not feel just the same anxious humility when we gather as a parish society? Cannot each parish organization well afford to deliberate upon its place and its duties in the parish? Is our group ever ready to answer any call from the Pastor? Is it adequate to the tasks assigned to it? Does it find its full usefulness? United as an organization, are we using all our initiative while accepting guidance from our superiors? Can we not be competent and self-reliant and at the same time humbly cooperate with the Pastor and with his other parish societies? These are but a few questions which group contemplation will answer.
